IT WAS A STORMY GATHERING and Colorings The Anti-Fahey Combination Made a Desperate Battle and Went Down with Colors Flying - Harmony Was Not the Strong Feature.

> General John J. Fahey was the boss General John J. Fahey was the boss of yesterday's Democratic county con-vention. His word was accepted as its law. That surface indications of har-mony might be preserved he allowed one or two little concessions to the ene-my, but drew the line at that. He de-feated E. J. Lynett, the candidate put forward by County Chairman John E. Roche, for chairman of the convention, by a vote of 81 to 69 and then allowed the convention it o nominate A. B. Dun-ming, jr., for surveyor, and Dr. J. A. Kelley for coroner. The candidate yof Dr. P. H. McAndrew for coroner was ning, jr., for surveyor, and Dr. J. A. Kelley for coroner. The candidacy of Dr. P. H. McAndrew for coroner was generally understood to be linked with that of Mr. Lynett for chairman and the deteat of that gentleman foretold the result of the battle for coroner. The convention was very turbulent and the absence of the secretary of the county committee delayed the work of the con-vention and annoyance. Delegates to the convention began to make their appearance on the streets carity in the morning and sought the Secretary Sando. Lieutenants of Mr. Fahey were on duty at the Scranton House to look after his interests and any of the delegates proceeded direct o the St. Charles after having enrolled. At 1.45 p. m. the Faheyites moved from the St. Charles to the armory prepared for the fray. They announced that they would have eighty-two delegates in the convention.

Found the Armory Locked.

When the party reached the armory they found the doors locked, and Jani-tor Watkins explained that they would tor watches explained that they would not be opened until the arrival of Chairman Roche. At 2.10 that gentle-man put in an appearance and there-upon the door of the convention hall swung open and the delegates and spec-tators who had been knocking their heels together on the sidewalk were al-lowed to enter. owed to enter.

Then the work of "seeing" delegates began and well-known party workers could be seen in all parts of the build-ing using their influence on the repre-sentatives of the Democrats of the county with a view to swaying them from their "convictions." M. F. Sando, secretary of the county

"It is unfortunate that the chairman has not provided himself with the call for the convention," replied Mr. Roche. "The county committee met but a short time ago in the St. Charles hotel and decided to hold the county convention today. Notice of this fact was pub-lished in at least two newspapers of the city, and there is no question about this being the regular convention of the party." That explanation seemed to satisfy everybody, and the work of compiling the roll of the convention continued continued

tion, and in doing so spoke as follows: In the history of men and nations success has largely depended upon the skill and ability of a leader and invariably this leader has arisen from the ranks of the people. In order to wrest victory from an active and well organized opposition he must be of a fearless and indomitable dis-position. He must be familiar with the methods likely to be adopted by the enemy in order to successfully combat them. H's magnetic qualities should be such as would attract men to his standard and them. It's magnetic qualities should be such as would attract men to his standard and command, the admiration and respect of those with though they differ from him in the tay is adopted, are still striving to attrin the desired end. The necessity of such a man at this time to lead the Democratic hosts of this coun-ty to vice by 's apparent to every one and I take plusure in presenting such a per-son to you in the person of John J. Fahey, when I nominate for the position of chair han of this convention. Mr. Fahey, when I nominate for the position of chair han of this convention. Mr. Fahey needs no histoduction to the Dem-ocrats of his county. He has been a life-hong Democrat and has been tried and not found withing. He is familiar to you all and you be familiar with the fact that he has for years labored earnestly in the cause of Democracy and added very ma-terially in a truth generous manner by be-stowing his time, talents and money in the structles of the past for the success of Democracy lis success has been ac-complished largely through his efforts; its reverses can be attrihuid to a com-bination of ctruumstances which it is to be hoped will not arise again. The ou look for the future of the Demo-bination of circumstances which it is to be hopes will not arise again. The outlook for the future of the Demo-cratle party of this county with John J. Fahey at the helm is favorable. His knowledge of men and the voting districts of this county is unsurpassed. It was ac-quired to years of experience and will be invaluable in conducting this campaign for the success of the whole ticket. He is no tyro or novice in politics, He possesses the distinguished traits of a born leaser of men. He could raily to his side all the discordant and turbulent ele-ments in the party and blend them in perfect harmony and I feel confident that if he is elected by you as chairman today the result will be a decided victory for the whole ticket in Nocember. I desire to nominate for temporay chair-man of this convention, E. J. Lynett, a man whim it is unnecessary for me to praise. You all know him. For fifteen years of his young and brilliant life he has deviced himself to the interests of the Democrific party and has the confidence and estem of its members. It is time we stored disting among ourselves and turned or attention to fighting the com-mon en ny. When we are being swamped in this sumty by from 3,000 to 4,000 votes it is no me for quarrels between our-selves, if Mr. Fahey was a candidate for any position in the fift of the people he would are no warmer supporter than your himble servant, but at this time I think is our duty to select another mai for the position he seeks. "They're dying hard," yelled one dele-gate, and at the same time a number of others were on the floor insisting that they be recognized. All spoke at once and the greatest disorder pre-valled. Finally T. P. Duffy made him-self heard above the din, and moved that Mr. Burke be allowed a vota. This running fire of conversation was punctuated by hisses and exclamations of all kinds, but Mr. Roche remained firm in the face of the storm and ulti-mately it subsided and the roll call proceeded until the Fourteenth ward was reached, when another scene was created because the regularly elected delegate was debarred from voting by reason of a contest instituted by a and entirely contrary to the teachings and morals of our democratic institutions. We desire to record our unanimous at-testation to the hearty and vigorous ef-forts and sacriflees now being made by the Cuban patriots for liberty on their island, and pray for their delivery from the cruel and barbarous bondage of Span-ish inhumanity and brigandage, and to the sons of poor Eria, we wish them Godspeed in their said endeavors to procure their rights on their beloved isle. We inderse in toto every word and sen-tence of the Democratic state platform adopted at Williamsport and pledge our heartiest and most loval support to the nomines of that convention, but to that conspicuously able and distinguished son of Lackswanna-Hon. Peter P. Smith-nomine for Superior court judge, we yow increased and renewed energies to eclapse ourselves at the polls by legitimately in-creasing any vote heretofore given him. We justly and appropriately point with pride to the splendid record made by Cor-oner Kelley and County Surveyor Dun-ning, both Democratis, and bespeak for them the party's good will for the excel-lent manner in which they have conducted their respective offices. We would indeed be recreant to our-selves and formerful of the past were we to adjourn today without signifying our deep and lasting sorrow at the demise of that politically powerful, benevolent and magnetic man. Hon, Francis Allen Ream-ish, who has some beyond to join the in-numerable host. He was a power 'n our councils, a meneral 'n our maneuvers and as kind and peaceful a civitan as ever as kind and peaceful a civitan as ever to the ather votes shall be cast for a man for president who is in favor of son for president who is in favor of son for president who is in favor of son of visitant we world over and whose weave are not in mich to the great indiv-sived state. Deposed to the unit Rule. loved state. Opposed to the Unit Rule. After reading the resolutions, Mr. Roche said that the portion of them with regard to the unit rule did not meet with the approval of two members of the committee and moved to elimi-nate that portion of the resolutions. John Gaffney moved to lay Mr. Roche's resolution on the table, but it was lost and then Mr. Roche's motion was put and carried. W. R. Bell made a speech opposing the unit rule. He wanted the resolutions adopted as reported. The report of the committee on con-tested seats was read. It was as fol-lows: First ward, First district, James McCarthy and Thomas Duggan, one-half a vote each: Thirteenth ward, M. Lynett, Thomas Hoban, James McDon-nell and P. Fox, one-half a vote each: Sixth ward, Third district. P. Ruane and James Graham, one-half a vote each. James McCann was seated in the Second district of the Fourteenth ward; John Gaffney in the Second dis-trict of the Fifth ward; Walter O'Con-nor in the First district of the Fifteenth ward; M. W. Walton in the Third dis-trict of the Nineteenth ward; M. W. Loftus in the West district of Lacka-wanna county. W. J. Burke was al-lowed the seat from the Second district of the Thirteenth ward. Nominations for coroner was an-nounced as the next order of businees, Opposed to the Unit Rule.

Nominations for coroner was an nounced as the next order of business, and James J. Coleman nominated A. B. Dunning, jr., as a candidate to succeed himself. The nomination was see
