The claim that it is extortionate and propose to secure by legislative enactment a reduction of at least 50 per cent. in the present fees.

Woman's Terrible Fate.
Mrs. Agnes Mullen's Clothing Set on Fire by Flame of a Lamp.

Mrs. Agnes Mullen, the young wife of Patrick Mullen, of Station street, died yesterday morning at 5:30 o'clock, after a night of horrible suffering from burns, caused by her clothing catching fire.

About 8 o'clock Mrs. Mullen retired with her two children and intending to do some housework after the children fell asleep did not undress.

Later she went to bed and threw on the little ones and while reaching for a quilt which was strung on a line across the room placed the small hand lamp which she carried on the floor.

When she went to spread the quilt on the bed the current of air produced by the waving of the quilt caused the flame of the lamp to leap through the chimney and come in contact with her clothing.

Wore a Garment of Flame.
In an instant she was wrapt in flame from head to foot. Screaming hysterically she rushed downstairs and out upon the rear porch where her cries attracted the attention of a woman named Mrs. Finnelly and half a dozen men who were in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Finnelly, the first to arrive, threw her shawl about the woman and the man, who came a moment later, wrapped their coats about her, but their efforts were late to be of avail.

Mrs. Mullen's body was literally roasted, even her face being burned by the flames which leapt up from the clothing about her body.

Efforts to smother the fire with every available means was resorted to in order to ease her agony until Dr. Sullivan, who had been hastily summoned, arrived. The physician, upon reaching the scene, applied various anesthetics to kill the pain, but nothing succeeded in relieving to any appreciable degree her intense suffering.

She retained a sort of semi-consciousness until death relieved her. Her agonizing appeals for relief made the stoutest hearts about her bedside break down and she was late to be of avail.

Her husband, who is a brickman on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road, had left the house only an hour before the accident. He was overtaken by the engine which was carrying an engine was provided to bring him to the High Works, which is near his house.

His grief at the pitiable condition in which he found his young and beautiful wife when he left only a short while before full of life and happiness can be better imagined than pictured.

Mrs. Mullen was but 25 years of age and was highly esteemed and beloved by all who knew her. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence at 154 1/2 North Second street.

MISS ADAMS RECEIVED.
The Y. W. C. A. New Physical Director Is Accorded a Greeting.

The rooms of the Young Women's Christian association on Washington avenue were thronged last night by a large number of ladies who participated in an informal reception to Miss Adelaide Adams, the new physical director.

Members of the gymnasium classes gathered for the gathering, but there were many other members of the association and of the board of managers present. The brother organization, the Young Men's Christian association, was represented by General Secretary George G. Mahy, who was accompanied by Mrs. Mahy, Physical Director Hoff and Professor Chance, instructor of instrumental music.

The reception was most informal. Miss Adams will begin her work tomorrow, and has already arranged her classes as follows:

Monday and Tuesday, 2.30 p. m.; beginners, Monday and Tuesday, 8 p. m.; advanced, Tuesday and Thursday, 4.15 p. m.

THE THEATERS LAST NIGHT.
Joseph Murphy in "Shaun Rhuq" was the attraction at the Frothingham last night, and he received his usual flattering reception before a Scranton audience.

Miss Ethel Tucker and her company attracted another audience at the Academy of Music last night by a clever production of the comedy drama, "Queen."

In the first act William R. Healy introduced some pleasing specialties, and Horace Clarke rendered several baritone selections. Miss Tucker and her company received a double curtain call after the third act.

This afternoon there will be a matinee, at which entertainers will be distributed to ladies and children, and tonight's performance of "Retribution" will be witnessed by the local firemen, who will, by special permission of Chief Ferber, be allowed to enter the theatre in a body to the Academy. Tonight will, therefore, be Firemen's night.

Sentiments of the Convention.
The resolutions which were presented at the opening of the afternoon session were recitative of the oppression and wrongs which the retail liquor men have to submit; upheld the occupation in which they are engaged, characterizing it as a lawful and honorable business pursuit, when properly conducted; and by clubs which are permitted to deal in liquor, and by paying licenses, while the law-observing dealer is compelled to pay an exorbitant fee, the authorities in the meantime being lax in the proper enforcement of the law, and finally scored the Brooks high license law as unjust and oppressive.

A separate resolution endorsing the liquor men's blue label, calling upon cigar-makers and other organized bodies of laboring men to patronize only those liquor dealers who are members of the league was submitted and adopted.

Among the amendments made to the constitution was one providing for the admission, as associate members, of brewers, distillers, wholesalers, manufacturers of mineral waters, cigar-dealers and others engaged in supplying the trade.

The resolutions were then undertaken and resulted in the re-election of all the old officers with two exceptions: J. H. Williams, of Hazleton, was chosen financial secretary, and D. F. Finnelly, of Scranton, was chosen secretary.

SOME WEATHER STATISTICS
First Monthly Report of Voluntary Observer H. E. Paine.

SEPTEMBER WAS A SCORCHER
It Was an Ideal Month for Picnics and Outings—Rain Fell on But Four Days—Twenty-Two Days Were Sunny and Eight Cloudy.

H. E. Paine, of this city, as local weather observer, has prepared his first monthly report and mailed it to the United States meteorological bureau at Washington, D. C. Instrumental necessary for making the most thorough and accurate tests were sent to him when he was appointed voluntary observer for Lackawanna county.

His residence on Madison avenue is very appropriately situated as regards elevation and freedom from shelter, so that he is enabled to arrive very close to the correct measurement of temperature, rain, winds, etc.

His report contains some very interesting statistical and general information. He has kept track of the weather for upwards of twenty years past, but it was not till a little over a month ago that he was appointed to this section.

There is no enrollment attached to the office; all the advantage there is in being weather observer is that Uncle Sam gives out a complete and valuable set of instruments, thermometers, anemometers, barometers, and wind-gauges, and these must be returned any time the observer gets tired of using them. There must be a monthly detailed statement sent to Washington of the observations made.

The month of September of this year was the hottest of any September in twenty-five years, and Sept. 21, the passing of the autumnal equinox, was the hottest day of the month. The temperature registered 95 degrees. It was the hottest autumnal equinox noted since the meteorological bureau was organized.

Noted for Heat and Drought.
The prevailing characteristics of the month were heat, drought, and sudden fluctuation of temperature. The average maximum temperature was 80 1/2 degrees; the average minimum temperature was 49 1/2 degrees; the average mean temperature was 64 7/10 degrees. These are very high averages, and have far exceeded the averages of the twenty years for the month of September.

The temperature from Sept. 12 to 14 was marked by a very sudden and abrupt change, from a very high heat to frost on the morning of Sept. 14. In this respect the month was like May, last spring, when the weather changed from very warm to extremely cold. There was one day when the thermometer went to 30 degrees, and above that. The highest was on Sept. 21, when it registered 95. It was on the morning of Sept. 14, when the thermometer was as low as 29 degrees, three below the freezing point. The second coldest morning was the last of the month. It was then at 30 degrees.

The average range of temperature was 30 degrees; that is to say that 30 degrees is the average that the thermometer during the month. The fluctuation was on Sept. 27; the temperature was 90 degrees at noon and it dropped 49 degrees before the next morning. If a man went out in the streets in the early evening, without an overcoat on, he would find that about midnight he would be chattering like a case of monkeys.

The Amount of Rainfall.
Mr. Paine believes that it was the most arid September that came in fifty years, to say the least. The rainfall was very low, only 2 1/10 inches. It was only on the 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, and 31st, that there was any rain. The prevailing winds were west. Two thunder storms varied the monotony, and one of them was attended by the heaviest rainfall that has occurred in any one twenty-four hours without the aid of the clouds. The amount of rain was as low as 29 degrees, three below the freezing point. The second coldest morning was the last of the month. It was then at 30 degrees.
