Resignation of Rev. D. C. Hughes Pastor of the Jackson Street Baptist Church Accepted.

The resignation of Rev. D. C. Hughes from the pastorate of the Jackson Street Haptist church, which was offered last Monday evening, was unanimously accepted at a meeting of the church held yesterday morning after the regular service. After receiving Dr. Hughes' resignation, the church resolved to allow the matter to rest until next Thursday evening, but after occurrences obliged a more speedy action, and Dr. Hughes was relieved from tion, and Dr. Hughes was relieved from further duty as the church's pastor. His resolution never to enter the church again necessitated action at

Dr. and Mrs. Hughes were granted letters of admission to the Baptist church at Brooklyn, of which they were formerly members. The Jackso Street church was without a pastor yes The Jackson Street church was without a pastor yes-terday and prayer meetings were held. Dr. Hughes preached last evening at the Penn Avenue Baptist church. The departure of Rev. D. C. Hughes from the pastorate of the Jackson Street Baptist church makes four West Side churches that are pastorless. The Side churches that are pastorless. The Washburn Street Presbyterian, the Scranton Street Baptist and the Sumner Avenue Presbyterian are the other three. The pulpit of the Washburn Street church will, however, be soon filled by Rev. Mr. Moffat, of Weatherly.

Sight Rending Class.

Tallie Morgan has consented to open a class in sight singing on this side. It will be organized next Friday evening in the lecture room of the Washburn Street Presbyterian church, and a general invitation is extended to old and young who are interested in singing to be present, no matter whether they intend to become members of the class or not. Mr. Morgan has fully demonstrated to this city that he is one of the most successful teachers of this branch that can be found. He is constantly being urged to open classes in other towns, and if there were twenty nights in the week, he could not fill the demand. He prefers to confine his efforts to this city and neighboring Germania hall tomorrow evening to take up the adoption of a constitution towns, and surely his class on this side | take up the adoption of a constitution should be the largest of all. There are hundreds of good voices that could get singing positions if they only could

Deaths and Funerals.

Mrs. Mary Holvey, widow of the late Thomas Holvey, died Saturday at her home, at 1155 Hampton street. The deceased was well-known on this side, having lived here for many years. She was 65 years of age, and was born in Wales. Four children survive, Mrs. John Williams, David, Samuel and John Holvey, The funeral will occur Tuesday.

John Evans Buried.

The late John Evans Buried.

The late John Evans was buried Saturday from the family residence on Hampton street. It was the deceased's last wish that he should be buried according to the Odd Fellows' ritual. Prominent among Mr. Evans' virtues was his life-long aversion to debt. He died and owed not a cent in the world. Independent Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, had charge of the services, Chaplain D. D. Evans reading the ritual. Interment was made in Washburn street cemetry. The pall-bearers were: James Tague, Thomas J. Reynolds, D. D. Evans, Joseph Reynolds, Samuel Jones and John Phillips.

Foot Ball Craze Results in Many Bruised and Injured Limbs in This Part of the City.

The foot-ball craze, which swept like an avalanche across the minds of the athletic youth of the South Side last season and renewed unabated at the opening of the present season, will solve its own ruin in the disabled devotces that it leaves after every game. Two games were played on this side esterday. The Rushers and the In dependents mixed up with each other, and before the last half was more than begun three-founths of the players were bruised and banged up. oot Ball Eleven of Syracuse University Won Saturday's Game - Two Accidents.

By a score of 12 to 0 the foot ball eleven of Syracuse university won a game from the Scranton Bicycle club eleven Saturday afternoon at the Base Ball park. All the scoring was done in the second half. About 400 spectators were present.

The quick passing and snapping and rapid side view of the visiting eleven.

rapid field play of the visiting eleven indicated better practice and possibly better head work than did the playing of the Scranton men, who were clearly outclassed in strategic play. Scran-ton's best showing was made in its end plays, which would have been produc-tive of greater gains had the passing been quicker and the interference better. However, it was the first defeat of the home eleven in three games played, and the early season defeat is not in-dicative that the future work of the team will not be faster.

There was a series of accidents in the beginning of the second half. Owen Walsh, left end, had his nose broken and was relieved by Ruddy. Captain John Walsh soon afterward was kicked on the head and was unable to give the signals on the next line-up. He told Decker, quarter back, to give the sig-nals and said his head felt queer. greater portion of the forty minutes. The ball was oftener in Scranton territory and at one time was within fifteen yards of a touchdown. When time was called the ball was in the center of the field, and neither side had scored.

The injury to the two Walshes seriously crippled Scranton in the second half, when the ball was almost always in Scranton's territory. Two touchdowns and two goals were made by Syracuse within twenty minutes, but from then until the final call of time the ball was worked back and forth without great advantage to either side. Cleveland, Connery, Zang and Allen, Scranton's heaviest men, did Scranton's most meritorious work.
