SPRECKLES IS FOR MONARCHY

A Honolulu Editor Gives Some Startling Views of the Situation-The Early Downfall of the Republic Is Predicted.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—The dire utterances of Editor Julian D. Hyne in the Great Northern has caused much comment from those interested in the situation at Hawali. "Within eight months the Hawalian republic will be overthrown and Prin-cess Kalulani, a niece of Queen Liliuo-kalani, will be made queen of the islands," is Hyne's latest prophecy. In further reviewing the field, Mr. Hyne says: "It is a fact that everybody is sick of the new republic and it is recognized in Hawaii that the monarchy will be re-stored. I am surprised that the people of America know so little of the affairs of the islands. Briefly, to touch upon the financial standing of the present government, those in charge acknowl-edge by their own statements that they have been running behind at the rate of the own summer behind at the rate of $45,000 per month since they began. In other words, they are $995,000 more in debt now than at the time of the estab-lishment of the republic. Since March, 1895, they have been unable to pay their list which follows we guarantee every bills for current expenses. "It is the hope of both those who fa-vored the new government and those who opposed it that Great Britain or the United States will make Princess Kaiulani queen with a protectorate. Reading, Pa., Oct. 10.—A suit for $10,-000 damages was brought against the Reading Railroad company today by the widow of Franklin B. Moll. The latter was employed as a brakeman on the road and was killed by an overhead bridge near Tuckerton last September. Damages are claimed on the ground of carelessness and contributory negligence of the company in not having "whip-lashes" placed near the structure to guard employes from being

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 10 .- City Con-troller Gourley and the sub-finance committee of city councils engaged in in-vestigating the finances of the city at-torney's office, did not have a meeting today to further consider the matter as was announced last evening. When City Attorney McFarland was ac-quainted with the statement made yesterday by ex-Cashier Scully of the First National bank, that eleven years ago Moreland had personally arranged that interest on deposits in that bank should be paid to Mr. House, he said:

"I never at any time or place spoke to John D. Scully upon the question of paying interest on the deposits. Nor did I have any knowledge, personal or otherwise, that such interest was beresponse to further questioning In Mr. Moreland said: "I never made any arrangements for such interest with Constantinople, Oct. 10.—The Porte's reply to the joint note of the six powers relative to the recent rioling here has been made public. The government enumerates the steps that were taken to maintain order, and declares that Mussulmans were not the aggressors in the rioting. It further says that Ar-menians killed inoffensive Mohammed-ans and that in certain cases the Mo-hammedans had to defend themselves against their attacks.

The reply announces that the gov-ernment is about to open an inquiry for the purpose of discovering the guilty persons. Upon receipt of the reply the representatives of the six powers met at the residence of the French am-bassador, to consider the attitude of the Porte as exemplified in its note. It is the general belief that the note will not ratiefy the dislogate the general belief that the note will not satisfy the diplomats. The presence of the British fleet at Semnos, at the entrance to the Dar-danelles, continues to cause anxiety to the Sultan, and he has made a second appeal to the British ambassador to scure the withdrawal of the British warships. Thus far his appeal, like the first one, has been without avail. This leads to the belief among the for-eism residents that Great Britain In-tends to persist in her demands, even tends to persist in her demands, even though the other powers should declare themselves as satisfied with the con-cessions the Porte has announced itself as being willing to make. All day, before an audience that packed the court room, he stood a fire of questions from District Attorney Barnes which it seemed at times would break him down. He was asked as to his association with Blanche Lamont and told of his having escorted her home from the church to the park and other places. When asked if he had not stated after Miss Lamont's disappear-ance that he belleved that she had been made away with, he answered in the affirmative and said he had formed that opinion from a statement made by one opinion from a statement made by one of the detectives in his presence. Barnes questioned him as to his studies. In opposing an objection Barnes made the statement that Durant knew enough about medicine to be able to diagnose his case, and that he had prescribed something not intended for partial asphyxiation. Had he been overcome by gas, as he stated, and had taken enough of the bromo seltzer, the district attorney declared that he would have been a dead man before he could have left the church. tion-Hundreds Shed Their Watches and Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 10 .- At the state

Johnstown, P.a., Oct. 19.—At the state Brethren convention here today a re-markable scene was witnessed. It was during the discussion of the mis-sion work. In the addresses it was shown that mission work in this state had been sadly neglected, and that many Brethren in the state had no place of worship, owing to the manner in which the churches are distributed throughout the state. Various remedies were suggested, the general feel-Ing being that cash was needed. The Rev. E. E. Haskins, of this city, was the first to discuss the matter, and he forced a self-denial by offering as his donation his gold watch which had been given to him when he was 11 years old. In a moment the convention was aroused. Watches and all sorts of val-uables were thrown into the contribution basket with the money, and the scene was so affecting that hundreds shed tears. During the noon hour the ladies held a meeting and decided to form a Sun-day school union and to ask the convention for its sanction in their work, which will be principally intended to aid the church in its efforts to establish mission stations all over the state. The convention heartily endorsed the action of the ladies and a request was made that all the societies of such a nature merge into a state union for their own good. The matter of the selection of a place for the next convention was given to the executive committee with power to act. The convention then adjourned
