CITY NOTES.

Three new cases of diphtheria were reported to the board of health yesterday. The board of revision and appeals will organize tomorrow morning instead of this morning as first resolved upon.

In the estate of Jane Summers, late of Covington, in the county of Adams, and deceased, probate proceedings were granted to her daughter, Selma Schell, of Harding, Wyoming county.

A public installation of the newly elected officers of the Grand Army of the Republic will take place next Monday evening in the rooms of Lieutenant Ezra S. Griffin, post No. 728, Grand Army of the Republic.

The evangelistic meetings being conducted by Rev. J. T. Johnson, of Douglas, Mass., in the Court Street Methodist Episcopal church, are attracting with increasing interest, a number being converted every night. All are invited.

F. G. Cleary, of the firm of King & Cleary, the contractors who are to construct the approach to Linden street bridge, was in the city yesterday and in company with City Engineer Phillips went over the ground, with a view of beginning work immediately.

Marriage licenses were yesterday granted to John Shea and Ellen Shanley, Scranton; Charles Weagra, of Dumfries, and Helen Singer, of Scranton; William Bailey and Jane Jackson, Forest City; Jesse H. Davis and Hannah Temper, Shamokin; Lajah Sturdevant and Carrie Metzgar, Ransom.

The Saturday night service at the mission will be a farewell to one of its converts, Rev. G. J. P. McCoy, who has for the last three years been preparing for mission work among his own race on the Congo river. The service will be held in the Presbyterian church and will be a special occasion. The best wishes and prayers of his many friends will go with him.

The Girls' Friendly society of St. Luke's church, an organization for the benefit of the young women of the city, will meet in the Young Men's Christian association hall on the evening of October 12, at 7 o'clock. It is reported that the solicitation of friends of the performers, who are all townswomen, is being very successful. The Girl's Friendly society has a school equal to any of its kind in the city. The school is an important factor in school management. The Inimitable Edward Smith, of Scranton, who is on the roll, together with the giggling girls, the stammering boy and the "good little girl," tickets are for sale by members of the guild and also at the Young Men's Christian association, where the diagram for reserved seats is now open.

They Are the Best Fitting.
We have imported a large stock of Kid Gloves, of all sizes, styles and colors. We guarantee our M. & H. Kid Gloves at $1.00
Josephine Kid Gloves at $1.00
We believe them to be the best in the money to be found in the city. Also a full line of the state executive and Children's Lined Kid Gloves and Mittens.

Y. W. C. A. DAY OF PRAYER.

Special Services Held by All Its Branches Throughout the World.

Throughout the world yesterday was a day of prayer wherever a branch of the Young Women's Christian association is located. In Scranton, at the rooms of the association, on Washington avenue, services were held at noon for the special benefit of members who work in the business section of the city; at 4 o'clock and at 7.30 o'clock in the evening.

The noon meeting was in charge of Miss McLaughlin, the missionary of the Second Presbyterian church. She spoke on the topic, "Loving Them." At the afternoon prayer meeting Mrs. Coles, who led the meeting, spoke of the necessity of striving in prayer for the young women in our own city and throughout the world. Mrs. Henry M. Coles, chairman of the state executive committee, asked special prayer for the convention to be held in Bloomsburg about the middle of November.

At 8 o'clock an address was given in the association hall by A. V. Hoyer, Mrs. Rippe presided, and the hall was well filled.

MISS LEE HAD A COLD.

That, To Some Extent, Took the Life Out of Miss Lee's Nervous System.

A comedy-drama, which is supposed to contain a bit of legitimate drama, in the "Miss Harum Scrum" as produced at the Academy of Music last night. The comedy part is quite prevalent throughout all of the acts, but unfortunately the central figure, Miss Amy Lee, who supports and gives life to the best play, was unable to appear at her last night owing to severe cold.

Her vivacity made up somewhat for her defect of voice. Several brisk rehearsals will be required to bring out the real merit of the comedy. A small audience witnessed the performance.

Crushed But Not Discouraged.
At a Great Reducing Sale of Clothing, No. 303 Lackawanna avenue, the crowd was so at times uncomfortable and anxious for one of the big inducements offered by this firm, who are going out of business. All goods must be sold at any price.

We guarantee our $100 Kid Gloves to fit perfectly. MEARS & HAGEN.

FINE PARADE AT JERMYN

Temperance Men Celebrate the Birthday of Father Mathew.

THE ORGANIZATIONS IN LINE

There were upwards of 1,700 Total Abstinents in the Column that Passed Over the Streets of Jermyrn and Mayfield Yesterday.

The thrifty little town of Jermyrn was thronged with visitors yesterday, who went there to see the parade of the Father Mathew men of Lackawanna celebrating the birthday of the apostle of temperance and the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the national union. Nature smiled on these sons of temperance.

The atmosphere was somewhat chilly but the sun shone brightly from a clear sky and marching was not hindered in any way. The parade was a fine affair and would have been had the rays of Old Sol been less tempered. Last year a steady down-pour of rain prevented the parade at Jermyrn, therefore the societies of this portion of the diocese decided to favor the people of that town with a parade this year, weather permitting.

It did not rain and the creditable parade took place, over 1,700 uniformed men marching to the music of numerous bands and drum corps. Jermyrn was in holiday mood and for the next hour electric cars and steam roads brought large numbers of visitors. The visiting societies were received by members of the Jermyrn societies and directed to the point where the division to which they belonged was forming. It was almost noon before all of the preliminaries of organizing the parade had been completed. The Mayor, Marshall M. H. McHale, of Jermyrn, gave the signal for the column to move and the first division swung from a street where it formed into Main and continued toward the depot.

Mr. McHale's staff was made up as follows: Chief of staff, T. J. Mahon; aides, J. F. Noone, Scranton; James F. Mahon, Forest City; John Joyce, Scranton; Miles McAndrew, Archbald; John Gilgallon, Carbondale; P. J. Mulherin, Minooka.

The grand march and his aides were followed by a number of carriages containing the following clergymen, officers of the union, civic officers and invited guests:

Names of Those in Carriages.
Rev. E. J. Molloy, South Scranton, spiritual director of the Diocesan union; Rev. T. F. Coffey, Rev. J. J. Curran, Rev. James Malone, Carbondale; Rev. T. J. Comerford, Rev. Dr. Lucien, Archbald; Rev. J. Murphy, Rev. John Smoulder, Olyphant; Rev. J. J. Coroner, Forest City; Rev. M. E. Lynott, Jermyrn; Rev. P. E. Lavelle, South Scranton; Rev. J. J. McLaughlin, Minooka; Rev. P. J. McDaniel, Green Ridge; The Jermyrn councilmen also rode in carriages. They were: George Blake, H. P. Jones, John McLaughlin, Michael McHale, Michael McDermod, F. M. Graves, David Phillips, Joseph Lobey, Joseph Moran, Burgess John Nicholson, Professor Gardner and members of the Mayfield council followed and then came the officers of the union: Vice-President Peter F. McCoy, Secretary T. J. Early and Treasurer Patrick McLaughlin, all of the city of Jermyrn.

Close in the wake of the carriages came the first division, in command of M. B. Madigan, of Carbondale, and the following societies of the division, resident in new Huzzar uniforms:

Knights Had the Right of Line.
The Knights of Father Mathew of Carbondale, in the lead of the division, formed a stalwart line, marching to the first division. Then came the Knights of Father Mathew cadets, Carbondale; St. Joseph's cadets, Carbondale; St. Rose's Father Mathew society, Carbondale; St. Rose's Father Mathew society and cadets and Pioneer Father Mathew society, Carbondale; St. Michael's society, Simpson; St. James Pioneer corps and St. Joseph's society and cadets of Forest City.

The second division was commanded by Edward G. George, of the city of Jermyrn, and consisted of the following societies: The Pioneer corps, of Providence and St. Paul's Pioneer corps, of the West Side, headed by the McCallan Drum corps, held the position of honor, with the following societies following: The Pioneer corps, of Providence and St. Paul's Pioneer corps, of the West Side; John's, of Pine Brook; St. Paul's society and cadets, of Green Ridge; St. Joseph's society, of Minooka; St. Peter's society and cadets, of Scranton; Father Whitty Young men, of Providence, and Knights of Father Mathew, of Archbald.

Societies in the Third Division.
John J. Collins, of the South Side, was commander of the third division. St. Leo's battalion, of the West Side, were first and then came the veterans who comprise the P. D. Patrick's society, of the South Side. Following these was the St. Aloysius society, of St. John's parish, headed by the Forest band, which followed to the front of the division. St. John's society and cadets, of the South Side, and the Sacred Heart society and cadets, of Jermyrn.

The parade passed over the following route: Up Main to Poplar street, to Lackawanna avenue, counter march to Lackawanna avenue, to Poplar, to Main, to Division avenue, to Second street, down Second street to Cemetery street, from Cemetery A, from A to B, from B to Main street, up Main to Bacon, from Bacon to Third street, up to the depot grounds, where the division dispersed.

Father Lynott, of Jermyrn, mounted the platform erected in the grove and said in brief but pointed words that several addresses delivered, but on account of the lateness of the hour, it being two p. m., he would confine himself to introducing Burgess John Nicholson, of the P. D. Patrick's society, of the South Side. Father Lynott would welcome the visitors to the borough. Mr. Nicholson spoke as follows:

Remarks of Burgess Nicholson.
Ladies and Gentlemen-It gives me great pleasure to address a body as is assembled here today in the name of Father Mathew, the "apostle of temperance." It is indeed an occasion to give the heart and tongue of the gifted orator to pour forth words of burning eloquence in honor of the noble discipline which is both the inspiration and the bond of our fellowship in the cause of temperance. It is a day to give thanks, for your sake, that I am not an orator, because today you must be disappointed in my speech. My great mission is to point you to the man who has the eloquent tongue alone can utter.

But I wish to join my voice to that of the countless multitudes who everywhere hail the progress of the cause of temperance, and I wish to extend you a cordial welcome to Jermyrn from the good people in whose name I have the honor to speak today. We welcome this splendid contingent of the grand army of 2,000 members of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America. We rejoice in its glorious work. It is engaged in a noble warfare. It is waging the battle of the family, of the church and of the state.

It is no small thing to say of the work in which you are enlisted, that of the means to solve many of the social and industrial problems which today seriously engage the attention of men, not the least important among them is the temperance movement. It stands as a condemnation before the world of the undue influence of the saloon in politics. It stands before the world as the most effective and the most direct to enforce the present restrictive liquor laws. It is a standing rebuke to the treatment of those who are oppressing the evils of society. But it is at the same time the banner of hope under

LARGE RESERVOIR BURST

About 2,500,000 Gallons of Water Flooded Mattes Street.

YOUNG WOMAN CAUGHT IN IT

The Lackawanna Iron & Steel Company's Reservoir, Which Burst Seven Years Ago, Gave Way Again Last Evening.

Seven years ago, in the winter of 1888, soon after it was built, the Mattes street storage reservoir of the Lackawanna Iron & Steel Company burst and let loose 2,500,000 gallons of water; it was immediately rebuilt and had been continuously in use until 6.25 last evening when it burst again. The first time it broke loose a great deal more damage was done, as it was the wall fronting on the street which gave way. Last evening the wall on the upper side crumbled and the force of the escaping water was broken by surging against a high pile of iron ore running parallel with the wall about thirty feet away from it.

The water, after leaving the reservoir, had a circuitous outlet to the street. It was hemmed in by obstructions in the shape of piles of iron ore and other materials. The water, therefore, notwithstanding these facts, the water possessed a mighty force, and it swept out on Mattes street with all the strength of a hydraulic press.

Miss Lena Derge, a young woman, 22 years of age, who boards with her uncle, Engineer Cornelius Decker, of 411 Franklin avenue, was walking on the South Side and she got past the Mattes street bridge when the water came rushing out. She tried to run ahead, hoping to escape from the embrace of the flood, but it caught her and whirled her down through the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western repair yard.

Rescued by Fireman Tom Campbell.
Frank, the Italian fruit vendor, whose little market is at the corner of Lackawanna avenue and Mattes street, ran to the Phoenix Engine house and told Driver Tom Campbell and Engineer J. W. George of the company burst and the woman had been caught in the flood. Both firemen had heard the noise of the escaping water, but they imagined that the feather renovating factory, which was in the building, was still working, and they were preparing to get the engine out.

Campbell and George rushed out, and the former waded into the flood, which was then ten feet deep. He was directed by the young woman's screams, reached her and carried her out of the water. The yard is promiscuously littered with broken cars, axles and other things. Miss Derge was terribly bruised and was bleeding from wounds on the head, back and hands.

She was carried to the Phoenix Engine house, where she was cared for and prepared for removal to her home. She was brought home on the chemical engine. Dr. Everhart was sent for, and when he arrived he found her suffering from the wounds and a severe nervous shock.

The water carried with it large blocks of iron ore that were piled up and lifted them ten feet from the break in the reservoir. Blocks weighing two tons were caught up like pieces of wood. One large block was lifted and struck the body of a man who was on the tracks, and had to be broken with a sledge hammer.

Description of an Eye Witness.
One who was only a block from the reservoir when the break occurred said that Mattes street was flooded with two inches of water a few minutes before the flood came, which would indicate that a small dam had broken up the narrow channel between the wall of the reservoir with it. The reservoir is situated between the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad and the Phoenix Engine house. It was the wall that adds the railroad tracks which were in the water. The water was fully 10 feet, was sweet, over against an ore pile. The water then had a passage way twenty feet wide to Mattes street. It came on ten feet deep, reaching Mattes street it covered it over from the crossings below to almost five feet from the intersection with Lackawanna avenue. As it came rushing over the wall it was a mass of water, and it struck against the retaining wall of the Mattes street bridge on the right and dammed up to a point only a few feet below the curve on Lackawanna avenue.

The repair yard was the outlet, and as it dashed down through there the bricks and stones were scattered all about like straw. A condensation of steam from the boiler of the engine that stood near the sidewalk was moved more than fifty feet and tilted over on the Mattes street side.

The Great Sale Will Continue.
Dear Sir-The great sale of Martin & Deary's large stock of clothing is now in full swing. It is the intention of the creditors to give the people of Scranton and vicinity the benefit of a thirty days' sale when this stock of clothing was purchased at a bargain price. The sale is now being held at the old store, on the corner of Market and Second streets, in the city. The sale is now being held at the old store, on the corner of Market and Second streets, in the city.

WEDDED AT HARRISBURG.

Miss Miller Marries Benjamin C. Brandamore of This City.

A pretty autumn wedding took place Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brinker, on Twenty-first street, Harrisburg, the contracting parties being Miss Margaret Brandamore of Harrisburg, charming young ladies, and Benjamin C. Brandamore of this city.

At 8.30 o'clock Miss Josephine Wentworth, of Harrisburg, played Mendelssohn's wedding march at the wedding party descended to the parlor. Miss Gussie S. Rosenkrantz, of this city, who was the flower girl, was bridesmaid. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Katie R. Kline, of Allentown, who wore a white orandy and carried pink roses, was maid of honor, and Miss Alice Brinker, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She was attired in a white orandy trimmed in purple flowers, and she bestowed the path of the bride and groom with flowers.

The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of white satin with pearl trimmings. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Edward Eslinger, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church of Harrisburg. The ceremony was according to the ritual of the Episcopal church and was solemnized under an arch of smilax and daisies, in the center of which were a large ball of golden rod and chestnut burs. The groom's attire was E. E. Pryor, of New York. After congratulations, refreshments were served. About 150 guests were present at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Brandamore are now enjoying a wedding tour. On their return they will reside at 501 Adams avenue.

GET WELL! ENJOY LIFE!!

Don't Suffer with Rheumatism---Take Paine's Celery Compound.

Neuralgia-pain affects first one part of the body and then another. Nature's restorer, sleep, is sought in vain, and life's ordinary duties become burdens too heavy to be borne. In this condition of sleeplessness nature's call for rest must be regarded, if unheeded, serious consequences are likely to ensue. The nerves must be built up by a proper nerve food. There is nothing equal to Paine's celery compound.

The body is not a machine which simply wears out after a certain number of years, but a vital organism having the power of reinvigorating itself. It is not a machine which is incapable of being hard worked, but capable of frequent times of recuperation in sleep.

To quickly furnish a fresh and abundant supply of nutriment for every tissue of the body is the purpose for which Paine's celery compound was first prepared. This rapid production of fresh nervous energy and pure blood was the endowment of Professor Edward E. Phelps' long study of the cause of nervous exhaustion.

The result of his life work was Paine's celery compound, that remarkable remedy that permanently and speedily cures disease. It is the greatest nerve regulator and blood purifier of this present century.

For men and women out of health, Paine's celery compound should be tried without fail. It has meant health in place of sickness in thousands of cases that seemed hopeless.

The fact that this is the season when rheumatism most painfully shows itself, makes the following communication from J. M. Tobias, of South Omaha, Neb., of special interest. Mr. Tobias writes:

"I suffered for years with rheumatism in the joints of my hands and arms, so that I could perform my work only with the greatest difficulty. I used all kinds of medicines without result. Finally I secured a bottle of Paine's celery compound, and it benefited me at once. Paine's celery compound certainly cures rheumatism!"
