PORTE IS BRACING UP.

There Is a Renligation That No More Nonsense Will Be Tolerated. Nonsense Will Be Tolersted.

Constantinople, Oct. 13.—The Porte is evidently aware of the fact that procrastination in replying to certain of the demands of the powers will be no longer tolerated. This is evidenced by the action taken today by the minister of police in response to the demands of the six powers that an investigation be held into the recent rioting, and that innocent Armenians who were imprisoned on charges of complicity in the disturbances be released. disturbances be released.

The minister of police today informed the embassies that a commission formed of members of the different branches of the administration has been appointed to inquire into the guilt or innocence of the Armenians, who have been arrested since Sept. 30 minister has also promised to deal se-verely with anybody that the embassies can prove has tortured prisoners in jail.

It is reported that many persons were killed or wounded in the riots at Ismid.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 13.— Major Elijah Halford, United States Army, who was President Harrison's private secretary, is in the city attending the twelfth anniversary of the Young Men's Christian association. He said, politically: "I should say it is very favorable for the Republicans winning next year."
"Will Mr. Harrison again be a candidate? "Not in the sense of seeking the nomination. Things may shape themselves so that he will become the candidate of his party, but further than that I cannot say. In fact, I have kept from making any inquiries as to Mr. Harri-son's litertions, because I did not want to be in the position of having to answer that question."

ACT IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Supreme Court Will Be Called Upon to Decide the Onestion as to the Number of Superior Court Candidates to Be Voted For.

Harrisburg, Oct. 13.-The provision of the act creating the Superior court, restricting the voter to a choice of six candidates when seven judges are to be elected, was declared unconstitutional in an opinion handed down by Judge Simonton yesterday. He granted a mandamus against the secretary of the commonwealth requiring him to prepare the official ballot so that each voter may vote for seven candidates. Judge McPherson concurred favorably in the opinion, but did not think the mandamus should be allowed. He rod broke and the motorman lost con-trol. R. D. A. Wade, a Theosophical Representative, Is Angry at Not Having Been Allowed a Hearing.

Minneapolls, Minn., Oct. 13.-The nearer general convention of the Epis-copal church approaches final adjournment, the more improbable does it appear that sufficient progress can be made on the consideration of the revised constitution and canons as to erable the completed document to be submitted to the various dioceses; and thus enable them to certify their ap-proval or disapproval to the triennial convention of Washington in 1898. half of the period within

A few days ago R. D. A. Wade, of Chlorgo, "representative of the Central States committee for Theosophical work," addressed a letter to the house of bishops asking to be given a hearing on the question of the necessity of the Episcopal church returning to its most ancient faith-reincarnation; and urging that the charge was too truly made that the church was out of touch with the masses. The bishops treated the communication with silent con-tempt and accordingly Wade arraigned them tonight before the local branch of the Theosophical society, taking the ground that if the church was to continue a spiritual power it must listen to the demands of the masses to rational and philosophic teachings, such as were used in the first centuries of the existence of the church.

ensational Remarks Made by Joe Smith and George Cannon Cause Excitement-Gentiles and Progressive Mormons Are Alarmed.

Salt, Lake, Utah, Oct. 13.—President Joseph Smith and George Q. Cannon, of the Mormon church, at a secret meeting of the priesthood last Monday, made some sensational remarks of a political character and all party leaders in Salt Lake City today are talking about the attitude of the church toward political candidates who are Mormons. It is considered evident that the church intends to exercise all its powers in politics, although the high priests have disclaimed any interference.

The remarks made by President Smith were to the effect that numerous men high in the councils of the church, and particularly Moses Thacher and B. H. Roberts, candidates on the Demo-cratic ticket for the senate and con-gress, had seen fit to accept nomina-tions for political offices without first taking counsel with the president of the church. The proceedure he characterized as contrary to the rules of the church, subversive of good discipline and might tend to the detriment of the

ON ACCOUNT OF BANCROFT.

Little Bavaria's Dignity Has Been Insnited by the United States-Mr. Stern Had to Pay.

Berlin, Oct. 12 .- In the course of inquiries provoked by allusions in the idge had been in constant attendance in the annals of crime in this region. why the Bavarian government ignored the diplomatic influence of the United States in behalf of Mr. Louis Stern, of New York, the revocation of whose sentence of fine and imprisonment for Damages. insulting Baron Von Thuengen, the deputy commissioner at the Spa at Kissingen, was sought, the representative of the United Press found that the difficulty was traceable to the period when Mr. Bancroft was United States minister to Prussia, and was at the same time accredited to the Bavarian and Wurtemberg courts, respective-v, at Munich and Stuttgart. In 1871, when the German empire was formed, Mr. Bancroft received new cre-dentials to the emperor of Germany, and when he was recalled duly pre-sented his letters of recall to the em-peror. At that time Mr. Bancroft reminded the state department at Wash-legton that his letters of appointment to the kings of Bayaria and Wurtemberg were still in force, and asked per-mission to present to them also formal ietters of recall. The state department deemed this ceremony needless and so informed Mr. Bancroft. Upon the receipt of this notification Mr. Ban-croft communicated with the courts at Munich and Stuttgart, informing them why he was obliged to omit the cus-tomary diplomatic courtesy.

The Bayaran court has ever been a stickler for etiquette and has always remembered the slight put upon it on that occasion. The United States em-bassy here continues to be officially ignorant of the decision in Stern's case, and it is rumored here that the secre-tary of state at Washington asked the German ambassador there to use his influence in behalf of Stern and met with a positive refusal.

the progress of Scranton. His father, Samuel Peck, came to this region in 1834, when the country was an unbroken wilderness. The lumbering business attracted him, and father and son were soon engaged in the manufacture of lumber, and later in the manufacture of window sashes and doors by machinery. Important contracts were filled with the old Pennsylvania Coal company and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Rallroad company, and after this the deceased and his brother, John D. Peck, formed a partnership in the lumbering business. This corporation became known as the Peck Lumber Manufacturing company. In the business strictly of manufacturing lumber, the deceased had for years associated with him his son, L. Peck, under the firm name of J.W. This declaration is viewed with great alarm by Gentiles and the progressive young Mormons, who fear a return to the old conditions which prevailed when the Mormon church authorities ruled with a rod of iron. Strong and bitter anti-statehood talk is being indulged in by those who hitherto have associated in the development of the this corporation is now one of the most prominent in the state, having a capital of $750,000, and the finest and best equipped lumber mill in the state.

Damages. The jury in the Potter trespass suit against the Scranton Traction com-pany handed its verdict, which had been arrived at the previous day after adjournment, into court Saturday morning. The verdict was for the defendant company.

George W. Potter, a butcher of Dun-more, was driving along one of the thoroughfares of that borough on the morning of May 30, 1893. He had a team of horses attached to a meat wagon. When he came to the corner of Blakely and Drinker streets there was a force of linemen at work on Blakely street some little distance from the corner. They were repairing the overhead wires, and they had a pair of ladders hinged to a platform on which to stand to reach the trolley wires. The ladders, when arranged in position for the men to stand on, towered about eighteen feet in the air and were fixed in the shape of the frustum of a pyramid.

Tenm Became Unmanageable Potter's team became unmanageable, dashed down Blakely street past the ladders, the wagon collided with a sign post in front of Oscar Ludwig's store, and Potter fell down between the wagon and the team. The case opened before Judge John Lynch, of Wilkes-Barre, on Monday, Sept. 30. It required four days to hear the testimony of the plaintiff's witness On Friday, Oct. 4, the case was adjourned from court room No. 2 and re journed from court room No. 2 and resumed Monday, Oct. 7, in the United States court room. There were about the same number of witnesses for the defendant. Judge Ward made the closing argument to the jury for the plaintiff, and Major Warren for the defendant. Judge Lynch's charge was given Friday morning; at 11.30 the case was into the jury's hands. The very was into the jury's hands. The ver-dict was reached late in the afternoon and sealed. When it was announced Saturday morning, there was an end to one of the most famous civil actions in Lackawanna county.

The plaintiff's attorneys contended that the ladders were dangerous; the defendant's attorneys held that Potter defendant's attorneys held that Potter was guilty of contributory negligence and on that ground asked for a compulsory nonsuit. Judge Lynch refused the motion for a nonsuit. The case was ably tried on both sides and attracted marked attention from the members of the bar. The plaintiff will apply for a new trial.

yesterday afternoon. The man, an Italian of 23 years, was arrested on North street about 4 o'clock, at the instance of William Bauer, who claims to be in the employ of a New York detective agency, and hails from Scranton, Pa., and came to Boston a few days ago with a warrant for the arrest of one Crenceszo Merelo, for the premeditated murder of Emanuel Lore, in Lackawanna township, Pennsylvania, on the 17th of June, 1894. The detective, with the assistance of an interpreter, has been searching the North End. where Merelo was known to have been living, and the first the Boston police knew of the matter was when Patrolman Spillane was asked to make the arrest. The prisoner was brought to the station house by Bauer and Spil-

When searched an immigration inspection certificate was found bearing the name of Vincenzo Lucosale. This is believed to be an alias, it showed that the man had sailed from Naples, Italy, April 25, 1895, arriving in New York May 11. From this it' appears that the accused left the country after the murder. The officers of station 1 Lumber company was organized, and formation regarding their prisoner last Three Great Specials were in possession of no further inevening. Detective Bauer left the station house as soon as his prisoner was booked, for the purpose of communication with Scranton parties. a barber. His shop was located on the main street of Old Forge. He had an account of 15 cents against Medlo, and asked him for it on the street at 5 p. m., Sunday, June 17, of last year. Medlo's answer was a blow followed by five shots from his revolver. Two of the shots took effect, death being caused by a bullet that entered the back, below the left shoulder-blade. A crowd quickly formed. Most of them were Italians, and they made no attempt to stop Medio, who went to his house and then disappeared. Sheriff Fahey, Deputy Sheriff John Gaffney

LANGE OR HOWELL. School Board Touight Elects a New School Superintendent. The identity of the new superintendent of city schools to succeed George W. Phillips, who has resigned the of-fice, will be known after tonight, when an election will be made by the board of control.

The candidates are Professors J. C. Lange and George Howell, the present principal and assistant principal of the high school. Each is sanguine of being elected. Candidates for the position of assistant principal in the high school, which, in any event will offer a vacancy, are numerous.

Superintendent Phillips' resignation takes effect the first of next month. WEATHER REPORT.
