FATAL HEAD-ON COLLISION

Terrible Wreck Upon One of the Pennsylvania Branches.

EXPRESS MEETS WATER TRAIN

From Confusion of Orders Two Trains Meet in a Fog in a Deep Cut--Both Engines Demolished and Trainmen Terribly Mangled.

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 16.—In the head-on collision which occurred between passenger train No. 904 and a water train on the Hollidaysburg branch railroad, at the southern edge of this city this morning, two men were killed outright, one was fatally injured and is now dying at the Altoona hospital, and ten others were severely wounded in various ways.

List of the Killed. W. F. Wood, of Henrietta, fireman of the passenger train. J. Q. Woodring, of Tyrone, front brakeman of the water train. Those Severely Wounded. David Abthor, of Henrietta, engineer of the passenger train; badly scalded by water train. His injuries are likely to prove fatal. Henry Blackburn, of Altoona, engineer of the water train; cut about the head and arms. George Tate, of Altoona, fireman of the water train; badly bruised about the body.

Passenger Conductor James Davis, of Altoona, was badly injured by being knocked against a seat. Benjamin Woyant, of Roaring Spring, a passenger; middle finger of right hand cut off. William Jones, of Burkett Station, slightly injured by being knocked against the door of one of the cars on the passenger train. Harvey Barnett, of Altoona, conductor of the water train cut about the head. Mail Clerk Bossler, of Henrietta, back daily rider. Baggage-master Daniel Hoover, of Roaring Spring, cut and bruised by being thrown against milk cans. Henry Cox, of Hollidaysburg, left hand cut. William Darkey, of Burkett Station, bruised about the body.

Several other persons on the passenger train, whose names could not be learned, were slightly injured by broken glass.

Where the trains came together there is a deep cut, and the fog was so dense that it was impossible to see over 25 or 30 feet ahead of the engine. The cause of the accident was definitely known until the railroad officials investigated the matter. It seems, however, that the trouble sprang from a confusion of orders.

Both locomotives demolished. Both locomotives were demolished and the parts piled in a heap. None of the passenger coaches left the track, but three of them had most of the glass in the doors and windows broken. The front end of the mail cars was also stove in.

The three front cars of the water train were badly wrecked. After the collision the water train was stopped by the shock of the accident everybody set about trying to rescue the injured. It was difficult to reach the unfortunate in the wreck on account of the escaping steam from the locomotives.

Engineer Arthur was found pinned between the boiler and tank of his engine. The hot water and steam from the engine were pouring over him, and he was crying for help. Finally he was rescued, but his injuries were terrible. He was speedily removed to the hospital, where he is dying. His worst injury is a laceration of the left lung. The scalding and burning his body suffered from another serious phase of the case. There is hardly a portion of his body or limbs but is burned.

CHAIRMAN WRIGHT TALKS

The Democratic Leader Gives His Views of the Situation—Able to Meet Any Emergency.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—Chairman Robert E. Wright, of the Democratic state central committee, was at the Democratic headquarters in the Girard house tonight. He had many callers and spoke hopefully of the condition of the party in the state. When asked as to the possible effect of the supreme court affirming the action of the Dauphin county court with reference to the right of each qualified elector to vote for six or seven candidates for the Superior court, Chairman Wright said: "If the supreme court shall decide that each qualified elector is entitled to vote for seven candidates for the Superior court the vacancy on each of the regular tickets cannot be filled so as to permit the state department to certify the additional candidate to the county commissioners or to authorize the county commissioners to print such names upon the official ballots. It is absurd to say that the addition of a candidate to the ticket is only to 'amend' the certificate of nomination. The time for naming candidates, their by certificate of nomination, or by nomination papers, in order to have the names of such candidates printed upon the official ballot has passed, and I shall certainly contend against any action of that kind being taken. It is hardly likely that such effort will be made, as I do not believe that any one will seriously consider any political party has the power to do so under the ballot law. What action we shall take will depend upon the conditions that may arise. I feel confident that we will be able to meet any emergency that may present itself. Possibly it is a little premature to give the matter very serious thought, for it is, in my mind, within the range of probabilities that the supreme court may reverse the action of the Dauphin county court. Under all the circumstances I am content to await their action."

Let me add," he concluded, "that if the ballot law permitted a nomination to be made under such circumstances the rules of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania are expressly such as to cover the situation. Section 7 of rule 6 of our statute rules is exactly in point. I am reliably informed that the rules of the Republican party are silent upon the subject, and that the resolution adopted by the recent Republican state convention does not make provision for a nomination of the character that would be necessary under the circumstances that may occur."

The gloves will be shown and a guarantee of $10,000 will be offered that there will be no brutality.

SLUMMING AT BALTIMORE

Members of the Purty Congress Visit the Vice.

Baltimore, Oct. 16.—The "Traffic in Girls," a paper read before the Purty congress by Mrs. Charlton Edholm, produced startling results. First the pictures of depravity and wretchedness described as belonging to certain quarters of every city brought many visible shudders over the audience. Subsequently a party of women delegates to the congress agreed to make a slumming trip with the view of seeing for themselves if such pictures were to be found in Baltimore.

About midnight a party of the delegates, headed by Mrs. Edholm, and escorted by two ministers and four newspaper men, under the protection of two police sergeants, visited one of the notorious districts of the city, and spent a couple of hours praying and pleading with the inmates of the disorderly houses.

EPISCOPALIAN CONVENTION

Important Measures Considered at Minneapolis.

AS TO MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE

Canons Concerning the Subjects Are Received and Placed on File—Another Attack Upon the Present Title of the Denomination.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—At today's session of the house of deputies of the Episcopal convention another attack upon the present title of the denomination made itself manifest in the presentation of a report from the committee to consider the message from the house of bishops, recommending that the title page of the book of common prayer be changed by the use of the words "according to the use of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States of America" and the substitution of the words "according to the use of the Episcopal church in the United States of America" in the title page of the book of common prayer. There was a minority report signed by J. Pierpont Morgan, of New York; Messrs. Beddle and Blanchard, of Philadelphia, and Perkins, of Boston, in which the proposed change was characterized as a virtual reopening of the subject of prayer book revision, which has already been settled, and therefore unwelcome to the members of the committee.

A vote by diocese and orders was taken. It resulted: Clerical vote, ayes, 20; nays, 30; divided, 4. Lay vote, ayes, 12; nays, 30; divided, 4.

The house refused again to change the title of the church as designated in the prayer book, and the formal resolution of non-concurrence with the bishops was adopted by a large majority on a viva voce vote.

After the receipt of another message from the bishops concerning their house had designated the bishops of Milwaukee and the coadjutor bishop of Minnesota as delegates to the next meeting of the convention at St. Louis, Mo., the committee on the constitution and canons, made a final report containing the proposed canons on marriage and divorce, upon which the committee had been laboring ever since the assembling of the convention.

The canons, which were received and placed on file, read as follows: First—No minister of this church shall solemnize a marriage between a man who has a divorced wife still living; but this prohibition shall not be held to apply to a minister in a divorce proceeding, or shall have granted for the cause of adultery, or to parties only divorced from each other, as provided in the canon.

Second—If any minister of this church know or have reasonable cause to believe that a party to a marriage is not a member of the church, or that the parties do not have the holy communion to such persons without the consent of the bishop of the diocese.

Provided, however, that no minister shall be held liable for referring it to a penitent person in imminent danger of death.

For an hour or more the house was in a legal tangle over a request from the joint commission that it be continued in existence to consider such canons as may not be acted upon by this convention, a special committee having been appointed to consider and deal similarly with the constitution.

The bishops had already decided in favor of continuing the commission on the canon question only, and after a tedious discussion of the matter, the house concurred by a vote of 196 to 59. This matter disposed of, the order of the day, the establishment of the "provincial system" for the foreign mission, was taken up. The foreign mission work, as it is known, was called for, and Dr. Taylor, of Springfield, made a lengthy address in its favor.

The house finally shelved the proposition of referring it to a special committee to report in 1898.

WATCHING THE WOODHALL

It is said that the Woodhall, which cleared from Baltimore for Progresso, Mexico, landed on route on Cuban soil, arms and ammunition, and that the authorities here know of an infraction of United States laws.

STATE MILLERS MEET

Pennsylvania Society in Session at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—The board of directors of the Pennsylvania State Millers' association held a meeting this afternoon at the Hotel Hanover, to consider reports from every county in the coming year and to more thoroughly organize the millers of Pennsylvania. Colonel Asher Miner, of Wilkes-Barre, is president of the association. He is flanked by the present incumbent, Cyrus H. of Lewisburg; B. S. Isenberg, of Huntingdon; Landis Levan, of Lancaster; E. K. Freed, of North Wales; Nathaniel Sellers, of Philadelphia; and First Vice-President Jacob V. Edge, of Downingtown.

The board decided to urge congressmen from Pennsylvania to take steps to secure the passage of an act to retaliate against foreign governments which discriminate against American flour, but take American grain at a much lower price. The countries which the millers have reference to are France, Belgium and Germany. A resolution was adopted urging the Pennsylvania legislature to make an appropriation for the improvement of the harbor of Philadelphia.

REPUBLICAN LEAGUE

ACCEPTED BY SAID PASHA

Turkey Is Agreeable to British Scheme for Armenian Reforms.

CHANGES IN JUDICIAL SYSTEM

An Imperial Decree Expected This Week. The Commissioner to Execute the Plan to Be a Christian—An Early Settlement Probable.

Constantinople, Oct. 16.—Said Pasha has accepted the scheme for reform in Armenia drawn up by Great Britain, France and Russia, and it now awaits the signature of the Sultan. The scheme is almost identical with the proposals of last May, which, in substance, were that the governors and vice-governors of Van, Erzerum, Sivass, Bitlis, Khartum, and Trebizond, might be Christian or Mussulman, according to the inclination of the population, but either the governor or the vice-governor is to be a Christian, and the appointments are to be confirmed by the powers. Local, and not state, officials are to collect the taxes, and enough money is to be retained before it is forwarded to Constantinople to pay the expenses of local administration. Complete changes will be made in the judicial system, torture will be abolished, the prisons will be under surveillance, the police will be composed of Christian and Turks equally, and the laws against compulsory conversion to Islamism will be strictly enforced. Contrary to general expectation, the high commissioner who will be charged with the execution of this scheme of reform will be a Christian. This is the hardest pill for the Powers to swallow, and for a long time it threatened to bring about the most serious complications.

LINCHING OF JEFF ELLIS

The Turks and Chinese Outdone by a Mob of Tennessee's Representative Citizens.

Bradley, Tenn., Oct. 16.—The details of the lynching last night of Jeff Ellis, who was arrested by the police of Bradley, Tenn., in the presence of his little sister and escaped, reached here this morning. Ellis was brought to Bradley last night and confessed the crime. Then he was taken to the house of Miss Praeter and she identified him. While en route to Somerville with the prisoner Constable Farrow was overtaken by a mob of white men, who threatened to hang him. He was ordered to kneel down and pray. Then he confessed the crime and also the beating of his own wife so badly she died. Several months ago a house belonging to Mrs. Harrel, near Bradley, was fired at night and she, with two daughters, were burned to death. Ellis confessed that he and two others fired the house.

Ellis was then mutilated and hanged to a telegraph pole with this placard on his breast: "No man must remove this body until sundown under pain of death."

Later the mob took it down and sent the head to the family of a young girl named Ellis, who had been assaulted in North Mississippi four days ago. Ellis stated that he expected to suffer death for his crimes, and showed no fear of the fate in store for him.

The mob, composed of the mob hanging, but had whiskey got the upper hand of the younger element, and they took part in the mutilation. No one wore a mask.

TIDEOUT FLAME-SWEPT

Many Buildings Are Destroyed in a Conflagration.

Warren, Pa., Oct. 16.—The town of Tidout was visited by a destructive fire this afternoon. Flames started in the ivery stable of G. H. Hastings. A fire alarm was blowing at the time, and soon communicated to adjoining buildings. A telegram was sent to Warren asking for assistance. The water supply was low, and the Tidout firemen labored under difficulties. Some of the townsmen removed their household effects to places of safety. The authorities of Warren sent a steamer, accompanied by a fire company, to the scene, and soon afterward the spread of the conflagration was checked.

Following is a list of the losses: G. H. Hastings, ivery barn; Mrs. Davis, store; Mrs. J. W. Collier, blacksmith shop; Rescue Hose company's house; J. W. Coles, two dwelling houses; the town lock-up; A. Duna's barn; E. J. McIntyre's blacksmith shop; and Ed. Bartlett's wagon. The total loss is $25,000, partially covered by insurance.

PRESIDENT AT WORK

Mr. Cleveland's First Act Will Be the Appointment of a Fish Commissioner.

Washington, Oct. 16.—One of the first things to engage the attention of President Cleveland will probably be the appointment of a fish commissioner in place of Colonel Marshall McDonald, who died last summer. There is really a pressing need that the office be filled. Herbert A. Gill, the efficient fish clerk, and acting commissioner at the time Colonel McDonald's death, became, under the law, acting commissioner for a term of thirty days. Since that period expired, Mr. Gill has been acting as acting head of the commission without specific authority.

Active aspirants to the position number a dozen or more, while fully forty persons have been named in connection with the place. The annual salary is $5,000, and the commissioner is practically independent. Among those suggested for the place are H. C. Ford, president of the Pennsylvania fish commission.
