The habes corpus hearing in the case of George Archibald of the North End, who was committed to jail from the court in this city on the charge of breaking into the residence of M. P. Flynn, 429 1/2 West street, a short while ago, came up before Judge Savidge, of Sunbury, in court No. 2 yesterday. Attorney F. C. Ketchum appeared for Archibald. Court released the defendant from jail, but required him to furnish bail in the sum of $500. Jacob Suravitz qualified as bondsman.

After arresting Frank Winter on suspicion of stealing hams, which he was bargaining to sell for 25 cents each to peddlers on Lackawanna avenue at an early hour yesterday morning, Patrolman Lona Day made an investigation which led to the discovery that the goods were taken out of a car standing on the West Side switch of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road. Winter broke open the car and was hauling the hams about the streets during the greater part of the night. It could not be ascertained how many hams he succeeded in disposing of. They were consigned to E. H. Watts & Co. In police court yesterday morning Alderman Miller placed him under $500 bail to answer at court, and in default he was committed to jail.

MR. HOLT IS UNDER BAIL
Charged with Embezzling Funds of Loma Vista Association.

HIS VERSION OF THE AFFAIR
Says His Accounts Were Never Audited.
That No Shortage Was Found and in Time That He is a Much Wronged Man.

One of those get-rich-quick societies, the Loma Vista Aid association, which was organized in this city about six months ago, is on a fair road to dissolution if it has not already dissolved. Yesterday its secretary and treasurer, John H. Holt, was held to bail for embezzlement. The directors, among whom are M. E. Worden, E. G. Worden, Arthur Frothingham, Dr. D. B. Hand, Charles Welch and other prominent men of the city, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, before Solinsky was held in bail to answer the charge at court the afternoon following. "Jim" Lucko, to jail in default of a fine of $10 for contempt.

Lucko was very flippant, talked to witnesses and finally said he didn't care a rap whether he went to jail or not. After he reached there, however, he begged and begged to be released. Alderman Miller upheld the dignity of the court over the telephone, and said that the sentence of the court "went," notwithstanding Lucko's offer to compromise at $5. Last night three of the prisoner's friends called and paid the $10 fine, and Lucko was given his freedom.

Another feature of the case was the attempt of Constable Patrick Henry, of Old Forge, to explain to the alderman why he charged $3 for serving the warrant on Solinsky at the court house, two and a half blocks away from the alderman's office. The constable said it was done in Old Forge, but lowered his price to $1, when reminded that he was in Scranton.

LUCKO SENT TO JAIL.
He Could Not Bring Alderman Miller's Court Into Contempt.

Twenty-five or thirty Polanders were attracted to Alderman Miller's office yesterday afternoon at the hearing of "Steve" Solinsky, who was charged with assault and battery by Lizzie Terrence. The whole throng was with them. Before Solinsky was held in bail to answer the charge at court the alderman sent a spectator, "Jim" Lucko, to jail in default of a fine of $10 for contempt.

Lucko was very flippant, talked to witnesses and finally said he didn't care a rap whether he went to jail or not. After he reached there, however, he begged and begged to be released. Alderman Miller upheld the dignity of the court over the telephone, and said that the sentence of the court "went," notwithstanding Lucko's offer to compromise at $5. Last night three of the prisoner's friends called and paid the $10 fine, and Lucko was given his freedom.

ASSESSMENT SQUABBLE.
Assessors Refuse to Give Up Bookcase Which Contained Forfeited Books.

Another battle, a little one of South American proportions, took place yesterday between the board of revision and the city assessors. After all the books had been carted up to the city clerk's office, Mr. Lavelle sent after the case in which they were stored. His messenger came back with a blank refusal. The city clerk himself then went down to make a demand for the bookcase, but Mr. Buell instructed Clerk Heuser not to give it up, and he obeyed. Mr. Buell explained to Mr. Lavelle that he had locked up the 1896 books and papers in the desk and would therefore retain it. Mr. Lavelle argued that the cases were made for the purpose of holding the books of the present and not the ensuing year, and should go with the books. His arguments were, however, of no avail.

In view of the fact that the duties of the assessors are materially lightened by the creation of the board of revision and appeals, an ordinance will be introduced, cutting down the salary of the assessors from $1,000 to $500 per annum, and withdrawing the appropriation for clerk and assistant assessors. Except in special cases, the duties of the assessors will also be thought of the past at the conclusion of the assessment now under way. The assessors themselves will have to do the work now done by their assistants. Except in special cases, in special years this task is a very light one, requiring only two or three months' labor at odd hours.

ODELL'S WORK IN TULLY.
Particulars of the Game He Worked Once Too Often in This City.

The Evening Herald of Syracuse contained the following account of the work of Odell, the forger, whom Chief Simpson barged and has in safe keeping in the county jail.

"A young man giving his name as James Baird has been swindling the merchants of Tully. On Monday he registered at the Hotel Clayton and arranged to have a Pullman car conductor on a vacation. Yesterday he called on M. Meara, bought an umbrella from him, and said that he would pay for it next day. Later he called at the dry goods store of C. P. Renore and purchased an overcoat, presenting a check for $40 made out to the order of J. J. Odell, and signed 'J. J. Odell, superintendent.' He was given $28 in change. Baird left town last night for the south and this morning when the check was presented at the Syracuse savings bank, on which it was drawn, it was returned indorsed 'no funds.' The Syracuse Savings bank people knew of no such man as either Odell, Baird or Clark and the owners of the bank, Lackawanna and Western officers are equally ignorant as to their identity."

LOVE CHASE AT ACADEMY.
Produced by Marie Wainwright and Company Before a Good-Sized Audience.

Sheridan Knowles' four-act comedy, "The Love Chase," received a good, though not by any means a perfect production at the Academy of Music last night by Marie Wainwright and her company. The honors of the evening were divided equally between Miss Wainwright, Miss Russell and Nathaniel Hartwig. Barton Hill and Miss Gertrude Elliott also did some excellent work. The latter made her first appearance in the city last season with the Rose Coghlan company, since then she has made rapid strides in her chosen profession and gives promise of much greater advancement in the future.

PHIL SHERIDAN FAIR.
Committee Making Final Arrangements for the Formal Opening.

The general committee of the Phil Sheridan fair held another meeting last night to complete arrangements for the opening, which occurs Oct. 26. Senator Vaughn presided and a large representation was present.

The special committee appointed to arrange a programme for the formal opening reported that Mayor W. L. Connell, Judge F. W. Gunster and Colonel E. H. Ripple had accepted the invitation to participate in the exercises of that evening.

M. J. Kelly was elected cashier of the fair, and James H. Hines was appointed ticket-seller. A Sommer party is to be given at Guernsey Brothers' store, which has been purchased and will be changed off at 50 cents a chance.

BURGLARS AT WINTON.
They Entered the Postoffice But Did Not Get a Check of Value.

About 2 o'clock Tuesday morning burglars entered the postoffice at Winton and made an unsuccessful search for valuables on the first floor. The postmaster had the money and stamps in his apartments on the second floor, but the burglars did not attempt to invade them.

They next went to the station of the Ontario and Western Railroad company, at Peckville, and made an effort to enter, but were frightened off by the watchman, who fired several shots at them. The burglars have not yet been captured.

THE CITY INSTITUTE.
Date for It Has Not As Yet Been Decided Upon.

Next week was the time fixed by the state superintendent of public instruction for the annual institute of the teachers of this city, but on account of

RELIEF FOR THE DISABLED
Local Firemen to Organize to Secure That Desired End.

WILL HAVE AID FROM STATE
To Secure It an Association of Fire Fighters Must Be Formed—Steps with That End in View Will Be Taken At Once.

Senator J. C. Vaughan will, during this week, mail to the presidents of the several fire companies of the Scranton fire department an invitation to be present at a meeting to be called for the purpose of effecting a preliminary organization known as the "Firemen's Relief Association of Scranton, Pa., Incorporated."

The object of this association is to take entire charge of the funds appropriated by the state legislature for the relief of disabled or injured firemen, namely, 1 per cent. of the money paid into the state treasury by foreign fire insurance companies doing business in this state. It is known as house bill No. 41 and was introduced by the Hon. James Clarence, of Philadelphia.

As the association must apply to the courts of Lackawanna county for a charter, it is necessary that steps be now taken to effect a permanent organization. The money will be paid to the city treasurer to pay over the money to the regularly incorporated Relief association. The money will be received from the state treasurer on Jan. 1, 1896, and it is expected that the Scranton association will be sufficiently organized to receive the same about that time.

Associations will be formed in Carbondale, Archbald, Peckville, Olyphant, Taylor and all places in this county where an insurance company has an office. None will be fishing until the until the Scranton association has been permanently organized, so as to adopt uniform rules and regulations.

It is possible that the presidents will be present at the meeting, as every company must be represented on the board of trustees, in addition to the mayor and chief engineer as ex-officio. The meeting will take place in Turner's hall, 313 Lackawanna avenue, on Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 7.30 p. m. sharp.

HOPE FOR FRANK BEZEK.
Board of Pardons Grant a Respite of Thirty Days—Was Under Sentence to Be Hanged Nov. 6.

A respite of not less than thirty days was yesterday granted by the board of pardons in Harrisburg to Frank Bezek, now in the county jail and sentenced to hang Nov. 6, 1895.

Before the board in Harrisburg appeared Attorneys George S. Horn, of the firm of Ward & Horn, and A. J. Colburn, of Olyphant, Pa. His attorneys argued before the board that the shooting was accidental and that the testimony of a certain important witness had been grossly misrepresented, as well as the testimony of Bezek himself, who could speak only in the Kramish dialect.

The board had power to commute the sentence, to set aside the conviction, to grant a respite or to set the prisoner free.

BILL KENT'S LITTLE KIT.
Evidence of His Guilt Secured Yesterday by the Police.

Undeniable evidence that Bill Kent is guilty of the charge of counterfeiting $5 bills has been secured by the police, for which he was arrested one week ago today, was yesterday unearthed by Chief of Police Simpson and his men.

Investigation at Wimmers, Kent's old stamping ground, led to the discovery that he had an intimate acquaintance here in Scranton with the person of a Liverpool or Hickory man, who was formerly a farm-hand at Wimmera. His house was visited and without much reluctance, though with evident reluctance, he turned over to the officers a basket which Kent had left in his care two days before his arrest. The basket, upon examination by the police station, was discovered to contain a small but complete silver-plating outfit, including a jar, acids, silver solution, wire tongs and an electric battery, all showing evidences of having been recently used.

This knocks the bottom out of Kent's cleverly concocted story that he was given the counterfeit by a John Buckley, of the same old claims which he possibly stored away when he and Judd Wolcott conducted a den in Coon Hollow, above Dunnington, about eight years ago.

The Swedish friend of Kent says that he was asked by the latter to get a wagon and join him in the business of the "clinking" of bills. Kent placed the wagon and disposing of them to the wholesalers in the early morning. This was a scheme, no doubt, to get the Swede in Kent's clutches. It is clear that he might force him to shove the counterfeit, the Swede, however, refused to fall into the trap.

SITE WILL BE CHANGED.
Storage Reservoir Not to Be Rebuilt at Mattes Street.

It has been decided by the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company that the site of the storage reservoir, located between the southern line of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad will not be rebuilt on the site where it twice broke.

The water will be stored in a reservoir which will be built in the bed of the Roaring Brook stream near the old rolling mill. A track is being laid to where the water will be pumped. In order to haul the stones that formed the walls of the broken dam to the new site.

HER HUSBAND WENT AWAY.
Grew Tired of Her Company After Eight Years.

Mary Jane Daniels, through her next friend, Arthur T. Davis, filed a petition in court yesterday praying for separation from her husband, Philip O. Daniels, to whom she was married on Feb. 21, 1885, and who deserted her on Oct. 10, 1887. Attorney W. H. Hayler represents the libellant.

An auxiliary committee was set up in conjunction with the candidates for outlining the plans of campaign was appointed with E. P. Blewitt as chairman. His associates are D. J. Campbell, John E. Heine, John Frank Coyne, Michael Hannek of Taylor; E. J. Ward, of Moosic; Martin P. Flynn and Dr. J. O'Malley. This committee will meet with city editor, Frank P. Smith, Dr. J. J. Kelley and A. B. Dunnington, at 2 o'clock next Saturday afternoon and in the evening a meeting of the general committee will be held.

WORTH REMEMBERING.
What Some Pedestrians Saw on Washington Avenue Yesterday.

Pedestrians on Washington avenue yesterday were attracted by the artistic display of valuable jewelry, precious stones and novelties in the window of No. 205. It was an exhibition of Olof G. N. Turnquist, and was arranged by Edwin S. Taylor, the window trimmer at Goldsmith's bazaar. The window contains an exquisite assortment of stones, watches, leather goods, opera glasses and accessories which in fact is a fair idea of the extensive and more magnificent stock within the store. Mr. Turnquist but recently returned from Europe where he lived for many years, and is now receiving and marketing some of his purchases while abroad. These were obtained direct from the foreign producers, and consequently Mr. Turnquist has not had the middleman's profit; this enables him to retail at prices heretofore unheard of to his customers in Scranton. His stock includes a grand array of ladies' and gentlemen's and novelty watches, ornaments—and, in fact, everything possessed by the jewelry stores in larger cities. Diamonds are Mr. Turnquist's specialty in stone, although his stock includes all kinds. He is a practical diamond cutter and setter, knows their value and can attend to the special wants of patrons in this line, and is suffering them to delay while he deals with parties in New York or Philadelphia. Scrantonians are appreciating the large stock of the new store, and their confidence has been honestly won. In dealing with Mr. Turnquist a customer is assured of good, practical workmanship, honesty of material, fair prices and a complete stock to select from. Each of these points is always sought by the careful buyer, and he or she finds them in Mr. Turnquist's store, which is at the corner of 205 Washington avenue, should be borne in mind.
