MAYOR'S BUSY PEN.

Important Matters Which Received His Official Approval Vesterday. King & Cleary's contract for the con-struction of the approaches to the Lin-den street bridge was yesterday signed by Mayor Connell and the work will be commenced next Monday morning. It commenced next Monday morning. It will be some time next summer before the job will be completed, as the city engineer will not permit the mason work to be done during cold weather. The grading and filling will, however, be pushed as rapidly as possible, and in a few days after the work is commenced the approach at Sixth street will be in such shape as to make it possible to open the bridge.

The mayor also signed two contracts with Hart & Gibbons, of Wilkes-Barre, for the construction of lateral sewers, one on Capouse avenue, between Marlon and Green Lidge streets, for $1.74 per and Green hidge streets, for $1.74 per lineal foot, and the other on Irving ave-nue, north of Mulberry street, for $2.05 per lineal foot.

The bond of Ira T. Barber, licensed house-mover, in the sum of $1,000, was approved by his honor, as were also the following resolutions: Directing the city citrk to advertise for bids for furnishing coal for city buildings; call-ing for plans for a catch basin on New York street between Washington and Wyoming avenues; instructing mayor to order the renewal of the Fif-teenth ward animal pound to the plot of ground ewned by the Wellington estate on Fellows street, between Twe. th and Thirteenth streets; permitting the Lackswanna Iron and Steel company to construct a private sewer on South Washington avenue.

TESTIMONY IS ALL HEARD

Arguments to Jury to Vishniski Case Will Be Made Today.

DEPENDANT PUT ON THE STAND

Says He Shot Felix Davidzak in Self Defense - After the Murder He Walked to Plymouth and Then Came Back Here.

Among those who have heard the ev! dence of the commonwealth and the defense in the Vishniski murder case, there is now much speculation as to what the verdict will be, as the testi-mony has all been heard. At 3.10 yesterday afternoon the last witness was heard and further proceedings were adjourned until this morning in order to give Attorney McGinley time to prepare law points and arrange his argument. The main feature yesterday was the testimony of Vishniski him-

Alexander Jankowski, the defendant's brother-in-law, was the first wit-ness called. He denied that he saw the ness called. He denied that he saw the shooting. There was a scuffle between Vishniski and three of the companions of the dead man. The witness heard the shot but he would not admit that it was the defendant who fired it.

Vishniski walked steadily to the stand and gazed around the court room with-out showing any embarrassment. His answers in English were so unsatis-liberations. answers in English were so disastisfactory that the interpreter had to be called into requisition. He is 20 years of age, was born in Prussia-Poland, and came to America in May, 1893. His father is dead, but his mother is still living in the old country.

Tells Something of His History. After landing in New York, he came and next went to work at laboring in the South Steel mill. Last February he worked at the steel mill. The morning of the 9th he went to work, but an unusually heavy fall of snow had descended during the previous night, causing operations to suspend at the scended during the previous night, causing operations to suspend at the mill. He came home at 10 o'clock that merning. After removing his working clothes he went to bed and took a nap until late in the afternoon.

Joe Terreshevitz came to Vishniski's boarding house and coaxed him out drinking. They were joined by Joe Erling. Micharlowski's saloon attract-ed them and before they left it, each had drunk about fifteen or twenty chooners of beer.

At 9 o'clock they started home; their path homeward led past Peter Kojio-leck's unlicensed shop, and in there they went. Martsall Seminski and a fellow named Stofski who were in ahead of the defendant, as soon as they saw him enter, began to stir up a quarrel. They were successful in their design, Vishniski says he was rendered unconscious from a blow on the head, recovered, got up and ran, was pursued, and, in self-defense, shot Felix Davidzak, the foremost of his pursuers. Vishniski swore that he had the revolver in his pocket when he went out that night, that he did not go home to get it.

He Walked to Plymouth. He walked to Plymouth after the murder, came back a day later to Scran-ten and took the train for Buffalo. His sis or gave him the money. He worked for a farmer a few miles out from Buf-falo and as soon as he earned $8 returned to the city to buy some new clothes and was arrested. Coroner J. A. Kelley was recalled. An anatomical chart was set up before

Coroner J. A. Kenty.

An anatomical chart was set up before the jury box and the coroner showed to the jury the course taken by the bullet. Dr. John O'Malley, of Spruce street, was called after Coroner Kelley. The defense proposed to prove by him that two scars on Vishniski's head came wounds was an incised and the other a contused one. Dr. O'Malley examined the defendant at the county jail a month ago. There was a scar of a wound on the top of the head which appeared to have been made with a knife or some charp instrument, and another on the side of the head, appearing to have been made with a club or some dull instrument. The witness gave as his opinion that the wounds were produced less than a year ago, judging from the process of cicatrization.

Spangenburg, of 107 South Filmore avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Spangenburg were away from home Wednesday night and Miss Hill, who is 20 years of age, says that Lutz entered the house by opening a window and then forcibly violated her. She swore out a warrant for the arrest of Lutz before Alderman John and Lieutenant Williams took him into custody.

Lutz says his accusser's right name is that she is his common law wife. He will have a hearing today.

Ir. John Burnett and Dr. Ludwig Wehlau gave similar testimony.

Said Davidzak Was Vicious. Albert Ludka was called to prove that Davidzak, the murdered man, was a victous, law-breaking character. Ludka is a special officer and was pre-sumed to know Davidzak. The court on the objection of the district attorney ruled that this evidence was not admissable. County Detective Leyshon was called on the part of the commonwas called on the part of the common-wealth in rebuttal to contradict the evidence of Julius Dhrabant, who was a witness for the defense. Mr. Leyshon said he went to the South Side the Mon-day after the murder, had a talk with Dhrabant and was informed by him that he knew nothing at all about the

The district attorney intended to have The district attorney intended to have the testimony taken at the coroner's inquest read before the jury, but he was unable to find the notes. There was no further testimony on either side. The jury went to their room at 3.10. This morning at 9 o'clock Attorney McGinley will present law points to the court and will address his argument to the jury. It is probable that the jury will retire to deliberate on a verdict this after. to deliberate on a verdict this after-

Minor Offenses That Were Considered in

No. 2, and No. 3. The case in No. 2 court room before Judge Savide, of Sunbury, in which William Owens was defendant and Thomas Murphy prosecutor on the charge of felonious wounding went to the jury yesterday morning, and a ver-dict of guilty on the second count, ag-gravated assault and battery, was returned.

Another case of felonious wounding Another case of felonious wounding was then put on trial before Judge Savidge. The defendants are Anthony Keturakis, Antony Keturakis, Jr., George Kuperunas, Joseph Kazlanekus, Andrew Smith and Joseph Keturish. The prosecutor is Charles Black. The whole party was drinking beer at Blazy's saloon, on Penn avenue, on the night of Nov. 3, 1894. During an altercation the prosecutor, Charles Black, was struck with a beer glass on the head and badly cut. The clothes of the injured man, all covered with blood, were exhibited in court as evidence of the bloody struggle. The commonwealth has not yet concluded.

BATTLE BETWEEN DOGS.

Priceburg the Seene of a Disgustingly Brutal Contest.

Carbondale and Wilkes-Barre were pitted against each other for the honors After landing in New York, he came directly to Scranton to the house of his elster, Mrs. Jankowski, where he boarded until the night of the murder. He worked a while in the woods, quarrying stone for Contractor Max Phillips, and seventy-five sports of the property of the came receipts. The latter amounted to about $35, there being a few less than seventy-five sports of the came of the ca til 1 this morning. The contest took place in a circular pit in the center of the hall. Frank Laughney, of Jermyn, was referee. The sports were on the ground at 10 o'clock and they manifested great impatience in the delay in starting. When a burly chap, with only his undershirt and pantaioons on, came forward with a tub of lukewarm water in his arms, he was tendered a rousing reception. The owner of the dogs came

In order to guard against any tricks that either might resort to in the way of saturating the dog's hide with cayenne pepper or any such substance that would prevent the antagonistic dog from retaining its grip, both dogs were ducked in the tub, washed with soapine, and thoroughly sponged and dried. The Carbondale dog went by the sobriquet of "Tony," and his Wilkes-Barre relative rejoiced in the

For therty minutes they fought like demons and their blood bespattered the pit. It was an evenly matched fight up to this point. The second round was greatly in favor of "Tony," and so on from that to the end.
