

CARBONDALE.

ATTACKED BY A DOG.

A Little Girl Horribly Mangled by a Ferocious Brute.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Griffith, of Belmont street, had a narrow escape from a horrible death and has received injuries yesterday which may prove fatal.

At the time, the little one was playing in the yard near a Mr. Gibbs, who was engaged in doing some work. Suddenly a dog bounded forward and pounced upon her, knocking her to the ground. The dog then commenced to chew the girl's face and before she could be rescued she was mangled terribly.

The screams of the little girl attracted the attention of Mr. Gibbs, who, turning and seeing the position of the little one, ran to her rescue.

The dog ran as Mr. Gibbs approached, or otherwise it would have killed the baby. The little girl's face was torn in a most horrible manner. The bridge of the nose was broken and the left eye closed and blackened so that it can not yet be seen what the injuries to it will be. A yellowish matter oozed from the flesh below the right eye, and the roof of the mouth is badly out. The cheeks are laid bare, the flesh being torn here and there. Dr. P. E. Jenkins was summoned to the scene of the accident. He thinks the life of the child can be saved if blood poisoning does not set in. He cannot yet tell whether there will be any disfigurement or not.

The dog which made the attack, without the slightest provocation, is the property of Joseph Robinson. Nobody feels more deeply than the affair that he does. The dog had been a great pet and had never been ugly until very lately.

The dog is getting old, and this probably made it temper somewhat irritable. It will be killed to prevent any repetition of the occurrence.

The reception held by the ladies of the Methodist church proved to be one of the most charming events of the season. It was held at the Methodist parsonage and was conducted by the Ladies' Aid society. Nearly all the ladies connected with the church were present, and a most enjoyable time was had by all.

The business conducted was of more than usual interest, it being the annual election of officers. The following were elected for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. D. W. Humphrey; secretary, Mrs. G. A. Place; treasurer, Mrs. D. Scurry; the vice-presidents elected were Mesdames Butler, H. R. Stone, H. Reynolds, O. Reynolds, P. Pongelly, Pascoe, Kilpatrick, Scurry, Smith, Maize and Evans. The following will assist: Mesdames Wolcott, Williams, Davis, Burnard, Bryant and Bailey.

The report of the officer of the past year were read by Mesdames T. R. Evans, D. Scurry and P. Oliver. The net receipts for the year had been $72, of which $42 had been derived from suppers and a twilight organ recital. The officers of the society provided a most dainty repast, which was enjoyed by all.

found dead, and when one more was added to the list Mr. Chapman's patience gave out. No trace of the animal which entered could be found and despite all precautions taken by Mr. Chapman, the coop was still entered and fowls killed. At last he secured a trap which was warranted to catch anything and which he set in his henry and went to bed with the conviction that he had done all he could. On arising he was more than pleased when he found the trouble fast in the trap. The animal was over a foot in length, and is either a mink or weasel. Mr. Chapman can now rest in peace since his enemy is dead.
