Farewell Reception to Rev. Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Hughes at the Jackson Street Baptist Church Last Night.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Hughes, late of the Jackson Street aptist church, were the recipients of a farewell recoption last evening at the First Welsh Baptist church, on South Main avenue, on the eve of their departure from this city. The large audience in itself testified to the regret felt at Dr. Hughes departure and the encomiums and expression of sorrow by the many speakers further bore out this sentiment. B. Hughes, a prominent member of the ers further lore out this sentiment. B. Hughes, a prominent member of the Weish Baptist church, was invited to preside, and in a happy manner controlled the evening's proceedings.

Rev. J. R. Ellis, of Blakely, was the first speaker. He dwelt at Length upon the many good qualities. Dr. H. H. Harris, pastor of Calvary Baptist church. Taylor, spoke in an eulogistic way of the ability of the reverend divine. Dr. Harris' wide reputation as a forcible preacher of the Gospel was exemplified and explained in his impressive words of last evening. Rev. Hugh Sive words of last evening. Rev. Hugh Davis, of the Welsh, Calvinistic Meth-odist church, testified to the esteem felt by him and his church for Dr. Hughes, and Rev. David Jones, of the Welsh Congregational church, followed in the Congregational church, followed in the same cologistic strain. Mr. Jones was paid an eloquent tribute by Dr. Hughes in the latter's introduction.

Rev. Thomas Bell, of the Plymouth Congregation church, said he was glad Dr. Hughes is leaving Scranton, because he will be entering a larger field at the metropolis. Dr. Crane, of Green Ridge, spoke of the uselossness of mere nationality at the Great Day. Dr. B. G. Bedloe, one of the foremost members of the Scranton Street Baptist church, represented that body in the testimony of the evening. Dr. Beddoe told of the pleasant associations he has had, personally, with Dr. Hughes. Rev. had, personally, with Dr. Hughes, Rev. D. J. Williams, of Jermyn, who spoke next, believed that we should praise the living and present, not always the dead and absent. Mrs. Williams read the following resolutions drawn up by the Baptist conference of local ministers:

Rev. W. S. Jones, of the church wherein the reception was held, spoke of his association with Dr. Hughes, Mr. Jones' remarks were at times witty at the expense of his fellow preachers, and their several creeds. In closing he presented Dr. Hughes with an ebony cane, gold headed and handsome; in behalf of the West Side Ministerial association. Dr. Hughes responded in a touching address. He spoke of his success at the "church on Jackson street, between Bromley and Hyde Park avenues," and told of his labors at other churches. Dr. Hughes acknowledged the enconlums of the evening. During the reception Morris Thomas sang a delightful solo, and the church choir, led by W. W. Evans, rendered an authem, Miss Lewis singing the solo parts. Dr. and Mrs. Mughes leave Thursday for New York city. The Jackson Street Baptist church was not represented at the reception. That is the church from the pulpit of which Dr. Hughes has just retired
