A REAR END COLLISION.

Three Persons Are Injured-One Quite Seriously, in a Gravity Accident. One of the first accidents to occur on the Gravity railroad for many years took place yesterday morning, when a passenger train near the head of Lincoln avenue came in collision with a water train. water train, under charge of Conductor William Cole, preceded the passenger train down the mountain. As the head of Lincoln avenue Conductor Coles train was run onto a switch. Just at this time the passenger train came around the curve at a good speed and before any thing could be done to prevent it, there was a collision. The prevent it, there was a collision. The shock was quite great, but luckily the speed had been lowered in order to make a stop at Lincoln avenue. The force of the collision was great enough to throw one of the large boilers of the water train completely off the car. The baggage car suffered quite badly also, it being badly wrenched and weakened and the windows broken.

As it was but three persons were hurt.

As it was but three persons were hurt. Orson Dutcher, a young man from Prompton, was in the baggage car at the time, and as they came around the curve saw that it would be impossible to avoid am accident. Thinking he would stand a better show if he was off the training of the the train, the young man jumped. At the side of the track there is a high stone wall, and over this he went, injuring the ligaments of both feet and ankles. He was unable to walk, but was taken to the office of Dr. Wheeler. where his injuries were attended to. Another of the injured is Mrs. George McMinn, of Lincoln avenue, who was thrown forward against a seat by the shock. Her breast bone was injured, but how seriously is not yet known. The rear brakeman of the train was thrown off, landing on his head, but it was not injured. Others escaped without any hurt.

KANE GAUGHT.

Accused of Attempting Assault, Pleads Not Guilty.

On last Friday night Mrs. Higgins, an old lady, was brutally attacked by some person, but was prevented from carrying out his designs by the desperate resistance of the lady. Constable Ed. Neary had got an inkling of his whereabouts and entered a notorious place, where Kane was found. in fancied securiety. He was somewhat dismayed when he saw the constable, but made no resistance, and was soon handcuffed and on his way to jail.

The man was given a hearing before Alderman Jones yesterday morning, and was confronted by the woman whom he had attacked. Mrs. Higgins was too ill to walk to the office, so she was obliged to be brought in a carriage. She at once recognized him as the huffin with whom she had fought so desperately. Her story of the man's appearance when he entered her house was most revolting.

Kane did not seem to be much effected by the story of the plaintiff, and at once entered a plea of not guilty, to the surprise of all present. Attorney O'Neil had charge of his case, while the plaintiff conducted her own. Kane was finally committed to the county fall without bail.
