The groomsmen were Thomas Lynam, of Scranton, and immediately after the ceremony the bride party were taken to the home of friends in Providence, returning in time to be present at a reception given by the bride's mother, on Sand street, for which 125 invitations had been issued. Among the out-of-town people who attended the wedding were: John Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burns, Will Burns, Mamie Ferrill, Julia Kelly, Tessie Mullen, and Will Mullen, of Scranton, and Will Finnelly, of Pittston. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh will go to housekeeping at once on Sand street, and the many presents given to the bride will be very useful in her new home.

DEATH OF JAMES POPE.

A Prominent Citizen Expires from the Effects of Asthma.

James Pope, a most prominent and respected resident of Scranton, passed away at his home at 9 o'clock Tuesday night. His death was due to asthma, from which he had been suffering for the past year.

Mr. Pope was a man of most genial and pleasing disposition. He was born in Ireland in 1820. When yet young he came to this country and settled in Luzerne borough. He soon afterward moved to this place, and took up his residence in Scranton, where he has lived for forty years. He is survived by a wife, two sons and six daughters. They are: Thomas, William, Mesdames William Robinson, Thomas Kennedy, George Cool and Miss Maggie Pope, of this city, and Mesdames John Crowl and Andrew Quilty, of Montana.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock. A Requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Rose's church, and interment will be made in St. Rose's cemetery.

For some time past men have been engaged in raising No. 3 shaft. The men who are doing the work are in charge of Foreman Warren Tappen, who met with a very painful accident and which will prevent his doing any work for some time. Mr. Tappen had stepped into the engine room for a minute, and coming back stepped upon the scaffolding in the shaft. He missed his footing in some manner and was thrown into the shaft. The shaft had been completely covered some distance below or Mr. Tappen would have been instantly killed. As it was he received very bad injuries, having sustained a broken shoulder.

SENATOR HILL'S FRANKNESS.

He Doesn't Mince Matters When Talking to Newspaper Men—An Instance of His Lack of Reserve.

Senator Hill has the reputation at Washington of being the frankest man in the senate. In fact his frankness to newspaper reporters at times is almost brutal. "I recall one occasion just before the Peckham vote," says a senator to the Chicago Times-Herald reporter, "standing in the marble room near enough to overhear the Chicago papers. You must excuse me from any charge of eavesdropping. Hill was talking loud enough for anybody in the room to hear him.

"What's that?" asked the correspondent. "Can he be confirmed?"

"I think not," replied Hill. "If senators vote as they talk he's gone, send the White House is doing all it can playing every card. Cleveland thought himself sure on Hornblower and didn't make much of a battle; didn't deem it necessary. Hornblower's defeat has spoiled his career; he's making a hard fight for Peckham."

"There's one card the White House plays," continued Hill, "which I can't meet. I'll lose one way or the other."

"What's that?" asked the correspondent. "Mrs. Cleveland," replied Hill, "in the Hornblower fight I had Faulkner with me. He acted very badly in his sense against the White House and stood against Hornblower like a rock. Cleveland's utmost influence couldn't move him. It beat on Faulkner like a storm, but he voted 'no' to Hornblower."

"But since the Hornblower business, unfortunately for me, Faulkner's got married. And haven't you noticed within the last two weeks how Mr. Cleveland has taken polite yet amiable possession of Mrs. Faulkner; had her over to the White House three times and made her the fashion every where. He has fetched Faulkner, too. He's the most rabid Peckham man in the senate; battered and won by smooth art tactics in his wife."

Worn Out Women

Should read this letter. It shows the wonderful building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

"I wish I could stand in some public place and cry, 'alluring humanity!'"

"Hear this, ye people, what wonderful things Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me!"

"I am a woman of family," I can express what I feel. Only one of my sex knows what woman can suffer in my condition. I was prostrate with nervousness and weakness. The least noise would drive me frantic. I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am employed to say that I am now healthy, rosy and plump."

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Largest U.S. Gov't Report. Royal Baking Powder. ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Well, continued Hill, with a hard though cheerful smile, "of course, I don't meet that sort of warfare. I've no wife; no white house. In those two particulars Cleveland has entirely the best of me. However, and here Hill's face took on a look of bright resolution, although he threw a dash of banter into his tones, "I may not always be so poor. The day may come when I can boast at least one of those elements of great strength."

HAVE NEVER HEARD OF IT.

Not One Chinaman in the Ten Thousand Knows That There is Such a Country as the United States.

From the Chicago Record.

It is a curious fact that no Chinese official or newspaper or any other defender of the race has attempted to justify or excuse the persecution and exclusion of their race in the United States. In all of the Chinese papers of the recent missionary troubles there has never been an allusion to the Rock Creek massacre in Wyoming or the anti-Chinese riots in San Francisco, and, although in a long interview a short time ago Li Hung Chang gave every other possible reason in justification of the policy of the Chinese government in preventing a commercial and industrial invasion, he did not once allude to the laws passed by our congress prohibiting the immigration of his countrymen into the United States.

This is explained very readily by old residents, who say, in the first place, that nearly all—at least 95 per cent. of the Chinese residents in the United States are from the province of Kwang Tung, and from the city of Canton or its immediate vicinity. This is the southernmost province of the Chinese empire. Its inhabitants speak a different language from that used in the other provinces, their customs and habits are very dissimilar, they have no mutual interests and on sympathy.
