A FREIGHT WRECK. A Serious Wreck Near White Haven

Yesterday. Yesterday morning about 5.40 o'clock a serious wreck occurred on the Le-high Valley road at Daneker's siding, near White Haven. Several freight cars were derailed and the tracks were blocked for several hours.

The accident is thus told by the company officials: Train 544, engine 631, Engineer W. Fisher and Conductor W. H. Moyer, an east bound freight, had a broken axie on a loaded Grand Trunk box car, which caused a derailment of that and nine other cars. The east and west bound tracks were blocked. and the tracks badly torn for some dis-tance. The Lehigh Valley passenger trains were run in both directions over the Central railroad between Penn Haven and Franklin Junctions. Luckfly, the crew escaped injury. Super-intendent Mitchell left for the scene of the wreck on an early train, and soon the wreck train was on the spot. The west bound track was cleared at of life than usually comes to the average girl in the same number of years. She is 18 years of age, and is fairly good looking. Lizzie says she came here with a young man, who, after geting her here, deserted her. She then went to work at anything she could find, and was around town a good bit. Last Wednesday night she was in a small hotel, on the corner of Market and Canal streets, and, as she once was a high kicker in a variety show, exhibited her powers in this line, until she fell and hurt her wrist, which was badly swelled. She was later found by the police in a vacant lot on South Fell street, with a young man, who made his escape. She told the mayor she had an uncle living at Treetop, N. C., and she will be cared for in Wilkes-Barre until her uncle is communicated with. municated with.

DEATH OF SEWARD SMITH. Bright and Popular Young Man

After a long illness Seward R. Smith. After a long illness Seward R. Smith, son of Marcus Smith, superintendent of the Wilkes-Barre Gas company, died yesterday. He retained his faculties until the last, his anxiety being only for those he loved. He was a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, and Rev. Dr. Jones and Rev. Mr. Hayden, of that church, and Rev. Mr. Johnson, of Calvary church, had during his last days soothed and succored him with days soothed and succored him with their prayers and assuring words of cheer. The deceased was 17 years of age. He is survived by four brothers— Rylance, Fred, Marcus and Walter— and two sisters—Mrs. Harry C, Mason and Grace Smith. and Grace Smith.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on North Washington street at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

A Case S ated.

Yesterday afternoon a case stated was filed with Prothonotary Llewellyn between John Jennings and the county of Luxerne. Jennings is a deputy con-stableand presented a bill to the county for serving a writ for Alderman Per-kins, of the Sixteenth ward. The county refuses payment on the grounds that they are not authorized to pay fees for such services, except to reg-ularly elected constables. E. F. Mc-Govern appears for the plaintiff and County Solicitor Moore for the county.

A Frightened Woman.

Yesterday morning in front of the Excelsior clothing store on the Square a horse slipped on the pavement. Mrs. Reuben Edwards, of 2 Maple avenue, was passing, and becoming frightened. fell to the sidewalk. She was carried in a fainting condition into the Excelsion store, where the employes rendered all assistance possible. Dr. Batterton also prescribed for her. In half an hour she recovered sufficiently to go home.

Henry Rudnaruce's Funeral. The funeral of Henry Rudenauer was held yesterday afternoon from his late home, 10 Wood street. It was the largest funeral cortege seen in some time, three German societies following the remains to where interment was made in Darling street cemetery. The so-cieties were Knights of Pythias, Wyo-ming lodge, Harguard lodge and Young Maenner lodge.

BRIEF NOTES.

TRILBY'S LONDON BOOM.

The Play Produced by Beerbohm Tree at the Play Produced by Reerbohm Tree at the Haymarket—Du Maurier Present.

London, Oct. 31.—The Trilby boom was started in London with great enthusiasm last night with Beerbohm Tree's production of the play at the Haymarket. As early as the noon hour people began gathering at the gallery entrances of the theater, and before 5 o'clock this evening there were long lines of humanity standing in the street.

when the curtain rose it was upon a house crowded in every part. The Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duchess of Fife and Price Nicholas, of Greece, occupied the royal box. In the opposite box were Mrs. Beerbohm Tree and Mr. and Mrs. George Du Maurier. In the stall were seen Lord Rusier. In the stalls were seen Lord Russell. George Boughton, W. S. Gilbert, Barney Barnato, C. D. Rose, who has recently withdrawn his challenge for the American cup; A. W. Pinero and J. K. Jerome.

The play was received with much applause, but the verdict of those who have seen both is that it is not equal to the New York production with the exception of Mr. Tree, who was pro-nounced far better than any Svengali seen in America.

At the close of the play the curtain was raised again and again in response to the continued applause. Mr. Tree briefly thanked the audience and he also thanked Mr. Du Maurier and Paul version. Mr. Du Maurier also appeared upon the stage and bowed his thanks.

MURDER AT A WEDDING.

The Bride's Partner in the Dance Stabbed to the Heart.

Pittsburg, Oct. 31.—Uninvited guests at a Slav wedding near Braddock last night provoked a quarrel that ended in a murder at midnight. The name of the murdered man was Nitro Siroka. The assassin was Andrew Hodak. Ho-dak leaded a party of his countrymen who forced an entrance to the house in which the customary festivities were in progress. They toined in the danc-ing and drinking. The groom's party was too weak in number to eject the in-truders and they remained undisturbed until Hodak's followers thrust unwelcome attentions upon the bride. About midnight Hodak attempted to force one of the groom's friends away from the bride, with whom he was dancing, and Siroka, the bride's attendant, in the heart. He fell dead in the woman's arms saturating her bridal robes with his blood. Hodak leaped through a window and escaped
