WILKES-BARRE.

DR. CORSS SPEAKS.

He Makes an Interesting Address Before the Ministers.

The Methodist Episcopal ministers of Wilkes-Barre and vicinity met in regular pession yesterday morning in the First Methodist Episcopai church with Rev. J. F. Williams, of Luzerne, in the chair. J. F. Williams, of Luzerne, in the chair. There were present Revs. J. r. Williams, of Luzerne, T. M. Furey, Wanneig, J. A. La Bar and W. Treibel, Wyoning; L. E. Van Hoesen, Forty Fort; J. R. Peek and H. C. McDermott, Kingston; L. C. Murdock and C. E. Mogg, Wilkes-Barre; J. B. Sweet, Ashley; J. Madison and James Jones, Yates; N. Reasoner, Wilkes-Barre; J. B. Sumpet, Nanticoke; S. Moore, Tacoma, and Mr. Dennis, of the Rescue Mission. Rev. Samuel Moore, of Tacoma, formerly a member of the Wyoming Conference, conducted the devotions, after

Rev. Samuel Moore, of Tacoma, formerly a member of the Wyoming Conference, conducted the devotions, after which Mr. Furcy, the secretary, read the minutes of the previous meetin, which were adopted. Mr. Moore then gave a short talk on his work in the west. He was presiding elder of the Tacoma district for five years, and is greatly pleased with the West.

Dr. FrederickCo rss, of Kingston, they spoke on "Progress." He first defined the word, and said: "We may have advancement without progress. For instance, the Union army made advancement at Hull Run, but there was no progress. Progress in lower orders of life must be hereditary or by preparation. Here progress means specialization, as per cactus of Mexico, the lion and cat tribe generally. Natrual history is an account of adaptation, but no progress in organic laws is here manifest. In considering progress faith must be a factor, undisputed and manifest. In considering progress faith most be a factor, undisputed and width will hold its sway in spite of all. The Bible is to be interpreted by scien-

The Bible is to be interpreted by scientific laws and the study of progress leads into the domain of science, but does no violence to God's Truth.

"In Eden man had a magnificent endowment and postession and was even now entering upon that inheritance. Dr. Coras spoke of the needs of Van Dieman's land as shown by her majesty's subjects, who wanted to raise red clover, and were informed by a noted ty a sinjects, who wanted to raise red clover, and were informed by a noted scientist that they needed cats to assist in raising clover, and furthermore proved his assertion. We are coming into full possession of our Eden Inheritance and progress is the order of the day in that may is overcoming the day in that man is overcoming the se-crets of nature. Uniformity is the basis of classification. The doctor then, with the lowest forms of plant life as illustratives, traced their progress step by step until he had reached the complete and, beautiful flower, the best of all. The same was also shown in the study of Zooley. The second of the study of Zoology. The speaker then punc-tured the bacteria scare as developed by the water famine, stating that all water contained bacteria, and that it is not necessarily poisonous because it does. But our reservoirs are full of poisonous decayed animal matter and stagnant water is unfit for human use. The general development from the low. stagnant water is unfit for human use. The general development from the lowest to the highest was excellently portrayed and manifested research, thought and a comprehensive compiltie subject which was highly compiltientary to the speaker. In conclusion Ir. Corss said that individualism was the highest order of progress as revealed in the man. He scientifically revealed that God had commenced with the smaller and weaker orders then developed until progress had marked its force on the immortal man. At the close of the able talk, Dr. Corss was given a hearty vote of thanks. Hev. Dr. Edwards, of Edwardsville, will be the next speaker.

MOTHER GETS THE CHILD.

Wise Decision by Judge Lynch in

Peculiar Case. Yesterday morning Judge Lynch held habens corpus hearing in chambers. The hearing was instituted by Henry Williams to recover possession of the ellid, and his wife was defendant. John F. Shea was attorney for the plaintiff, and T. E. Shea, esq., was attorney for defendant. The case attoracy for defendant. The case at-tracted considerable attention and a number of witnesses were called. The answer of the little one seemed con-vincing proof of the way she has been treated by Williams reated by Williams.

He was called on to testify. He did not say much aginst his wife, except that she was fond of going out nights to dances and parties. On examina-tion he said he beat her once and at another time wrestled with her.

John Ramsey, a young colored man was used as a witness. He said he had been to dancing school at Newton, where Mrs. Williams was present, but he saw nothing wrong with her. Mrs. Engle, of Cinderella street, said she hought Mrs. Williams was out a good leaf of the time.

Mrs. Williams was then put on the stand and testified that her husband had beaten her frequently, and that on one occasion she had been under a phycare from injuries inflicted on her by him. She refused to live with him any more. The little girl, who is live years old, was asked by Judge Lynch whether she wanted to go with her father or her mother, and she said she wanted to go with her mother. Judge Lynch satisfied himself that the child had not been instructed. child had not been instructed to say this, and decreed that the mother have

Mrs. Ellis's Strange Actions with a Knife.

On Sunday morning Mrs. W. L. Ellis, On Sunday morning Mrs. W. L. Ellis, of Georgetown, suddenly became insane at breakfast, and seizing a carving anife, tried to stab her eldest son, but was restrained by her husband.

Mrs. Ellis has been acting so strangely for several months as to attract the attention of the neighbors, but she did not become violent until Sunday, After she tried to kill her son, it required the efforts of several men to keep her quiet, and finally it became necessary to get a rope and tie her arms. 'Squire Ford made out a committment and Mrs. Ellis was sent to jail, where she will be kept until her sanity is determined.

News of the Mines.

About a year ago, it will be remem-bered, Reese Brooks & Company, of Scranton, leased the plant of the Auscranton, eased the plant of the Ad-uora Coal company, at Laffin, but when ready to begin work, the breaker was destroyed by fire. The lessees have now built a new modern breaker, and have sunk a shaft, ready to begin work tomorrow.

The officials now think the danger is past and a cave will be averted. They will make a careful survey of both colliertes, 3 and 5, and if everything is favorable the mules will be put back tomorrow. Several chambers in the Boston mine would be affected by the squeeze and in order to avoid any accidents the miners and laborers were stopped, but the danger being past work was re-sumed as usual yesterday morning.

A Course of Lectures. The Congregational Tabernacle,

the corner of Brown and Blackman streets, has completed arrangements for a course of lectures to be given during the winter.

The price for course tickets has been put so low that the series will be with-in the reach of all. Mention was made a few days ago in this paper of the pressing debt still remaining. The church therefore makes a special ap-peal for patronage. Nov. 27, 1895, Mayor F. M. Nichols, "Two Days on a Canal Boat," Dec. 11, 1895, Professor James M. Coughlin, "Elements of Success." ### PHILADELPHIA PANIC.

A Break in Industrial Stocks Causes "Black Friday" on the Stock Market of the Quaker City.

Philadelphia, Nov. 11.—There was a still further break in local industrials to-day in the Philadelphia stock market. At the opening the feeling was firm, but numerous liquidating orders in Welsbach Light and forced sales in Welsbach Light and forced sales started a downward movement in that stock. In the first half hour it dropped from 68 to 57, but at noon had recovered to 63. Electric Storage Battery common opened at 37, but soon declined to 30. Electric Storage preferred opened at 37, but fell to 31 and United Gasopened at 83½ and fell to 81½. Supporting orders appeared at noon and a partial recovery in these securities followed. The quotations at noon was: Electric Storage common, 35; do. preferred, 36; Weisbach, 63; United Gas, 84. Pennsylvania Heat, Light and Power, one of 36; Weisbach, 63; United Gas, 84. Pennsylvania Heat, Light and Power, one of the group which has been prominent in the recent fluctuations, was not affected to-day. It closed on Saturday at 13% bid and at noon to-day was quoted 14½ bid.

Later there was a further recovery, Electric Storage common sold at 36; do. preferred at 37, and 66 was bid for Welsbach Light.

Three weeks ago to-day the highest prices on record for most of the local industrials were reached. Then the decline set in, and the highest prices reached, compared with the lowest quotations to-day, show an aggregate depreciation within the three weeks of $12,955,000.

tations to-day, show an aggregate depreciation within the three weeks of $12,055,000.

Throughout this afternoon the market remained strong, and the highest prices of the day were recorded in the last hour of business, when Storage common sold at 38%, the preferred for 38, Welsbach for 68%, United Gas for 84%, and P. H. L. and P. for 155%.

This was followed by the slight reaction, which was most marked in Welsbach, but the close was strong at the following bid prices. Storage common, 38; Storage preferred, 38%; Welsbach, 65%, United Gas, 84%, and P. H. L. and P., 15.

The aftermath of the panic, which is now believed in financial circles to be at an end, includes a variety of rumors concerning the selling of stock by certain insiders. In some quarters it is affirmed that the break originated with the sales of "insiders" made at about the highest prices reached. This was denied today by a gentleman who is prominently identified with the management of two of the concerns whose securities have depreciated.

This gentleman has assured all his friends that not a single individual who can be called an "insider" has parted with any of his holdings, but that, on the contrary, most of them have added thereto from time to time during the progress of the decline.

Richard Mansfield, who is still at Lakewood, N. J., recuperating from his severe attack of typhold fever, is now virtually well again. He has just made a startling discovery, however. It is that he has forgoten the lines of all the plays in his reportory.

In every other respect Mr. Mansfield feels remarkably alert mentally, but it is a peculiar result of his recent illness that the leading roles in "Beau Brummel," "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde," "A Parisian Romance" and the other pieces in which he has been seen hundreds of times are now quite strange to him. He has, therefor, set to work to study diligently his various impersonations, and will have to come to New York shortly to rehearse with his company preparatory to opening his season at the Chestnut Street Opera House, Philadelphia, on Nov. 25.
