CANDIDATES COMING UP

Want the Offices to Be Distributed at the February Election. SOME OF THE AMBITIOUS ONES.

List is Already Quite Large, Although All of Talent Has Not Yet Been Heard From—Many Lively Contests Promised.

No little interest is already shown in the municipal election to take place in February. It is a matter of public concern, and it is not surprising that the list of candidates for the offices of mayor, city controller, city treasurer, city controller and three city assessors will be elected for terms of three years.

Only four candidates have as yet publicly announced themselves as candidates for city offices, and it is a significant fact that all of them are Republicans. There is every prospect of a decisive victory by the Republicans at the coming election in this city, and consequently the Democratic brethren are not tumbling over one another in a wild desire to put in applications for nomination.

On the Other Side of the Fence. The status of affairs in the Republican camp with regard to the office of mayor is known by the general public.

END OF THE FLOWER SHOW. The attractions that were featured of the Closing Night. The chrysanthemum show of 1895 is now a thing of the past.

The directors of St. Joseph's society will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock.
