So Testified Assignce J. H. Gunster, of the Defunct Bank-Testimony of Dr. B. H. Throop, W. J. Lewis, Charles Troop and Others.

Echoes of the failure of the Scranton City bank resounded through court room No. 2 yesterday again; the case will go to the jury this afternoon some time. It is one of the most complicated suits that ever came up for trial in these courts. Assignee Gunster took the stand in the morning. He handed over to the defindants' attorney all papers and documents in his possession relating to the affairs of Dr. Throop to the bank.

On cross-examination by Major War-Echoes of the failure of the Scranton relating to the analis of Dr. Tarcop to the bank.

On cross-examination by Major Warren, Mr. Gunster stated that when he took charge of the bank, Mr. Throop was credited on the books with deposits aggregating $59,378.78. The doctor's checkfor $25,000 was deducted from this amount, and was for the purpose of paying depositors. There were two other checks, one for $11,000 for money borrowed by Mr. Jessup from the doctor: the other check for $10,285.38 for real estate purchased from the bank.

Assignee Gunster testified that the understanding was that the $25,000 check was drawn for the purpose of relieving Dr. Throop of any further liability as a director of the bank. The depositors were asking in loud tones for their money and the directors had their money and the directors had promised to pay 60 per cent. at a cer-tain time and the remainder in monthly instalments of 10 per cent. Believes the Check Is Lost.

Money had to be borrowed from the First National bank to pay the depositors and fulfill the promise made to them. Mr. Gunster said that as far as he is aware the check of $25,000 is lost, at least, its wherabouts are a matter of mystery to him now and since he had charge of the bank's papers after the fallure.

The witness swore that as far as could be ascertained, the liabilities of the bank, when it failed, were $140,000. He could not give the accurate figures though there were expert accountants at work on the books several days. Of this amount $108,000 have been paid, according to the plainting, and there yet remains $38,000 of indebtedness due by Course Alexandary and this bonds.

yet remains $38,000 of indebtedness due by George A. Jessup and his bonds-men to the bank.

Hugh Miller testified that in August, 1885, he had a note discounted at the Scranton City bank and on Nov. 27 fol-lowing he paid the note to Mr. Jessup as cashier. N. G. Goodman identified the minutes of the meeting of the di-rectors held on March 22, 1882, when the bond of Mr. Jessup was rejected be-cause there was but one surety on it. The directors concluded that there should be at least three sureties, and should be at least three sureties, and the bond was returned to Mr. Jessup. James J. Carmalt, who was secretary pro. tem. of the meeting of March 22, 1882, identified the minutes as in his handwriting and made by him then. The minutes showed that after Mr. Jessue. The minutes showed that after Mr. Jessup's bond was accepted, having been made out with three sureties, it was delivered into possession of Dr. B. H. Throop, who was the president of the bank, succeeding victor Koch. Merrifield on the Stand.

Attorney Edward Merrifield was the next witness. According to his recol-lection the bond of Mr. Jessup contained the names of witnesses as well as those of signers. Mr. Gunster, the assignee, was recalled to the stand in the afternoon and was questioned with reference to the several items, notes, drafts, etc., etc. The plaintiffs closed their case and Major Warren opened for the defendants for the defendants.

Superintendent W. J. Lewis, of the New York, Susquehanna and Western Coal company was called by Major Warren. Mr. Lewis was one trustees to whom were delegated the task of selling the coal lands of George A. Jessup to apply on his indebtedness to the bank. Dr. B. H. Throop was the to the bank. Dr. B. H. Throop was the other trustee. The witness said that it was understood by him that the check of $25,000 was given by Dr. Throop to apply on Mr. Jessup's indebtedness.

Mr. Lewis did the most of the work Mr. Lewis did the most of the work of selling the coal lands and the sum realized was $73,750.65. This was turned over to Assignee Gunster to apply on Mr. Jessup's indebtedness. Poor Director Charles Tropp was called by the plaintiff to prove that the bond of Cashier Jessup was identical with that of Assignee Gunster. Mr. Tropp said he held one of the bonds, while the other was being read and for that reason knows. His memory would not serve him sufficiently that he could recollect which bond it was he held; whether it was Gunster's or Jessup's.

Dr. Troop Recalled.

Dr. Troop Recalled

Dr. Throop was recalled to the stand and was asked about the bond. He knew he had it one time, but where it went to or who took it, was more than he could tell. He could not remember whether the check for $25,000 was given by him to apply on Mr. Jessup's indebtedness. He is four days over $4 years of age and his memory does not serve him well now, he said.

A number of checks and other bank paper, some of it partly obliterated by the use of time, were handed to him for identification and he did not need glasses to assist his eyesight. There are but two or three witnesses yet to be heard. Dr. Troop Recalled.

Six men, William Reese, miner, Scranton, N. W. Balley, merchant, South Abington, John P. O'Connor, re-porter, Scranton, J. B. Martin, en-gineer, Olyphant, and J. H. Kelly, drug-porter, Scranton, J. B. Martin, engineer, Olyphant, and J. H. Kelly, druggist, Olyphant, serving this week as jurors in common pleas court, were selected to decide whether or not Frank Shiffer is a lunatic. The inquisition was held before Judge Edwards in the main court room.

Alfred Shiffer, father of the respondent, was first sworn and his reasons for believing his son to be a lunatic were very hazy ones. Frank once upon a time during an illness of la grippe, drank a quart of whisky in one night, and the deep potation appeared, said the father, to have left him in a groggy condition ever since.

Charles F. Van Nort testified that Frank was suffering at times from the hailucination that the police were plotting to kill him. Dr. Everhart was sworn as a witness, but did not give any damaging testimony against the respondent. The jury went out to find a verdict, could not agree and were discharged. The court refused to allow the question of habitual drunkenness to be considered.

The suit of Mrs. C. F. Fenher assigned to C. H. Soper against J. B. Lesh was tried before Judge Edwards. It involved $150 and the case went to the jury at adjournment. The dozen adjudicators slept in the temple of justice all night. The ejectment suit of R. A. Zimmerman against Pardon T. Barber was tried in court room No. 3 before Judge Gunster.

EPHPHATHA GUILD SERVICES

They Will Be Held in St. Luke's Church This Evening-What the Penny Club and the Guild Are.

Rev. J. M. Koehler, the missionary in charge of the services for deaf-mutes in the diocese of Central Pennsylvania, will officiate at St. Luke's church this evening at 7.45. The Ephphatha Guild, in connection with St. Luke's church. takes its name from the Greek wo "Ephphatha"—"Be opened"—used the Savior in healing a deaf mute, numbers between fifty and sixty of the mutes in this city. In connection with it is a Penny club, under the charge of Mrs. H. H. Coston, the "society directress" of the guild. It is this club which held a fair last winter and has taken other means to help the guild.

which held a fair last winter and has taken other means to help the guild provide for the traveling expenses of Rev. Mr. Koehler.

By some transformation this Penny club has been termed in the papers first, a "Mute society" and then "the Mite society of St. Luke's church," which is entirely misleading. There is no such society as that so curiously evolved by mistaken meaning. All moneys raised by the Ephphatha guild are for Rev. Mr. Koehler or for the social purposes of the deaf mutes. None of them go in any way to St. Luke's church, a statement necessary to correct a misunderstanding. The enterrect a misunderstanding. The enter-tainments of the guild and its affiliat-ed Penny club of young people appeal to all friends of the deaf mutes in Scranton, not to any limited circle.

Sheriff Moorman says that Keller had an hallucination that an uncle had died and left him half a million dollars, which he was preparing to collect He had an hallucination that an uncle had died and left him half a million dollars, which he was preparing to collect. He became worse and for his own safety and that of the community his sister last Saturday had him arrested and at the direction of the county court he was examined, declared insane, and ordered sent to his home in this city.

Keller was violent at times on the road and for one portion of the journey had to be chained to the seat of the car. He made several attempts to escape, but was prevented by the vigilance of his custodian, who was compelled to spend two days and two nights without a wink of sleep.

Poor Director Tropp had Drs. Gunster and Manley passed upon Keller's insanity at the station house, and accepted him as a charge upon the Scranton poor district. He will be sent to the Hillside home today.

Keller has not been himself for many years. At an encampment of the Thirteenth regiment he was prostrated by sun stroke and softening of the brain resulted. He is about 45 years of age and married.

TWO YERY BIG OBSTACLES

Prevent Action on West Side Street Improvements.

TRACTION COMPANY IN IT

Company Owns an Important Strip of Land and Proposes to Escape Assesament-West Siders Wait Upon the Mayor.

Mayor Connell was waited upon yesterday by a committee of the West Side board of trade, consisting of Hon. John R. Farr, Hon. D. M. Jones, Dr. J. J. Carroll, City Engineer Joseph Phillips and A. M. Morse, who were appointed at Tuesday night's meeting to further the movement to widen and pave Robinson and Ninth streets.

It was set forth at the consultation that the great drawback to the proposed improvement is the terms of the Scranton Traction company for the trade of their strip of land along the side of Robinson street, now occupied side of Robinson street, now occupied by their tracks, for the right of way along the center of the street. The along the center of the street. The company proposes to escape being assessed for paving between their tracks and also for paving the portion of the street owned by them, and to do this they prescribe in their terms that the deed of transfer shall be held by some third party until such time as the paving is under way.

An Important Point. As the properties on the southesterly side of the street do not abut on the street, but on the Traction company's property, there is a question as to who will be held liable for the cost of paying that side of the street, including the street car strip. There is one thing outle certain the committee feels ing the street car strip. There is one thing quite certain the committee feels, and that is the property holders will not be willing to pave unless the Traction company pays its share.

Mayor Connell promised the committee that he and City Solicitor Torrey would consult with the Traction company-officials and after getting their side of the story would endeavor to bring about a compromise.
