CARBONDALE.

PROVED TO BE A FAKIR.

A Fly Youth Borrows Money and Thet Skips the Town.

A man who was in this city last week and who said he was about to embark in business is missing, and with him a sum of money which he borrowed from a South Main street man.

The man, who gave his name as Goodwin, was of medium size, with black hair and eyes and was quite good looking. He engaged rooms at the home of Frank Becker, on South Main street. He told Mr. Becker he was going to establish an auctioneering business and that he had rented the corner store of the Rogers building, on Eighth avenue. His stock was on the way and with the assistance of Mr. Becker he engaged half a dozen young ladies and several boys. He was also having made for him at Kinback's six tables for the display of the goods.

Goodwin seemed to be very generous and made many friends by treating them to cigars and other things. Their opinion, however, was changed when he left with some of his landlord's money and several unpaid bills.

The scheme for getting the money

The scheme for getting the money was a good one. With several draymen waiting outside, Goodwin came into the place and asked Mr. Becker for a loan of $15$, saying that the bank was not yet open and he had no way of paying his freight bills. Not suspecting anything wrong Mr. Becker let him have the money and he left the store and that was the last seen of him. Mr. Becker has kept a sharp lookout for the man, as has also several of his creditors, but no trace has yet been found. Besides the money he borrowed his board bill was unpaid and he purchased a dollar's worth of olivettes on chased a dollar's worth of olivettes or credit just before leaving.

acted at the meeting of the Bicycle club, several of the offices which were made vacant by resignations being filled. The meeting was presided over by M. K. Purdy.

J. D. Purtell and O. E. Wounacott were added to the social committee. This committee will expect to do a great deal of work during the winter, and will arrange several social events.

H. G. Likely, treasurer, having resigned his office, G. B. Samson was elected to fill his place, as was also H. C. Wheeler, M. D., and A. J. Mitchell to succeed H. O. Watrous and G. M. Patterson, directors, resigned, M. K. Harnden succeeded W. D. Franks as secretary. Two men were appointed a committee to assist the treasurer in the collection of dues. They are Daniel Scurry and Moses Harnden.

Several of the members present donated articles for the use of the club, among these was a punching bag from M. K. Purdy. J. D. Purtell gave the Herald for one year and S. F. Carpenter a metropolitan journal. Among other contributors was Andrew Mitchell.

and Mrs. John Wilson, on Salem avenue.

Miss Matilda Rooney, a popular young lady of Brooklyn street, and Burt Ruttan, one of Waymart's promising young men, were married Tuesday evening at the parochial residence by the Rev. T. F. Coffey. The bride was attended by Miss Anna Piel, of Forest City, and Martin McGowan, of this city, was groomsman. A reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, to which only the immediate relatives were invited. Mr. and Mrs. Ruttan dispensed with the usual bridal trip and went to their home, in Waymart, which had been prepared by the grooms. The members of the Garrick Dramatic club have been working hard for the last month to get ready for Thanksgiving, when they will present "London Assurance" at the opera house. The cast have learned their parts thoroughly, and to see the company in rehearsal shows that it has been chosen well. The costumes have been ordered from Van Horn, of Philadelphia, who owns one of the largest houses for furnishing costumes in the United States.

The City's Finances.

The City's Finances.

City Treasurer Gramer has finished his October report, and a look at it will show that October is a dull month. The receipts amounted to $2,948.29, and the expenditures to $5,600.75. Of the latter most was caused by the redemption of bonds as follows: One Park street sewer, $100; one Second district sewer, $500; three Seventh avenue improvement, $300; Eight Lincoln avenue improvement, $300; one Church street paving, $500; one Church street paving, $500.

Plays and Players.

Plays and Players.

A good attraction has been secured for the Grand for Friday and Saturday of this week, when the latest farce-comedy, "Plays and Players," will appear. The company is a large one and carries with it many stars. The play is one of the most laughable on the road and is full of funny scenes and situations. The music is all new and catchy and there are numerous special-fles now being given for the first time.

A Change at the Opera House Andrew Mitchell, one of the owners of the opera house, has deeded his interest in the business to his son, Andrew Mitchell, jr. This change took place several months ago, although it is not generally known. The change is simply in the theater, as Mr. Mitchell still holds his interest in the brick structure.

The school board will hold a special session tonight.

Brief but impressive ceremonies were held in conjunction with the funeral services of Mrs. John Meddler. The services were conducted at the late home of the deceased on Main street, and consisted of only a few remarks from the Rev. Mr. Ace, Rev. H. H. Harris, of the Calvary Baptist church, and Rev. F. A. King, of the Methodist Episcopal church. The Misses Susle Morris, Rebecca Davis, and Messrs. James E. Watkins and Charles Dibble composed a quartette which rendered in exquisite tone a parting hymn. After these services many viewed the remains of the deceased and they were then borne to the Forest Home cemetery, where interment was made. An enthusiastic missionary meeting was held last evening in the Primitive Methodist church. Addresses were made by Revs. J. Proude, A. Woodcock and C. Ball. The meeting was in charge of Rev. W. H. Acornley, and with the assistance of Revs. J. Sutcliffe and J. Williams. A pleasant musical programme was rendered. Rev. J. Jones, pastor, with superior bility, presided at the organ. The large audience was unusually delighted at this new departure in the missionary meeting. Honesdale was visited by another configgration Tuesday night. The barn of Patrick Weir, fronting on the towpath, just outside of the borough, was completely destroyed. Mr. Weir stables horses for the canal men and has house. The one destroyed was on the lower side and was not in use. A large quantity of hay and other property was destroyed. The adjoining property was saved by forming a bucket brigade and by using a stream of water from the hose of the Florence silk mill. The firemen met with considerable difficulty in stretching their hose and the first length burst at the nozzle. At the same time the fire was burning at the lower end of the town a bright blaze illumined the upper part of Honesdale. A small shanty used as a hanging-out place for some boys furnished the fuel for this conflagration. Another Honesdale barn destroyed with a blaze in the opposite part of the town at the same hour and same minute, and without any new departure in the missionary meet
