THE GOVERNOR'S EXCURSION

Pea Pictures Along the Route of a Delightful Journey. LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN VISIT

Drilliant Receptions Given the Pennsylvania Party--Incidents of a Pleasant Tour, Through the New and Progressive South.

Special Correspondence to The Tribune. Lookout Mountain, Tenn., Nov. 12--Thus far the Governor's excursion has been a supreme success. The entire party seems like one big family.

We passed through Carlisle, received an ovation from the pupils of the Soldiers' Orphan's Industrial School at Scotland and in the night passed Chambersburg, Hagerstown, Md., Antietam, Riverton, Front Royal, Va., Shenandoah, Basic, Buena Vista, Natural Bridge and Roanoke. Here we stopped for a long time.

There seems to be great hope for the South, in that they build perfectly immense structures of solid brick, perhaps they don't have quite so many giddy terra cotta frills, fancy towers, or anacronistic adornments as are seen on Scranton school houses.

At Bristol, Tenn., where we stopped a short time, the municipal conditions are peculiar. The main street is on the opposite side of the street from the residences, consequently many complications arise in judicial matters.

Johnson City, Tenn., Greenville, Morristown, Knoxville, London and Chattanooga are passed and arrived in Chattanooga at 7 p. m., four hours late. We took electric cars for Lookout Mountain, and if some of our party probably have hesitated to attempt it.

At least, Mr. Connell declared this morning as he drew a long breath after landing safely at the foot of the plane, and he hoped that Providence would be trusting life to a suspicious looking cable. However, as it has been in operation for eight years and one of the engineers remarked, "Nebber killed nobody yet," tourists seem to feel reasonably calm in riding down the frightful grade, where almost overhangs the precipice, hundreds of feet below.

Not Particularly Sunny. But talk about the Sunny South! The thermometer registered 36 degrees above zero last night, and the big, huge bedrooms were freezing cold. But few are steam heated, and the device, radiators are in the halls, corridors and reception rooms, the private apartments are furnished with grates where a roaring fire of fat pine and birch, which soon burns to blackness. The management was not prepared for the big influx of visitors as the Manufacturer's club of ninety-eight members arrived too, and many of our party were obliged to go back to our cars for the night.

Our governor is the biggest man we've ever seen. He towers head and shoulders above everybody and his commanding and dignified appearance seem fitting as appertaining to the chief executive of a great party. Mr. Hastings is also stately in appearance and her charming personality, and affable manners always attract those who meet her.

ELWYN'S TERRIBLE CRIME

Under the Influence of Liquor He Kills Three of His Children. MAKES A BLUFF AT SUICIDE

Phenixville, Pa., Nov. 15--A horrible tragedy was enacted here today when Elwyn at this place. Elwyn is a pud-father, aged 50, and worked in the Phoenixville Iron mill. Last Friday Elwyn's wife left to get out of town, but no one knew where she went and her husband and five children were left to take care of themselves. Things went wrong about noon on Saturday when Elwyn became greatly disheartened. When his oldest boy, Robert, came home at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, he was horrified to find in the father's bed the bodies of his father and his young brother and sister, Agnes, aged six years, and Thomas, aged 5, with their throats cut from ear to ear. The other children were away from home at the time. The boiler room was rapidly searched for the murderer, but the rattle in hot pursuit. The judge managed to get outside, and climbed down the fire escape. After an hour of cautious work on the part of the police the rattle was secured without having done any serious damage, and all the parties to the suit were too much shaken to continue, and the case went over until tomorrow.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Questions Considered at the Harrisburg Meeting--Plans to Prevent the Overflow of the Susquehanna.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 15--A special meeting of the state board of health will be called in a few weeks to consider several important matters which were brought up at the meeting held at Harrisburg last night. Secretary Lane's report embodied so many suggestions that the board found it impossible to act upon all at the regular meeting.

The one question which deeply concerns the members is how to secure the co-operation of local authorities in enforcing sanitary regulations. A resolution was adopted to the effect that wherever there are no health authorities infected places shall be placarded under the supervision of the county medical inspector of his deputy, to regulate the sanitary conditions of such places in populous districts to be six feet in depth and in rural communities four feet. Complaints came to the board of the board of health in regard to the graves not being over two feet deep. The responsibility of tanneries for creating nuisances and endangering human life was also discussed. The secretary also reported on the sanitary conditions of health in such counties as Lackawanna are commended.

The plan of John A. Fulton, of Johnstown, for preventing the overflow of the Susquehanna at Williamsport will call the next sanitary convention at Williamsport to arouse interest in the project. The plan proposed is the raising of the banks of the river to the highest water mark--thirty-three feet--by changing the railroad tracks and removing obstructions in the bed of the stream. Bridges would have to be raised and new embankments made. The estimated cost, exclusive of the expense of the railroad changes, is $1,000,000.

New York Bankers Will Probably Be Called Upon for $25,000,000. New York, Nov. 15--It is rumored that the treasury department has communicated with New York bankers with a view to making an arrangement for the restoration of the gold reserve. The proposition is that when the reserve falls to $55,000,000 the banks shall furnish $25,000,000 in gold for which they will receive a 4 per cent. bonds on a 3 per cent. basis.

DISRUPTION IN A COLLEGE.

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 15--The state board of agriculture, the faculty and the students of the state agricultural college seem to be vying with each other to bring disaster to the college. Two weeks ago a number of students left the college because a fellow student was suspended by the faculty for an infraction of the rules of the college. President Gordon has been dismissed by the board upon his refusal to resign.

ADDRESSED THE ASSEMBLY.

CHIEF JOHNSON'S REPORT.

Washington, Nov. 15--Claude M. Johnson, chief of the bureau of engraving and printing, treasury department, states in his report to Secretary Carlisle, of the operation of his bureau, during the year, that the condition of our currency encourages counterfeiting. The counterfeiter always attempts to imitate old notes. We never see a counterfeit that is for new and clean, more frequent renewal of the currency would therefore decrease the possibility of successful counterfeiting to a very great extent.

TURKEY SNUBS THE LION

Discharged Prison Officials at Mash Are Reinstated. SERIOUS OUTBREAK AT SIVAS

Constantinople, Nov. 15--It is announced today that three prison officials of Mash who were dismissed some time ago upon the demand of the British ambassador owing to their mistreatment of prisoners have been reinstated. This action is looked upon as another snub to Great Britain by the Sultan. The British charge-affaires, Michael Herbert, has demanded of the Porte that the three officials be again reinstated. The report that the Sultan intends to recall Shakir Pasha, the Turkish high commissioner for Armenian reforms, from Erzerum, and eventually appoint him grand vizier, is not yet confirmed by his actual recall, but it is persistently stated that he will soon be appointed to that office.

The report of a serious outbreak at Sivas is confirmed by the fact that it was attended by great bloodshed, but order has been partially restored, and the Turkish officials are protecting the foreigners. The British charge-affaires, Michael Herbert, has demanded of the Sultan that the three officials be again reinstated.

What do you think the Government ought to do? The report of a conflict between the Albanian regiment and the Tripoli regiment at Yildiz Kiosk, the Sultan's palace, have not been confirmed, although it is well known that there has been a conflict between the guards since the Tripoli regiment furnished the sentries instead of the Albanians, following the leaving of notes with differentials to the guards. There was a plot to assassinate the Sultan.

The curiosity of spectators in Judge Woodward's court to-day was much piqued during the trial. The plaintiff, a lady, was so heavily veiled that her features could not be seen. She did not even raise her veil while making her statement to the court, but sitting close to his honor, spoke in a low voice.

The name in the papers, it was developed later, is Annie Elliott, nee Jones. She alleged that she married Jacob Elliott April 3, 1883, in New York, and lived with him until June last. She got her divorce and maiden name, Mrs. Elliott told the court that her husband is also a professional freak, but did not say what kind.

Her identity leaked out by Deputy Clerk Gus Euthe, whose duties brought him very close to her chair, observing her beard through her veil. He asked her attorney, John Braden, about her, and Braden admitted that she has a beard and traveled with Barnum.

WEATHER REPORT. For Eastern Pennsylvania, generally fair Saturday, with slightly cooler, westerly winds.

ADMITTED TO HIS ABUSED THE PRIVILEGE--GIVES INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING THE PRINTING BUSINESS.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 15--When asked about the Washington dispatch to the New York Sun about his consent to see Secretary Olney regarding the protection of the missionaries of the board in Turkey, is not to make any comment. He said that he had not been consulted by the board, and that he had not been consulted by the board, and that he had not been consulted by the board.

As to the agricultural department books, Mr. Johnson said that there were no farmers among his constituents, and he had no use for those agricultural reports. A Missouri congressman, Williams, he thought, asked him for his quota of agricultural documents, which would interest his (Johnson's) Cleveland constituents, their clerks made a trade, which is a common practice. He did not know what became of his agricultural reports thereafter. The agricultural department books, which he traded to the Missouri congressman, have the right to be frank and say it did not matter whether he wrote his name on the envelopes, used a stamp, or let his clerks or some one else use a stamp. It was all the same.

Mr. Johnson said there was an abuse of the public document system, more than fifty per cent. of the books sent from the government printing office being such as to have no value to the men to sell their documents rather than trade them off to other congressmen for literature that can be distributed to good advantage. This he considered dishonorable, but thought the system of trading all right. Another abuse with the government documents is the tons and tons of old books at the capitol which were never taken by the senators and representatives to whom they belonged. Many of the owners have been dead. Among them are some really valuable publications and he presumed that the most valuable are quietly shipped out from time to time.

Mr. Johnson said that he had done his share of franking. He said that he had protection and free travel printed in speeches in the congressional record and sent out 1,700,000 copies in book form under his frank. He worked it knowing the system to be wrong, but he had taken advantage of the wrong to do what he thought would be good.

Every speech he made in congress was as much of a single tax essay as he could make. He had sent out more than 3,000,000 of those speeches through the mails under his frank.

JURYMAN BECOMES INSANE.

Trial of an Alleged Train Wrecker Continued in Consequence. Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 15--The trial of George Davis, charged with wrecking a Rock Island train a year ago last August, causing the death of eleven persons, came to a sudden halt to-day when it was made known that C. B. Yates, one of the jury-men, was insane. Yates has been nervous ever since the trial began. Early this morning he escaped from his room at the Capitol Hotel, scaled the roof and descended by a telephone pole.

Then he ran to the county jail, where he appealed to Sheriff Miller to protect him from men who he said wanted to kill him. Judge Holmes, when court convened, ordered him sent to the hospital and discharged the other jury-men. The trial was then continued until Nov. 25.

PETER PLAYED POKER.

And Won $6,000 in Counterfeit Money. White Loring, $2000 Gaming. Wilmington, Del., Nov. 15--Peter O'Neil, a farmer living near Clayton, was visited by two bunco men today who invited him into a game of poker. The farmer drew $200 from a bank in Smyrna and went into the game. He won $6,000 in a short time, but in the course of the playing his $200 passed to the other man.

O'Neil went back to Smyrna to bank his earnings and there learned that the money was counterfeit and that he had been swindled.
