Lectures on Geological Subjects.

Rev. D. J. MacGoldrick, president of St. Thomas' college, delivered the third of his series of lectures under the au-spices of Branch 35, Catholic Mutual Benefit association, at college hall last evening. A cultured and discriminat-ing audience was accorded an intel-lectual treat on the subject, "The An-tiquity of Man."

tiquity of Man."
This question, the speaker said, it is impossible to fathom with any degree of conclusion from the indefiniteness of the data. Some have gone into it from the standpoint of spirituality, but Father MacGoldrick would take it up to prove the materiality of the humar so far as investigation and science will enable, with the complete satisfaction animating the student that the matter shall be understood as far as one delves into it.

Man was endowed with reason by God that he might reach Him, and the highest prerogative is the exercise of this faculty; the lowest degradation is were at the same time discovered around lakes in Ireland, bupt many of the fossil remains found in Ireland went to prove that the inhabitants were not lawe dwellers, but took to the mountains. Another discovery along the same line was found in Denmark, but a much more auspicious discovery was found in Italy in subterranean caves where savage men lived who had no time to build houses.

The bones of the elephant, the mammoth, the hyena, and rhinoceros were found, but there is a good deal of doubt cast upon the contemporaneity of these men and animals. That the bones of the animals were found proves they were once in those caves. That the men lived at the same time as the animals is not so positive, but that a troglodytic race existed is certain from the evidence of fires found in the caves. The embers had long been covered over with tempest dust wafted into the innermost recesses of the labyrinthine passages.

The stratus of the earth were represented in the Palesoic, Silurian, Devonian, Carboniferous, Reptian, Mammalian periods, and lastly the human period. The question is how far back in that period did man go? Was he extant in the Palezoic age?

He must delve for the truth and find the fountain. As God made all things man being one of His creatures, can discover the source and truth cannot clash with truth.

the Supreme Court. Il doubt as to whether or not it is late to take the turnpike awrd to the Supreme court was set at rest yes-terday by a statement made by City Solicitor Torrey to the effect that inas-much as the warrant has not yet been given over to the company the case can be absorbed.

Blood Flowed from the Mastodon.

A mastodon was found not long ago in a solid body of ice in Siberia on the mountain slope; blood flowed from the animal's flesh, and was relished by the dogs of the hunters, as soon as the gigantic remains were freed from imprisonment. How long ago since the creature had died, was it centuries, or was it sycles? the speaker would not presume to say.

Two artistic profiles, one of the stratas of the earth, and the other givinfi three views of river beds, were employed to lead the minds of the audience to a clearer grasp of the formation of the earth's crust. They were the firtistic handiwork of Architect Percival J. Morris, of the firm of Brown & Morris. The law is very generous to cities in this respect. With an individual appeal would not be possible after twenty days had elapsed, but with a municipality seven years is allowed.

The turnpike company has never made an effort to collect the award, although by merely asking for it they could have gotten it, as City Clerk Lavelle has had the warrant lying in his office for several months. Now, he says, he will not turn it over, at least not until compelled by a mandamus execution from, court and it is not likely that such an order will be issued while the appeal is under consideration in council.

Fleur de Lis Received an Enthusiastic Reception List Night.

Della Fox as "Fleur-de-Lis" last night made her first appearance in this city as a comic opera star and scored a hit, a decided hit, in which her company contributed to a large degree, the leading comedian, Jefferson De Angelis, dividing the honors with Miss Fox. As much cannot be said for the music—it was not bad, nor was it good; it was indifferent.

Whatever may have been the opinion of the opera in other cities, it was certainly received with great favor here, a favor which indicates that "Fleur-de-Lis" and Della will be well welcomed wherever they go. As an opera "Fleur-de-Lis" is not conducive to such admiration as will keep it going as long as did "Wang," for instance; but with the present splendid company, especially including De Angelis, and with its complete and appropriate scenery and settings it seems destined to run with the public until the time when the public until such a comedian as De Angelis; the whole combination was made to cause laughter and to please and it will succeed as long as Miss Fox's support is as good as now.

"Fleur-de-Lis," in story, is a narrative of two French noblemen of centuries ago who, while being firm friends, resolved to war with each other. The Marquis de Rosoli finds himself besieged and Fleur-de-Lis comes to him as his daughter, an unknown possession of the Marquis, and she succeeds in uniting again his friendship with Count this faculty: the lowest degradation is when one is conscious of unreasonable-ness. Time cannot be comprehended from the standpoint of years when the antiquity of man is the problem. The geological measurement of the age of matter is more accurate. By studying the degree of cooling that has gone on in order to bring the earth, crusted as it now is, from the molten condition of it when first precipitated into space, it is estimated that the time required was One Way of an Estimate. Melville Stewart as Frederick, in love with "Fleur-de-Lis," was superb in voice and acted well, and Alf Wheelan as the marquis, interpreted well a difficult character. Christopher, an inspector, as portrayed by Charles J. Campbell, deserves special tribute. The Charlotte of Kate Uart deserved the applause and favor it received. Without exception the other members of the company were good.

When this first flowed from its vol-canic bed and rolled own the sides of the mountain its temperature was in-tense, and as time passed the process of cooling went on by degrees until eventually the lava crusted and solid-fied. By computing the gradation of cooling and then considering the crust of the earth it is capable of being com-mensurately determined how long it has taken the earth to cool as it now ex-ists from its primeyal molten condition. company were good.

A great deal of excitement was created around the "corners." in Dunmore, yesterday afternoon about 2.30, by a shooting affair, which, fortunately, did not end seriously. Patrick Horan and Timothy Parfrey had engaged in a drunken altercation in front of the Forest House, when Horan pulled a revolver and shot at Parfrey three times, one shot taking effect in his leg.

has taken the earth to cool as it now exists from its primeval molten condition. The coral reefs of the torrid oceans are constructed at the rate of one-sixteenth of an inch in a year. If the reef is 2,000 feet deep it would take 38,000 years to build it. This is geological measurement. The great Falls of Ningara were at one time six miles farther down the Niagara river; the constant wearing away of the earth and rocks in the precipice are infailible arguments. There is no evidence of its rate of secession. The early Jesuit explorers located the falls below where they now are but how far is not correctly known. Found Prehistoric Villages.

It would take the Mississippi 4,000 years flowing into the Gulf to fill it up, and if all the sediment carried in the river's waters were deposited without disturbance it would require eleven billion years to fill it up. In 1854 Europe had a dry season and the lakes were constantly at a low ebb. In Switzerland the people, like the Belgians, took advantages of the low water and encroached upon the land from which the water had receded. They build sea walls and in so doing came upon the ruins of prehistoric villages, finding articles of bronze and iron and the conclusion took hold that a very ancient race had inhabited the place. Evidences of a race of ancient people were at the same time discovered around lakes in Ireland, bupt many of the fossil remains found in Ireland 14k. solid gold Ladies' watches, only $16.75, at Turnquest's, 205 Wash. ave. Reasons That Are Advanced Why the Browning Cup Should Go to the Society of the Pena Avenue Church.

The Young People's society of the First Welsh Baptist church, with which the Hyde Park Literary and Debating society has had so much controversy over the Browning cup, has decided to give the trophy to the Vesper /Literary society of the central city, thus ignoring the claim of the Hyde Park society.

This action will cause general surprise to every one interested in the affair. So confident was the Literary society of receiving the cup by forfeiture that an open statement to that effect was made in the daily papers of recent date.

Last evening Prof. George Howell, Superintendent of the Public Schools, delivered his popular lecture on "Books" before a large audience of students and patrons of "Wood's College." His remark that, "The College has long been a leader of Pennsylvania and as well in the nation as an exponent of thorough progressive business education," was fully appreciated by students and faculty. The close attention throughout the hour gave evidence of the unusual merit of the lecture, and its earnest and attractive presentation. When, at the close, President Williams announced that a series of such lectures was to follow, the ring of appliaus proved the pleasure of all, and attested Supt, Howell's great popularity.

Its central location and the fact that it is on a street not occupied by street cars also adds to its attractiveness as a shopping point. It will hereafter the Scranton Cash Store, will hereafter the Scranton Cash Store, tion with the Scranton Cash Store, which togother, will make the most convenient shopping place in Scranton. The consolidation of these two branches will materially lessen the expense of each, and while the prices in the grocery department have always been very low, those of vegetables and fish can be considerably lowered under the new arrangement. Mr. Lindley will have charge of the market. Mr. Spencer, the grocery; Mr. Jifkins, the fresh meat, and Miss Mary Haggerty, the confectionery. All of the delivery wagons of both concerns will be kept in service, making seven constantly on the road, which will insure a strictly firstelass delivery service.

No salesmen will be sent out for orders, as so many families consider it s nuisance being annoyed by them. But the quality of the goods, the neatness of the stores, the reasonable prices and the No. 1 service in every respect, will be depended upon to bring buyers to the store, giving them also an opportunity to select what goods they want.
We are now in shape under new arrangement, and respectfully invite a visit to see our facilities for doing busi-
