There was a hearing last night before Alderman Donovan in the larceny by bailee case of Margaret Brennan against Richard Flynn, both of the Twelfth ward; the trouble was amicably settled. The fair prosecutrix hired Richard to sell dress goods on 40 per cent. commission; he disposed of several yards of the fabric to a woman in Dunmore, who packed her satchel one evening and went away, leaving behind only the memory of many bad debts. The price of the dress goods she purchased from Flynn were among her liabilities.

Miss Brennan swore out a warrant for her agent on the charge of lafcany by bailee. At the hearing the defendant promised to pay 50 per cent. of the value of the goods, deducting from the cost price his own commission, and on that basis a settlement was made.
