----THE METZGAR TRIAL. letzgar and Bowman Meet for the First Time in a Year.

The Metsgar case dragged slowly along all day Saturday, and there was only one sensational incident, the appearance in the court of William Penn Bowman, who is now under sentence of death for his participation in this case.

Louis Diston was the first witness.

He saw the shooting, it was then near 5 o'clock. Will Turner and witness were working in the field and they heard two shots fired and saw two men were working in the field and they heard two shots fired and saw two men run behind the cars. "I saw one man dragging another man up the pile of ties after the shots were fired," said the witness. "This was after the men ran behind the cars. As far as we saw the behind the cars. As far as we saw the running men they proceeded along the railroad. We went over to the ties and found one Arabian nealry dead and the other crying. Engine No. 4 came along and we got water, but he could not drink. There were only two men present at the time of the shooting besides the Arabians, but I din't know who they were. We opened the shirt of the dying man and saw a bullet hole in his breast. The living Arabian said two reast. The living Arabian said two see had shot him. Next morning I saw lood on the ties. Sergeant Hall and Joseph Seltzinger vere then called, and Metzgar's father. but nothing of any importance was elic-

After dinner, Mrs. Bowman was then called. Prosecution offered to show that Mrs. Bowman was shown a revolver by Metzgar on the morning of the day of the murder and that three or four days previous he also showed her it and declared that "he would not have to work while he possessed the weapon." Objected to by defense as immaterial. The objection was sustained so far as the conversation was concerned, but the conversation was concerned, but was overruled so far as the showing of the revolver was concerned. Witness said she saw Metrgar on the morning of September 20, 1894, with a revolver. Also that she saw him fixing the chamers of the pistol three days previous.

The Arabian was recalled to tell of the shooting, but nothing that was not brought out at the Bowman trial was not brought out at the Bowman trial was elicited except that the Arabian swore positively that Bowman and not Metzgar did the shooting.

At this time Bowman made his ap-

At this time Bowman made his appearance. His face was pale and he looked sad and weak, sitting with head leaned down as if much affected. Right opposite sat Metzgar and for the first time in over a year the two accused murderers confronted each other.

While the attorneys were discussing a point of law, Bowman gradually raised als head and beheld Metzgar in front of him. Both boys caught a glimpse of each other's eyes and for some moments stared each other directly in the face. Not a muscle moved in either until their attention was drawn away by their attorneys.

Not a muscle moved is either until their attention was drawn away by their attention was drawn away by their attention.

Attorneys Ward and Thornton offered objections to placing Bowman on the stand on the ground that a man's evidence can not be taken while he is under sentence of death.

Judge Bennett said, calling Bowman to his feet, that he could tell what happened that day, but that he did not have to make any statement that would in any way implicate himself.

District Attorney Fell was about to question Bowman, when Attorney Martin arose to his feet and asked permission to speak a few words to the court. Judge Bennett granted Mr. Martin the permission. Mr. Martin said that he was the attorney for Bowman and would like to talk to him before he gave any evidence. Judge Bennett allowed Mr. Martin to consult with his client for some few minutes. At the conclusion of their private conversation Mr. Martin said that Bowman was willing to abide by the decision of the court, but would much rather not testify at all.

Judge Bennett cailed Mr. Bowman to his feeet and asked if he desired to give any testimony in the case. Bowman in a low and weak, boyish voice said no and asked to be, excused, which was granted by the judge.

The court then adjourned until this morning.

Continued Two Days.

Owing to the large number of patrons that attended the sale, and the limited amount of room, hundreds were unable to make desired purchases. For the accommodation of these the sale Thomas C. WINDISH GUILTY.

Murder in the First Degree the Verdic

Rendered. Ladies' Fine Plush Capes, lined all the way through with silk and trimagain by the defence and told that med with Thibet around the collar and when he was assaulted by his wife, his when he was assaulted by his wife, his When court met on Saturday morn when he was assaulted by his wife, his sons were both in the house. This piece of testimony closed the case, but before counsel began their arguments, John T. Lenahan, who represented the prisoner, rose and submitted the following points for the defense:

First—In order to justify a verdict of murder in the first degree the jury must be satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the killing was willful, deliberate and premeditated.

that the killing was wilful, deliberate and premeditated.

Second — The commonwealth having shown unlawful killing, the presumption is that the grade of homleide is no higher than murder in the second degree, and that the burden rests on the commonwealth to show beyond a reasonable doubt that it is murder of the first degree, that is, the commonwealth must satisfy the jury of these facts and circumstances which indicates a deliberate intention to kill, cool deprayity of heart and a conscious purpose.

kill, cool depravity of heart and a conscious purpose.
Third—in order to warrant the inference of legal guilt, from circumstantial evidence, the existence of the inculpatory facts must be absolutely inconsistent with the defendant's innocence, and, incapable of explanation upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt. Respectfully submitted, John T. and James L. Lenahan, attorneys for defendant.
Mr. Lenahan then closed for the defense. He cited the great importance of the case, and asked the jury to decide it perfectly free from any prejudice or the defeadant's innocence, and, incapable of explanation upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt. Respectfully submitted, John T. and James L. Lenahan, attorneys for defendant.

Mr. Lenahan then closed for the defense. He cited the great importance of the case, and asked the jury to decide it perfectly free from any prejudice or feeling in the matter. He then went on to define the various degrees of murder as laid down by the law. Poison, llying, in wait, robbery, arson, rape, burglary, which results in loss of life is murder of the first degree. But in the absence of a specific intent to take life in all other cases of loss of life, it is not murder in the first degree.

"The man is charged with murder in two counts, first degree and second degree. The commonwealth will ask you to convict him on circumstantial evidence which is the easiest evidence in the world to convict an innocent man. In this case there are lacking many important links in this chain which is to lead to the gallows. Every citizen is adjudged innocent until he be proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt."

Then the learn and they didn't know that their names were megotiable. They hadn't any idea, either, that their commonpiace names were worth so much. They doubt it still, but the most of them have paid.

The Bethel Baptist choir, of Pittston, will give a concert at the Tunkhan-nock Baptist church the first week in December. The date is not definitely fixed as yet.

Mrs. A. D. Stebbins returned to her word to convict him on circumstantial evidence which is the easiest evidence in the world to convict an innocent until he is presumed to be innocent until he is presumed to be innocent until he is proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt."

proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt."

Then Mr. Lenahan went over the history of the case detailing the unhappy married life of Windisch and ridiculed the idea of Windisch carrying out his public threats to kill his wife. When a man does anything of that sort he does not tell his neighbors about it. The attorney spoke at length of the man's walking in public and taking a car to Pittston without any effort to hide his identity and gave as a reason for assuming the name of Smith, that he did not want his wife to find him. He gave the detectives some sharp criticism and said that they had influenced the boys to try and hang their father.

"Some other man committed this crime and hid the clothes and made it appear that the prisoner did it. They knew Windisch was going away. This man Heitzelman seems to know more about this case than is seen on the surface. Will you strike this man down in his declining years on such evidence as this? The undisputed evidence in the case is inconsistent with the allegations that he did it. The man who put those clothes under the bed did it after the blood had dried. Then how could he prisoner have done it?"

Mr. Lenahan spoke for an hour and forty minutes and then gave way to Mr. Fuuler, who made an able argument against the prisoner. He made two strong points as follows:

First—He hated that woman. Frank said: "Had her by the neck; said he would kill her; struck her with a mallet." George said: "Hundreds of times they fought and quarreled. Fifty times he struck her." Kerschner: "She came to his home, her head bleeding, stayed all night." Daniel Davis said: "He would murder her." Sold out his tools and charged his son with a helnous crime. Do you think that crime the worst he has ever committed. He said he loved his wife and then struck her on the head with a mallet. Is there any man with the mind, the heart, the motive to do this thing except Windisch; this man who was insanely jealous?"

Second-Now, mark this, because it is the fact which seals this man's doom. Mrs. Windisch was killed on April 4. The children tell you about their going to work and to school and returning about 4 o'clock. Their mother was there when they left the house. When they came home where was the mother? They find Frank's shirt on the lounge, which the mother was mending. Next day they find bread in the stove, burned."

mending. Next day they had been in the stove, burned."

Judge Woodward, in his brief, but able charge, affirmed the three points made by the counsel for the defense, and explained the law carefully and ably.

The jury then retired, and after being out an hour, returned with a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. The jury was then polled and affirmed individually their collective verdict.

It is thought that Mr. Lenahan will apply at once for a new trial. This is the first time in Mr. Lenahan's experience that a verdict of murder in the ence that a verdict of murder in the first degree has ever been rendered against one of his clients.
