The Sunday News appeared yesterday with a column added to each of its eight pages, making the pages seven columns in size. In addition to this evidence of increasing growth and prosperity the News recently equipped its press room with a double cylinder press, which the expansion of its circulation makes it necessary to acquire.

SHOT BY A BURGLAR.

John Smith, of Hoboken, Killed by an Unknown Thug.

Hoboken, N. J., Nov. 17.—John Smith, of West Hoboken, was shot by a burglar who attempted to rob his house early this morning. A bullet is lodged in his right lung, and he lies in Christ hospital, Jersey City, in a precarious condition. At about midnight last night Mr. Smith suggested to his father that he go to a nearby restaurant and have some oysters. On their return to the house the younger man noticed that the rear door of the basement was open.

When the light from the kitchen flashed into the hallway Mr. Smith noticed what seemed to be a bundle of clothes or an overcoat behind an open door. It proved, however, to be a man, who arose and shot him in the chest. The burglar made his escape, leaving behind him a parcel of jewelry which he had arranged ready for removal.

VERY OLD CHURCH.

Philadelphia Edifice in Which George Washington Worshipped.

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—When the chimneys in the vicinity of old Christ church pealed forth the hour of morning service to-day that venerable parish recorded the entrance into the third century of its honored and historic existence. The church where George and Martha Washington worshipped, and where the family of William Penn attended divine service, was fittingly decorated for the celebration of its two hundredth anniversary.

The interior of the building had recently been restored and renovated, and the quaint colonial pulpit, towering above the high backed pews in the body of the church was draped with the stars and stripes. Behind the pulpit hung on one side a colonial flag, on the other side the American emblem of to-day.

Do not forget the concert of the New York Philharmonic Club at the Y. M. C. A. Hall tonight.

Some say it is better now than ever before: "The Popular Punch."

ROASTED TO DEATH.

Fire of Unknown Cause Ends the Life of Mrs. Isaac Green.

A distressing accident occurred Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Isaac Green, of 1429 Monsey avenue. Pedestrians saw smoke issuing from the house and went in an alarm. The fire was extinguished by the firemen, but Mrs. Green was not taken from the house until the firemen arrived, when it was found that she had been literally roasted. How she remained alive at all was incredible. She was taken to the Lackawanna hospital at 2 o'clock, and did not regain consciousness but died at 6:30. The body was taken to the house yesterday.

Mrs. Green was alone when the fire started. Its origin is unknown. She had been ill and confined to her room for several weeks, and it is supposed her clothing caught fire from the stove or a match. Evidently she had tried to escape through the front door, which the firemen found locked, but she was overcome in the parlor. Her husband is a collecting agent for the Prudential Life insurance company.

The house was only slightly damaged by the flames. It is one of a row owned by the Finn brothers.

JOINT AND SEVERAL BOND

That Given by Cashier Jessup Makes His Sureties Liable.

A verdict of $12,674.41 in favor of the plaintiff was what the jury found in the suit of Joseph H. Gunster, assignee of the Scranton City bank, against George A. Jessup and his sureties, on the joint and several bond which the latter gave for the payment of the tax on foreign insurance companies. The amount of the plaintiff's claim, representing the alleged indebtedness of Mr. Jessup to the bank.

The question was submitted to the jury: "Was the cashier's bond now in suit a joint bond, or a joint and several bond?" The answer was, "a joint and several bond." This makes the sureties jointly and collectively responsible for the payment of the judgment. The case attracted widespread attention and was very ably tried. Judge McPherson, of Harrisburg, presided, and the plaintiff's counsel, Major Everett Warren, ex-Justice Alfred Hand, and the defense, Harry Conto, Esq., were assisted by Attorney S. B. Price, C. H. Welles and Edward Merrifield, Jr., plaintiffs.

Other Verdicts Taken.

In the case of J. W. Slaco, of Elmhurst, against Joshua S. Miller, for damages done to the plaintiff's property by a reckless bull owned by the defendant, a verdict of $100 was rendered. The amount sued for was $150. The case of D. W. Vaughan against L. P. Williams will be argued to show cause why judgment shall not be stricken from the record and restitution of the land made to the defendant. The case of J. P. J. McDonnell against the protective tariff bill, which was argued for the first time, but before he had read many pages of a book about it, he was dismissed. He thought about it for a week, with thoughts that weighed on his mind, and then he brought the case on, and the court, when he went to the bench, gave him the choice to be either a Democrat or a Republican. He chose to be a Democrat, and the court, when he was asked to sign the roll, said: "You are a Democrat, and you are a Republican." He was then dismissed.

And now the country has had an excellent opportunity to study the problem of the tariff. The protective tariff policy which has prevailed for generations, but before he had read many pages of a book about it, he was dismissed. He thought about it for a week, with thoughts that weighed on his mind, and then he brought the case on, and the court, when he went to the bench, gave him the choice to be either a Democrat or a Republican. He chose to be a Democrat, and the court, when he was asked to sign the roll, said: "You are a Democrat, and you are a Republican." He was then dismissed.

INADEQUACY OF THE LAW.

Woman's Forgiving Nature Will Again Defeat the Ends of Justice.

Another brutal wife-beater will probably escape his just deserts through the victim's tender-heartedness and the law's failure to prescribe some fitting punishment for this crime.

On Saturday Patrolman Peters arrested James Cannon, of Ninth street, for drunkenness and wife-beating. At the hearing yesterday morning, James Cannon failed to appear, as she promised to do, so the husband was remanded until Monday morning at 9 o'clock, and word sent to Mrs. Cannon to put in an appearance at that time if she wanted to prosecute her husband. Yesterday afternoon she sent a note to Captain Edwards stating that she could not appear, as she was in bed with a broken jaw and sprained ankle, and begging the police to release her husband, as she did not want to see him go to jail.

In this case the woman will escape with a slight fine for drunkenness, as it will avail little to hold him for court when no one can be secured to testify against him.

FIRE IN THE STOVE.

Occasioned Some Alarm to Mr. Connolly of the Firm of Connolly & Wallace.

A little before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Barney Connolly, of the firm of Connolly & Wallace, discovered a fire in the stove in the kitchen of the store, on Washington avenue, and he fled with a bucket of water. He notified Patrolman Farley, who was nearby, and the fire was extinguished. The cause of the fire was a systematic search, which resulted in the discovery that the only fire about the building was in a stove in Young Women's Christian association apartments upstairs and that the smoke came from an opening in the chimney in the cellar by reason of the plug in the stove pipe having fallen. The fire was extinguished by the firemen, and the store cleared of smoke and the firemen withdrew without having an opportunity of turning on a stream.

LIZZIE DUGAN'S DEATH.

It Is Believed That She Was the Victim of a Poisoner.

Johnston, Pa., Nov. 17.—Lizzie Dugan, who died Sunday, November 10, at Wilmore, this county, under very suspicious circumstances, is believed to have been poisoned by a young man who has disappeared. He was on intimate terms with her and the fact that her death occurred in the Crystal Springs sanitarium, where she was being treated, is believed to have led him to put her out of the way. A coroner's jury which examined a number of witnesses at Wilmore Saturday evening adduced much sensational testimony implicating the young man in the girl's death. The jury will examine more witnesses Monday evening, when it is expected that the most incriminating evidence against the girl's boyfriend will be forthcoming. Officers are looking for the young man.

Miss Dugan, who was an orphan, was 25 years old and was an inveterate gambler. Her mysterious death has aroused intense excitement in Wilmore.

MR. ROCHE'S FIGURES.

Show What It Would Cost to Live Up to the Turpin's Contract.

When Councilman Roche and Chittenden submitted their report of their investigation of West Market street, there were some who doubted the statement that the cost of putting that thoroughfare in proper shape would amount to over $100,000.

To show that this statement was neither exaggerated nor made for effect, Mr. Roche has given for publication his figures which he considers very conservative: The street is one mile and a quarter in length. Curbing at $75 per cent a foot would cost $7,785; paving 26,532 square yards at $2.50, $66,330; estimated damages, $1 per foot, $12,200; culverts, $2,000; grading, constructing sewers and retaining walls, etc., $40,000; total, $104,454.

PAVEMENT WENT DOWN.

Earth Settling Under the Asphalt on Wyoming Avenue.

Between Pine and Olive streets on Wyoming avenue a large cave-in was reported yesterday morning by the cynourer of passers-by Saturday morning. The street is asphalted in that block and it cannot be concluded to what extent the dimensions of the "settled" portion are until after the pavement is removed.

Two curbstones have been taken from their settings and through the aperture it can be seen that a strip ten feet wide by 100 feet long appears to have sunk slightly. It will be necessary to tear up the asphalt to repair the street. There are no buildings close to the sunken territory. Travel is suspended on that part of the avenue until things are set straight.

LABORERS ARE SCARCE.

Traction Company Finds It Difficult to Secure a Sufficient Number.

"Laborers Wanted" is a sign that decorates one of the windows of the Traction company's main office, on Lackawanna avenue. It was placed there in the hope that it might attract a sufficient number of men to enable the company to complete the repairs and extension that are now in progress before severe winter weather sets in.

At present there are very few unemployed laborers in the city. The mines and mills are working quite steadily and men cannot be drafted from these places to do ordinary laboring work.

ITS INTENT IS DESTROYED.

Firemen's Pension Bill Needs Some More Legislating.

The following communication has been sent to Fred Durr, chairman of the fire department committee, by a select council and a member of the special committee of the Volunteer Firemen's association, which has in hand matters of the subject of the communication:

Dear Sir: As requested by you I have examined the act of 23rd June, providing for payment of proceeds of tax on foreign insurance companies for the purpose of ascertaining whether the amount derived from this source can be appropriated for the establishment of pensions of firemen.

Under the provisions of the act mentioned, the money would simply be paid to the treasurer to be by the city treasurer, and would become part of the general funds of the city, which might be appropriated by the council for any purpose for which they are permitted to appropriate money. There is no specific act, so far as the firemen are concerned, which would give them the right to appropriate money for the payment of pensions to disabled firemen, or to the families of those who die. I am of opinion that such an appropriation would be illegal.

Section 1833 (Tovey's Digest, page 8) providing for a pension fund for injured and disabled policemen. A similar act should be passed for the firemen, and containing a section in the next legislature providing for such a fund for firemen, and containing a section providing for the establishment of a pension fund of the proceeds of the tax on foreign insurance companies. Until such an appropriation is made, there would be no authority in the council to make such an appropriation.

Very respectfully yours,
James H. Torrey,
City Solicitor.

MODERN EXPERIMENTS.

Ever since the delay in hearing from La Gascoigne at her recent breakdown naval men have been anxious to get news of the future of ships disabled at sea. An experiment has just been made in France by the department committee, which is claimed to have been entirely successful. The birds in no way suffering from seasickness or fright at the vast, unbroken expanse of water.

Medical research has settled the question of the relation of intemperance to moral degradation so decidedly that there is little cause to be aroused by the fact that in its annual report the state board of pardons of Ohio announces that in most cases it has been deemed prudent to include in the recommendation for pardon a condition requiring abstinence from the use of intoxicating liquors.

It has been proved that that queen of waterfalls, the Victoria regia, will bloom very well in open-air basins of still water warmed only by the summer sun; the lotus, brought originally from Calcutta, will flourish at least as far north as Massachusetts, living under the ice through our hardest winters, and ready to bloom if it is not kept in check it will readily take entire possession of any pond in which it is introduced.

It is said that H. L. Garner is going to make his next effort at catching flies to talk in America, where the climate is better suited for young flies than in England. The English flies are claimed to be rather laugh at his theories and Garner is especially sensitive to ridicule.

The young of a big red kangaroo of five or six feet in height will be only about three inches long, and very motley of development of form, as well as of size and intelligence, after birth.

A London bacteriologist announces that the ordinary dweller of a city breathes about 1,000 microbes an hour. Many of these are harmless, many never reach the lungs, and many others are dangerous only when the person is so finds a weak spot in which to make its attack.

Camele have been found to be especially useful in carrying across the arid plains of the interior of Australia and large numbers of the ungaily beasts are being brought over from India. One shipment being swung on pulleys by the animals' ropes, to which operation they objected as being impossible. The new climate is said to agree with them perfectly and the salt bush affords them an abundance of food.

BAUBLES FOR MEN.

The Order of the Garter in England was founded in 1348, when Edward III, immortalized by Chaucer, knighted a group of his faithful men. The Golden Fleece was established in 1376.

The Legion of Honor, begun by the consular government, became a mighty power in the hands of Napoleon, who, it has been said, had the order made of the finest gold and diamonds. The general form of the decoration remains the same as it was in the time of the emperor. It is a cross with a ribbon, except that the ribbon is replaced by the sash of the emperor.

In Russia orders play a great role and a substantial one, for each order brings privileges and pensions with it. For example, the children of the Knights of St. George are educated at the expense of the state. Moreover, the order confers military and civil services and hereditary rank, but France far excels her in homage to literary and artistic merit by bestowal of these coveted little medals.

The constitution of the United States expressly forbids the grant of titles of nobility by the United States and does not even permit its officers to receive decorations. Switzerland has no orders. France has only the Legion of Honor but little Belgium has the Order of Leopold, the most decorated country in existence, since it has one decoree to every sixty adult males.

Pittsburg Times: It seems to be thought by Grover Cleveland, after a dazzling rush from the sheriff's office to the White House, that the presidency of the United States, took his pen in hand to show the country where it stood. The Title Hunt in Vanity.

A fellow in society will wear a satiate the envious property of wedding money if he can;

But the London town or Paris is the home of all the heiresses and prettymen; Honorees to catch a nobleman, doled who's inherited, however little merited, is the prize of the first captured in his lair.

Yes, this title-hunting vanity is a species of insanity; and he who worships manly—makes the chaffle tear his hair.
