THIS WAS A COSTLY JOKE

Ex-Councilman Golden Refused to Pay For Bartl Brand Cigars. MRS. PULASKI IS THE PLAINTIFF

The Defendant Said That He Was Only Jesting When Mrs. Pulaski Thought He Meant Business—Another Horse Case Non-Suited.

Ex-Councilman Patrick Golden, of the Sixth ward, was defendant yesterday in a suit against him by Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder Pulaski for $100, the value of 5,000 cigars furnished by her to him and for which she refused to pay. Judge Archbold was on the bench. The attorney for Mr. Golden was Colonel F. J. Fitzsimmons and John F. Scragg. Walter Zimmerman represented the plaintiff.

One June day in 1893 Mrs. Pulaski, who was then Mrs. Snyder, a widow, called at Mr. Golden's hotel, corner of Railroad avenue and Lusorne street. She was in the habit of calling there regularly to sell cigars, and on this occasion she had a brand of cigars that she recommended very highly. She alleged that Mr. Golden said they were of very fine quality and that he would take 5,000 of them if she named them "the Edmund Bartl brand."

This she agreed to do and accordingly, she sent forthwith and had a cut made of County Surveyor-elect Bartl after first receiving his permission. A week or so afterward she got 500 of the cigars ready and brought them to the defendant's hotel. He was highly tickled, she said, when he saw the picture on the box and he paid spot cash for the goods.

Said He Did Not Order Them.

Later, when she appeared with the rest of the 5,000 cigars he was not in so cheerful a frame of mind and told her that he did not order them. Mrs. Golden, according to the plaintiff, was present when the 5,000 cigars were delivered and she said to her husband that he had ordered the cigars and by right ought to pay for them. Mrs. Pulaski said she did not leave a bill for them that day nor did she ask pay for them.

Thirty-five days afterward Drayman Larry Sime drove up to her factory, on the West Side, and had the cigars on the wagon. He carried them in and told her they were returned from Golden's hotel. She kept them on hand for a long time and disposed of them at a sacrifice to other customers. Alderman Wright gave judgment for the amount of her claim. An appeal was taken and arbitrators were appointed in court to hear the case. There was an appeal from their award and the case went to a jury. The jury disagreed and now the case is on again. The court costs and attorney fees long ago exceeded the original bill.

Mr. Golden's Version of the Case.

Mr. Golden went on the stand to tell his side of the story. He said Mrs. Pulaski came to his place one day with 500 cigars, the boxes labeled with Edmund Bartl's picture. He paid $10 for these, but had not ordered them, taking them because he thought it was a good joke. He refused to pay for the 5,000 for the reason that he never ordered them. If he passed any jests with Mrs. Pulaski in reference to supplying him with brand cigars labeled with Bartl's picture, he did not think that she took it seriously. He said he never gave her any room for placing such a construction on his meaning. In this case went to the jury at adjournment.

Judge Edwards granted a compulsory non-suit in the case of T. M. McGouldrick against the People's Live Stock Insurance company, of New York. The plaintiff purchased the animal the insurance policy went with it. The non-suit was granted because it had not been proved that the company consented to the transfer of the policy. Attorney H. C. Reynolds represented the company and Hulshander & Vosburg the defendant.

Jury Solving the Safe Question.

Judge Archbold, when court convened yesterday morning, charged the jury in the case of the Cincinnati Safe and Lock company against M. M. De Witt, of this city. The jury retired at a few minutes after 10 o'clock to deliberate, but at adjournment they were as far away from a verdict as ever.

The attention of Judge Love to the 2d court room was engaged in the case of W. C. Townsend & Co., of New York, against Frank Carriol, of the West Side. The defendant has several witnesses, among them being Conrad Schroeder, who gave testimony in regard to having measured the blocks of stone which were used in the pedestal of the Washington monument. Mr. Schroeder did not presume to say whether or not the stones were in accordance with the plans and specifications; he simply gave the figures he found and the plans were afterward exhibited to the jury to prove that the stones were not according to contract for the pedestal of the monument. A disparity between the measurements called for and the actual measurements found by Mr. Schroeder.

The case closed at 4 o'clock and then the attorneys began arguing law points to the court.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Jolly Old Chums Will Be Seen at the Academy of Music To-night.

This evening "Jolly Old Chums" will be for the second time this season presented at the Academy of Music. It is one of the jolliest of farce comedies and a great entertainer. In the cast are such well-known mirth-provokers as Miss Carrie E. Wells, the president of the club, and Budd Ross, who are without doubt the funniest of comedians. They are good singers, dancers and performers.

Wang To-morrow Afternoon and Evening

"Wang," the most successful opera on the road to-day comes to the Academy Saturday matinee and night for the benefit of the Crystal Hose company. "Vendetta," the president of the club, will be produced at the distinct hits of the piece and their song, "Baby, Baby, Dance My Darling Baby," is now sung by the children of the entire lanes. The truth of that statement has been verified, although it was not thought at the time that it would be so popular. The opera will be our pretty little play of sixteen years before their affairs would be finally adjusted.

Pierce Was the First Assignee.

H. S. Pierce, who was one of the heavy stockholders of the bank, was the first assignee. He petitioned the court to have appraisers appointed to ascertain the value of the bank's effects, and on April 16, 1879, E. Phinney and George Fuller were directed by the court to perform that duty. A few days after the appointment of the appraisers Mr. Pierce stepped down and out of the position of assignee, and was succeeded by James A. Lines and George Fuller. The former served until Jan. 18, 1888, when he retired from the position and was succeeded by Attorney Charles E. Wells.

Mr. Fuller continued to serve until his death, in 1889, and since that time Mr. Wells has been the sole assignee.

The task of winding up the affairs of the bank proved to be a long and tedious one, as claims had to be settled, properties and securities converted into cash, and a host of other details attended to, which caused the process of settlement to drag along from year to year. Up to date almost every depositor of the bank has been paid the full amount of his claim with interest.

Final Account of the Assignee.

The final account of Mr. Wells, yesterday and confirmed nisi, reads as follows:

The accountant charged himself with the following sums received by him since his last partial account:

|   |             |
|---|-------------|
| March 9, 1889, cash on promissory note  | $ 200 00   |
| June 23, 1889, cash dividend received from R. F. Searles  | 1,496 18    |
| Aug. 1, 1894, cash on note  | 4,725 00    |
| Dec. 4, 1889, proceeds of sale of real estate to Anna E. Dolph  | 2,840 00    |
| May 28, 1894, cash J. H. Gunster, assignee Scranton City bank, dividend   | 556 73      |
| May and June, 1885, cash proceeds of public sale of real estate, property and securities as per return heretofore made to court | 2,413 42    |
| Total   | $12,191 33 |

From Jan. 9, 1889, to date the assignee paid for legal advice, costs, taxes, advertising, printing, fees for filling papers and to depositors, $1,062.98. The assignee's fees were $609.55, making a total amount, $1,672.53, and leaving a balance for distribution of $10,518.80 in hand.

If no exceptions are filed to the account it will be confirmed finally at the January term of court, and an auditor to distribute the fund on hand be appointed.

TEN THOUSAND ON HAND

Final Report of Assignee Welles of Trust Co. and Savings Bank Filed.

FAILED SIXTEEN YEARS AGO

Since Then the Process of Winding Up the Affairs of the Institution Has Been Going On Constantly. Depositors Paid In Full.

Attorney Charles H. Welles, assignee of the Scranton Trust company and Savings bank, which became financially embarrassed in 1879, has today for ever in the early part of 1879, yesterday filed his final report and it was confirmed nisi. He reports that there is a balance of $10,000 in his hands and this sum will be given to an auditor to be distributed in equal shares among those who can satisfy him that they have a valid claim against the bank.

The failure of the bank was the business sensation of the year 1879 in Scranton and caused the greatest excitement. Large numbers of laboring men had their hard-earned savings deposited with the institution and as soon as it became known that an assignee had been made the depositors rushed to the bank and clamored for their cash.

It was several days before the excitement subsided and then it was learned that the first reports to the effect that the bank would not be able to pay 50 cents on the dollar were unwarranted and those at the head of the bank's affairs assured the clamoring creditors that they would eventually receive the full amount of the bank owed them. The truth of that statement has been verified, although it was not thought at the time that it would be so popular. The opera will be our pretty little play of sixteen years before their affairs would be finally adjusted.

NO CHANCE FOR HAYWARD.

A New Trial Is Denied Catherine King's Slaver.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 21.—The last hope that remained to Harry Hayward of life was wrested from him when the Supreme court to-day filed an opinion affirming the action of the lower court in denying him a new trial. The court is unanimous in its opinion, save in one finding, the admissibility of Mrs. Haelett's evidence, as to which Chief Justice Start dissent.

Hayward turned pale when the decision was announced to him, but would say nothing more than "It was just what I expected." He is apparently without hope. County Attorney Nye, to whom Governor Clough has referred the fixing of the date of execution, will name December 6.
