THIRD LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT

To John McCrindle, chairman Third Legislative District committee, and J. W. Houser, secretary:

You are hereby requested and notified to call the Third Legislative District committee together on Thursday, Nov. 21, 1895, for the purpose of organizing the committee and for the transaction of such business as may come before it.

R. H. Holte, Chairman.
C. W. Green, Secretary.
J. N. McLaughlin, J. D. Hopkins, J. W. Houser, Sec'y.

CITY NOTES.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Woodruff, Waverly, on Saturday, Nov. 14, a son.

The sale of seats for Nat Goodwin open this morning at the box office of the Academy of Music at 9 o'clock.

Rev. George T. Epes, pastor of Park Place Methodist Episcopal church, will speak at the Rescue Mission this evening.

Edward Morrison and Emily Andrews, arrested at 510 Jackson street for disorderly conduct, were yesterday committed to the county jail for ten days by Alderman Millar.

The Price Library association of Taylor will continue their fair this evening. This afternoon the rink will be opened for the children, and a door prize will be given. As a consequence there will be no roller skating in the rink tonight.

The progress of the Yale-Princeton and Pennsylvania-Harvard football games will be followed in the evening by the county jail for ten days by Alderman Millar.

"Jolly Old Chums" had its second presentation this season at the Academy of Music last evening before a small audience. It is a farce without any pretense to plot, but serves to introduce Thomas J. Brady, Budd Ross, Carrie Lamont and several other good entertainers.

In the estate of James Mullaly, late of Vanishing, letters of administration were granted to the widow, Ann Mullaly. The will of Joseph Hill, late of Scranton, was admitted to probate, and letters testamentary were granted to Catharine R. Hill.

Charles McNulty, of Dunmore, 23 years old, a brakeman on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, sustained an injury to the middle finger of the left hand while coupling cars yesterday. He was taken to the Moses Taylor hospital, and the digit was amputated.

Marriage licenses were yesterday granted by Deputy Clerk of the Courts Emil R. Bonn to William Lee Ward, of Fell township, and Ellen Elizabeth Loftus, of Carbondale; Joseph Pozkwa and Alzbeta Wallwhite, both of Scranton; John V. Reinhardt and Rose Thorpe, both of Philadelphia; Eugene P. May and Mary A. Fry, both of this city.

A rumor that creates no end of excitement and chasing was circulated last night to the effect that a man had been shot on Wyoming avenue near St. Peter's cathedral and taken into a doctor's office.

The report originated in the fertile Vanishing, a disgruntled cabman, but illustrates the turmoil which a very little unscrupulous talking may cause. The rumor started at 9 o'clock and reached the newspaper offices and then the police. Reporters and police officials scoured the West and Penn avenues and between the two thoroughfares for a long time in a search that finally revealed the cause of the report. A cabman had given a wrong Union office for not having notified him promptly of a cab call; the Jehu finished his drive by saying his cab had been wanted to convey to the hospital a man who had been shot on Wyoming avenue. Within an hour scores of persons had repeated the story.

Are You a Lawyer?

If so, kindly step around to The Tribune's new home, on Washington avenue, and be shown our superior facilities for turning out your briefs in a time far shorter than is possible at any other printing house in the city, and whose work is executed by no other house in the state. It will be a pleasure for us to show you through our well-organized and orderly establishment.

STORIES ARE CONDEMNED

Speeches Made at the Reception of the Elks to Judge P. P. Smith.

REMARKS OF JUDGE WILLARD

He Said It Was Time a Protest Was Entered Against the Vilifying Stories Disappointed Politicians Are Circulating—Judge Smith Speaks.

No greater vindication of the absurd groundings of the papers and outwitted politicians of this county could be desired by Judge P. P. Smith, and nothing could more emphasize the indignation of the insulted people of Northeastern Pennsylvania at the Judge Smith reception by the Elks last night, and things done and said at that reception.

It was not expected that the meeting would be anything more or less than a social affair in which the Elks called in prominent men to assist them in showing the contempt and ratification of the honor that had been conferred on a brother Elk. But it could not be merely such a meeting under the circumstances. When Colonel Frank Fitzsimmons, in the opening speech indirectly referred to the slanderous Philadelphia charges, those present, the representative business and professional men of this city could give voice to their indignation at the slander heaped upon one whom they had so signally honored, and the insult hinted against themselves.

A glance over the appended partial list of those who, by their voice or presence, attested their thorough accord in both the sentiment and the action, and indignation, shows there is to be no small weight attached to the importance of the occasion!

Those Who Were Present.

Hon. E. N. Willard, of the Superior court; Hon. J. E. Edwards, of the Lackawanna bench; Hon. Alfred Darte, judge of the Orphans' court, of Luzerne county; Colonel F. J. Fitzsimmons, John O. Stuber, of Wilkes-Barre; John A. Schaffer, A. Schreifer, M. T. Lynott, Hon. Alex. T. Connell, J. B. Van Kleeck, C. G. Boland, U. G. Schoonmaker, F. J. Dwyer, J. P. O'Malley, A. Kolb, M. D. Hon. John E. Roche, Charles H. Schadt, A. R. Gould, John J. Burns, John M. Burke, T. R. Callan, N. Kaecher, Hon. L. M. Lemuel Amerman, C. Ben. Johnson, Joseph Levy, J. R. Cohen, Henry T. Koehler, Attorney George D. Taylor, E. Moses, Dr. P. P. Gunster, S. J. Chapman, J. W. Sauer, Hon. J. G. Grady, James O'Connor, William Greavy, James J. Callahan, Attorney John M. Corbett, George N. Gunster, George Kirby, Attorney M. E. Schuchman, E. M. Pennypacker, Richard Busted, Jr., T. F. Jordan Albert Zenke, M. Schwarzhopf, Charles Falkowsky, Thomas A. Ruddy, H. J. Schuchman, A. Cassey, Hon. M. E. McDonald, E. J. Cassey, F. M. Vandling, M. W. Collins, M. T. Glynn, A. L. Francois, J. F. McCawley, M. C. Smith, C. F. Colvin, Fred C. Hand, John T. Watkins, Dr. W. F. Conners, Peter Rosar, D. F. Ryan, S. A. Simerell, T. J. Collins, Attorney D. J. Ruddy, H. W. Dushinber, J. G. Schuchman, A. Samter, Frank W. Martin, William McBride, T. C. Snover.

Colonel Fitzsimmons, who by virtue of his position as district deputy grand excused ruler of the Elks, at the request to preside, opened the speech-making in the following words:

Gentlemen—This happy, social gathering has no political or religious bias, it is an order, never discuss politics, religion, tariff, currency or even the Monroe Doctrine, but it is a gathering of men who, by a broader humanity and a nobler brotherhood, the members are pledged to the splendid principles of justice, moderation, liberality and mutuality. They are consecrated to the maxim of charity towards all and an equal regard for all. They delight in each other's success. They are, as has been nearly said, like parents who love to see their children prosper. It is to emphasize this feeling of satisfaction that this modest reception is given to-night.

A man who has been signally honored by the voters of this state, his personal acquaintance gave him special and universal support and enabled him to win a district, unique and richly deserved. The people of all shades of belief in Northeastern Pennsylvania are paradoxically proud of his success. His personal fitness and proved that confidence in him by voting for him in the most effective way they could. His success is a much rejoicing where he is known best. The Elks join with the masses in congratulating and wishing him every success in his career as a judge of the Superior court of Pennsylvania. I propose to the health of the Hon. P. P. Smith, wisdom ever guide him in the administration of justice.

Hon. T. Kerber's reply to the Elks, then read letters of regret from the following judges: Hon. Charles E. Rice, Wilkes-Barre; Hon. R. W. Archibald, Hon. John Lynch, Wilkes-Barre, Hon. Lyman H. Bennett, Wilkes-Barre, and Hon. George S. Purdee, Honesdale.

Colonel Fitzsimmons then introduced the honored guest of the evening and amidst turning applause Judge Smith arose and said:

Judge Smith's Remarks.

Mr. President, Guests and Brother Elks:—I am, I assure you, sincerely grateful and appreciative of the honor which it is a sincere pleasure to be able to meet those whom I know so well and to believe that when they tender me compliments from their heart, because of that I feel specially honored on this occasion. I will not, this evening, attempt any remarks. I know full well the situation. I know what ordinarily would be expected of me to-night, and I am sure that I have not been able to prepare myself for this occasion. I trust I appreciate the high honor which the people of this Commonwealth have bestowed on me and in which you acted a very friendly part.

I trust also that the future may meet with the same feeling and fraternity that we have always enjoyed and which you, my countrymen, will have no occasion to regret your action at this time. I am sure that you will have no occasion to regret your action at this time. I am sure that you will have no occasion to regret your action at this time. I am sure that you will have no occasion to regret your action at this time.

After again thanking the assemblage for the reception he assumed his seat, amidst cheering.

What Judge Willard Said.

Judge Willard was next introduced and the ovation with which he was greeted was of the same hearty nature as that with which Judge Smith was honored. He struck the keynote of the occasion when, after a few introductory remarks he said:

"I am glad to be here to honor this man whom we honor to-night. He was elected largely by his neighbors, the citizens of the two counties, and I am glad to-day to give an expression of the appreciation intended to cast cloud on Judge Smith's election. I thought it better than to say anything on account of my position. But there are times when a man with any manhood in him must speak and the present is one of those occasions, when my friend and colleague is being vilified by disappointed politicians. I say now, and I want to say it with all the emphasis that I can bring to bear upon my words, that if I thought that this man (pointing to Judge Smith) had been placed on the Superior bench by fraud, I wouldn't be here to-night. Neither would you have that letter from Judge Smith, which is not of the same opinion. I say it and repeat it without fear that I believed one word of this slander, I wouldn't be here to-night."

Judge Willard's significant words, as they were well imagined and well delivered with round after round of applause and the drift of his remarks was taken up and echoed by nearly all the speakers who followed.

Judge Darte and Judge Edwards, C. Ben. Johnson, Hon. Lemuel Amerman,

COULDN'T AFFORD TO LOAF

Four Bottles of Paine's Celery Compound Made Him Well.

There may be in the distant future some remedy as efficacious as Paine's celery compound.

The sick and ailing who are stretching out their hands for help must take the best that the scientific medical knowledge of the world now affords.

The reasoning that has enabled Professor Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College, to discover the remarkable formula of Paine's celery compound is the result of the century's work in medicine.

It is by a new and more thoughtful grouping of diseases, from a careful study of their causes, that Professor Phelps has been enabled to see the true relationship of all diseases of the blood and nerves.

Neuralgia, sleeplessness, melancholia, hysteria, headache and dyspepsia, when visiting themselves to a tired, half-fed and therefore deranged nervous system.

The cure lay in attending to the nutrition of the whole system. This system of cure, simple and clear like most epoch-making ideas, was embodied in the greatest tissue former, known to science—Paine's celery compound, the one great remedy that makes people well!

Persons who complained of feeling "tired to death" and sought a competent investigator, as soon as their physicians ordered Paine's celery compound felt that their tired bodies were actually taking a new start. Their strength rapidly returned. They were no more troubled with sleepless nights, and their days were no longer made wretched by neuralgia and rheumatism.

Constipation, that stores up in the body substances long since worn than useless to the body and a menace to the health, is looked after. Any one troubled with this obstinate hindrance to health will find a positive and lasting cure in Paine's celery compound.

It takes a very short time to settle any doubt on the matter by giving Paine's celery compound a trial.

Mr. John Holland, whose portrait is given above, is a parlor car conductor, whose home is in Jersey City. He writes:

"I wish to give my testimony of the great benefit Paine's celery compound has done me. A year ago I had typhoid fever, and later I had to have an operation in my side for an abscess over the liver. This left me very weak. I grew very nervous and could not sleep. I was tired even more after I got up than I was when I went to bed. I have taken four bottles of Paine's celery compound, and am perfectly well. I have sent six bottles to some friends in Virginia. One, although he has taken only a bottle of it, feels much better and sleeps well."

Paine's celery compound puts the system on a healthy, strong basis, safe from disease. Try it if you are ailing, and a trial will speedily convince you.

Those Grinding Monopolies.

From the Chicago Record.

"Honorable! They are anti-railroad legislators, isn't he?"

"Well, I should say so! You know how he was treated, and don't you?"

"No."

"Well, he had a farm that cost him $9 an acre. The railroad came through a corner of it and paid him $10 for 3-10 acres, increasing the value of the other 26 1-10 acres to $20 an acre. Then when Henry Phelps asked for an annual pass for himself and family he was refused!"

FLANNAGHAN WAS FULL.

He Went Calling in That State and Now Regrets It.

Patrick Flannaghan, of Wilkes-Barre, who with his wife, was recently released from the Luzerne county jail, kept a disorderly house, was yesterday sent up to our county jail for drinking and locking up in a drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Thursday afternoon he went to the House of the Good Shepherd to see his daughter, who is being cared for there. He was so drunk when he arrived there that he could not tell his name, and as he threatened to fall asleep in the vestibule an officer was called to take him away.

When Patrick Flannaghan arrived on the scene he found Flannaghan curled up in the corner of a coach which had brought some visitors to the house. He was huddled out and locked up in the North End police station over night.

THAT CONDENSED MILK.

It Had Stood in an Open Can Too Long for Comfort.

The case of the woman on Brook street who complained of a brand of condensed milk of which a can had been bought from a West End firm, is explained by the dealer to be due simply to the purchaser's carelessness.

"No canned article will keep forever after the lid is removed," the dealer's question said yesterday. "Our brand of condensed milk has been in use the world over for years, has been repeatedly analyzed by the best chemists and pronounced pure. It will fulfill any reasonable purpose, but we do not advise our customers to open the cans and leave them standing around for months at a time. Food Inspector Thomas is welcome to test the milk sold by us. We know he will pronounce it equal to the best."

Comfort in Travel

It realized in the highest degree on the famous fast train of the Michigan Central, "The Niagara Falls Route," between Buffalo and Chicago, in connection with the through trains from the east. Passengers are granted the privilege of stopping off en route at Niagara Falls, or, if time will not permit, can obtain from the car window, or the platform, at Falls View, the grandest and most comprehensive view of the great cataract. All-day trains stop from five to ten minutes. For a full and complete list of local, long distance, or address W. H. Underwood, Eastern Passenger agent, Buffalo, N. Y.
