WILKES-BARRE WINS.

Sides Make a Touch Down-The Visitors Kick a Goal.

All of Carbondale's foot ball games seemed to be played under the hardest kind of luck. This was the way Saturday, when the high school team played the Wilkes-Barre high school and it was owing to this that the visitors won the same.

the Wilkes-Barre high school and it was owing to this that the visitors won the game.

The day was got very promising and kept many people who otherwise would have attended from being present. The Wilkes-Barre team came up on the 3 o'clock train, which stopped at the grounds. The hearts of the Carbondale contingent fell somewhat when they say the big, heavy men who alighted. They were also discouraged by the absence of several men, who did not turn up. However, their places were filled from the crowd present and the game commenced. Carbondale took the ball and kicked it well into the enemy's territory. After a short run the man was downed. Then Wilkes-Barre sailed into our line and pushed the ball back toward our line. They pushed the center hard and made long gains. But when the ball began to get dangerously near the line, Carbondale braced up and secured the ball on downs. It was their turn now and they took advantage of it. Abbott went around the right end for a good gain and McDonaid followed around left end. Murrin plunged into the line and when the men got up the ball was five yards nearer the enemy's line. Again and again they struck the line and the ball was slowly pushed up the field. At last Wilkes-Barre secured the ball on a fumble. Their offensive work was good and they pushed the ball to within eight yards of our line. Here they were unable to gain their five yards and the ball want to Carbondale. Twice Murrin falled to make gains through the center and a run around the end resulted in a loss. Then Murrin, punted the ball and our goal was again safe. the center and a run around the end resulted in a loss. Then Murrin punted the ball and our goal was again safe. Fiercely waged the battle: first one and then the other secured the ball, and, after a few mad rushes lost, it. When time was called the ball was near the center of the field and the score 0-0.

Wilkes-Barre kicked off the second the battle was once more on. Both teams were freshened by the short breathing spell and went into the game with a rush. Carbondale seemed to breathing spell and went into the game with a rush. Carbondale seemed to have the advantage. Then occurred the most magnificent run of the game. The signal was given for R. Hockenberry to go around left end. He tucked the ball under his arm and started off. Aided by good interference he skirted the end and then with nearly a clear field went thundering down toward Wilkes-Barre's goal. All attempts to stop him proved fruitless and after a run of sixty yards the ball was toucheddown. Murrin failed to kick the goal.

Again Wilkes-Barre kicked off and soon secured the ball on downs. They seemed desperate at the scoring of Carbondale and went into the game with an energy and vim that seemed wonderful. But 'Carbondale was plucky and met them man for man. It was without avail, however, for the superior weight of the visitors now began to tell. Slowly, although they fought fiercely every inch, they were pushed back and Wilkes-Barre made a touchdown. A goal was kicked, this making the 6-4 in Wilkes-Barre's favor. This was all that was made by either side.

Carbondale was greatly outweighed

Carbondale was greatly outwelghed and the green men she had in the line made a big difference. All played a good game, Morgan on right end tackling hard. Hockenberry also tackled well, while Murrin's line bucking was excellent.
