Four Couples Valted in Marriago at St.

Rose Church. The scenes at St. Rose's church yes-terday were very gay, the church being terday were very gay, the church being full of bridal parties nearly all day. Four couples were united at the church during the day. The first of these took place in the morning at 9.30, when Miss Julia Dun'y, of Washington street, became Mrs. James Healey.

The church was nearly full of people who had gathered to see the nuptials. The couple entered by the middle aisle and marched up to the chancel rails, where they were made one.

Miss Margart E. Murphy, of Spring street, attended the bride, while Patrick Newcomb, of Farview street, acted in the same capacity for the groom. Miss Duffy and her attendant wore tailor-made suits of a golden brown, trimmed with silk and velvet.

At the close of the ceremony the par-

At the close of the ceremony the par-ty was driven to the home of Mrs. Ly-dis Couch, on Washington street, with whom the bride has lived for many years, where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served to the immediate friends of the contracting party. Mr. and Mrs. Healy will go to housekeeping immediately in a newly-furnished home on Farview street.

Kerins Felk.

Another pretty wedding which took place at the same church was that of Harry Feik, of Cottage street, and Miss Margaret Kerins, of Brooklyn street. The bride was attended by her cousin. Miss Margaret Sullivan, of Mayfield Yard, and the groom by Tim-Mayfield Yard, and the groom by Timothy Gilhool, of this city. The bridal party formed a most pretty sight as it swept up the alisle. The bride was dressed in broadcloth, as was the maid. The groom and his attendant wore the conventional black. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, on Brooklyn street. Shortly after the meal the newly-married couple left on an extensive tour, which will include New York, Oswego, Oneonta and other points of interest. On their return they will take up house-keeping. Many guests from out of keeping. Many guests from out of town witnessed the ceremony.

MeDonough-Carden.

The church was once more filled with people at 4 o'clock, who had gathered to see Miss Mary McDonough and Martin Carden, of this city, united in mar-riage. Both parties are well-known and possess a host of riends who will

a most charming appearance, as did her maid, Miss Lucy Kennedy.

A reception was given after the cere-mony at the bride's home, at which a large number of guests sat down, and in the evening they repaired to the rooms of the Lotus club nearby, where dancing was enjoyed. The couple were

Miss Ella E. Loftus, of Dundaff street, was united to William L. Ward. of Simpson, at 4 o'clock. Miss Mary Ward, a relative of the groom, was Miss Loftus' bridesmald, while Nicholas Loftus, a cousin of the bride, acted as groomsman. The bride and attendant ing. wore steel-colored henrietta and white J. hats. The usual wedding trip was dis-pensed with and immediately after the ceremony the couple were driven to the home of the bride's father, at Moss Side: where a large reception was given them. A large number of people from the valley were present, princi-from Peckville and Wilkes-Mr. and Mrs. Ward will commence housekeeping on Dundaff street in the near future.
