Never before in the history of Car-bondale gave to many people gathered to see an athletic context as were pres-ent at Alumni park yesterday. The day was perfect and no one had diffi-culty in keeping warm. The games wuiltude present showed their appre-ciation of the good work done by loud and frequent cheers. The visiting teams also brought quite a large crowd with them and they encouraged their payers by their college yells which were re-eched with renewed vigor by the Garbondale contingent. On the whole the proved was jolly and for the num-ber present, unusually well-behaved, the police having no difficulty in keep-ing them of the field. The most exciting game was between the Alumni team of this city and a team from 8t. Thomas' college, Scranton. The food team was much the heavier, but notwithstanding this the visitors put up a plucky game. One thing noticea-ting a plucky game. One thing noticea-ting a state a state lack of accidents of notwithstanding this the visitors put up a plucky game. One thing noticea-ble was the total lack of accidents of any kind. No man on either side was obliged to be laid off on account of in-juries. This, with the absence of kick-ing, made the game enjoyable and to which people are giad to turn out to. In the first half the ball was not in Carbondale's territory, but for a short time. It was evident to all after the first few downs that we would win. The plunges through the center were won-first few downs that we would win. The plunges through the center were won-derful and after the players had picked themselves up the ball would be found to have been advanced nearly five yards. The run around the ends also resulted in big gains. Brennen dis-tinguished himself chiefly in this, run-ming hard and low and being very diffi-cult to tackle. Bown the field the ball was numbed sometimes the visitors bewas pushed, sometimes the visitors be-ing nearly lifted off their feet, but al-ways fighting hard. But it was of no ways fighting hard. But it was of no use. Our boys were determined to win and at last, by a magnificent rush through the line, the ball was touched-down behind St. Thomas' goal. Bren-nan a kicked goal. Again Scranton kicked off and again the ball was brought to the middle of the field. Here no gain could be made and Scranton took the ball. Now was the time to see if we were as strong offensively as defensively. It was plain we were not, for, aided by good interference, long runs were made around the ends. The line was called before the ball was dangerously near out line. out line out line. Rested by the few minutes' time given them, both teams lined up for the renewal of the battle. Vandermark, owing to an ankle which he had hurt in practice, was obliged to retire. Crane was then put half back in his place and Forbes passed the ball. The sec-end half was but a reptition of the first. By Thomas' however, playing a St. Thomas', however, playing a stronger defensive game and secured the ball on downs more than once. It the ball on downs more than once. It looked to that they might score, their halfs making magnificent runs around our ends. But Carbondale could not afford to lose and they worked with all their might, sweeping all before them. Another touchdown was put to their credit, from which a goal was kicked, and the game ended with the score 12-0 in Carbondale's favor.

and the game ended with the score 12-0 in Carbondale's favor. It is hard to give any special praise to any of the local team, for they all played a good game, their team work being perfect. For St. Thomas' the half backs did the most efficient work.

Woods College vs. High School. Woods College vs. High School. Before this game another which was not second in interest, was played, the contestants being Wood's Business col-lege of Scranton and the high school team. Both teams were of about the same weight, but the high school great-ly cutclassed the college boys in skill

Owing to the lateness at which the same was commenced but very short halves could be played. This was for-tunate for the visitors, for our boys had hardly got down to work when the had hardly got down to work when the game was finished. At no time in the game was our goal in danger, for the game was played nearly the whole time in the enemy's territory. At the end of the first half the ball was within a foot of the college boys' line. Another second and we would have scored. In the second half one touchdown was made, from which a most difficult goal was kicked by Forbes. The game ended 6-0 in Carbondale's favor. At least two other touchdown should have been made, but as the game was so evidently ours the players did not so evidently ours the players did not go in hard.
