Mark Twain says "cauliflower is nothing but cabbage with a college education." That's about the difference at the present time between made to order and ready made clothing. The name's different, but as far as practical service and actual appearance are concerned it would take an expert to tell one from the other—if WE sell you the ready made. We've made a reputation in this line and couldn't have done so, had we not had better goods to offer than the other fellows—and at lower prices. We've a stock of goods that an artist would revel in—full of blending colors and suggestive strongly of the latest fashion plates.

Not where shall you buy—will be the question to decide after you've paid us a visit. You'll see what you like right at the start, and the further you look the more that you like will you see. The prices will be right—we've attended to that; marked them low enough to have no question about the selling. And the plain, the fancy, the gay, the neat, the gaudy, will be found here in great variety and to sult any taste—

MEETING OF IRISHMEN.

Thanksgiving Day Reunion of Lacks wanns and Luzerne Clau-na-Guel. Thanksgiving Day Reunion of Lackawanna and Luzerne Cian-na-Gael.

A reunion of the Irishmen of the Clan-na-Gael societies of Lackawanna and Luzerne counties was held Thanksgiving afternoon in Casey's hall, on lowed Lackawanna avenue. There were about 300 present. Senator J. C.
Vaughan was the presiding officer and gave an address of welcome.

Luke Dilion, of Philadelphia, a prominent member of the organization, was present, and he was the principal speaker of the day. He spoke on the condition of things in Ireland and predicted that a brighter future is in store for her oppressed people.

Other speakers were T. C. Mullarkey ad Bernard McManus, of Wilkes-Barre;
M. H. Griffin, William Dawson and F.
J. Johnson, of this city. Professor Martin J. Lovern played a flute solo and there were several vocal selections rendered from among those present.
The reunion was under the auspices of the John Mitchell club.

Governor and Mrs. Hastings and Daugh ter May Attend the Bachelors' Ball. Ten and a Dancing Party at the Home of Mrs. G. B. Hand.

An impetus is given the already keen interest in the approaching ball of the Bachelors by the announcement that Governor and Mrs. Hastings and their Governor and Mrs. Hastings and their daughter, Heien, will probably be present. In less than a week the invitations will be issued, but in order to reach the governor and Mrs. Hastings before they had made a previous engagement, two personal and informal letters of invitation were sent to the state's chief executive by two of the Bachelors who know him well. His response was prompt and was as follows: I am in due receipt of the kind invitation Jam in due receipt of the kind invitation which you have extended to Mrs. Hastings, our daughter and myself, to attend your next New Year's eve function. Mrs. Hastings and my daughter are both away from home at present, but I have marked in my engagement book a memorandum for New Year's eve with your people. I am not at all certain that I can be present, and you must not take this as a sure promise.

interfere, it will give us green high appreciabe with you.

I beg to assure you of our high appreciation of your kindness and thoughtfulness.
All of the visits we have made to Scranton have been more than pleasant, and I shall always be grateful for the unusual and undeserved honors which they have paid me. With my kindest regards, I am, Faithfully yours,
Daniel H, Hastings,

Daniel H. Hastings.

Before inviting the governor arrangements were made for entertaining him, and his family in a well-known Scranton home. In addition to the foregoing letter, which seems to be couched in favorable language, it is understood that another letter written by him indicates that he and Mrs. Hastings will accept the invitation.

The patronesses of the Bachelors' ball will be Mrs. H. J. Anderson, Mrs. J. P. Dickson, Mrs. James Archbald, Mrs. E. L. Fulley, Mrs. R. W. Archbald, Mrs. W. T. Smith, Mrs. Henry Belin, jr., Mrs. E. B. Sturges, Mrs. A. M. Decker, Mrs. E. N. Willard. The ball will be under the immediate direction of President H. P. Simbson, H. W. Kingsbury, A. G. Hunt, Major J. W. Oakford and B. E. Watson.

Over Four Bundred Dollars in Cash an Wagon Loads of Supplies Sent the Charitable Institution-List of the Many Donors.

There was a very gratifying response to the appeal of the sisters of the House of the Good Shepherd during the two annual donation days, Thursday and yesterday. That the public is each year realizing more and more the worthiness of this institution is evidenced by the fact that the donations this year are larger and of a more general nature than hertofore.

of all kinds represents an outlay CAPACITY of a large amount of money, and gives employment to seventy-for five men, boys and young PRINTING women in the various departments. To keep this number employed re-quires a large amount of trade, which we have; but our new quarters can conveniently accommodate more than this, and that is why we are daily calling the attention of the business, social and professional fraternities to the facilities which we possess. We believe in keeping the public informed of what we can do in the printing line, as well as of what we are doing. Are you in need of any printing?

An appropriate programme of vocal and instrumental music and recitations will be rendered by Bauer's orchestra, the Elk double quartette, composed of Thomas Beyngn, Fred C.
