TWO FIRES YESTERDAY. Luther Keller's Residence Again on Fire. Blaze at the Pine Brook Breaker That Did Little Damage.

Another fire broke out in the residence of Luther Keiler, on Clay avenue, early yesterday morning and anomalous as it may seem it was a very fortunate accident. Workmen were engaged in repairing the damage done by the recent disastrous fire there, and one of them, Henry Woelkers, a mason, who was repairing a chimney, built a fire of shavings in the fire place to test the flues.

No smoke issued from the chimney and divining that there was some trou-ble, hastened back to the fire place, where he discovered sparks falling down the flue. An investigation showed down the flue. An investigation showed that the bricklayer who orignally built the chimney had left an opening in the attic and near to this opening was a pile of shavings and saw dust which had ignited from the sparks issuing through the chimney opening.

An alarm brought the central city companies to the scene. The blaze was extinguished by the chemical engine before much damage resulted. Had the fire happened at another time the consequences would have undoubtedly been serious and that it would have been serious and that it would have happened is assured, as Mr. Keller in-tended using the fireplace this winter. Fire in a pile of cotton-waste at the Pine Brook breaker occasioned an alarm at 8.55 yesterday morning. The blaze was extinguished before the firemen arrived.

A COLOSSAL CLOAK SALE.

The Clock Stock of Francis Fitzgibbon to

Be Closed Out at Once.

Right now in the very midst of the season, while most ladies are still unprovided with their winter wraps, and retail dealers count on six weeks more of profitable business, Francis Fitzgibbon, at 132 North Washington ave., offers his entire stock of elegant jackets and magnificent capes at prices that you generally look for in February. The reason of this is, he has leased the whole storeroom and must begin extensive alterations Dec. 15 and wishes to close out his goods to make room for carpenters, painters, etc. Ladies will find this the grandest opportunity of securing a genuine bargain in a winter wrap ever offered in this city, as the stock is the finest and cleanest which could possibly be selected. Every garment in this magnificent assortment of imported and domestic cloaks has been greatly reduced in price, and when it is taken into consideration that every garment in this entire stock was new this Fall, you can readily appreciate what a saving this means to you. It is not often that desirable goods are sacrificed at this time of the year, and you will do well to take advantage of this genuine sale of seasonable goods. You will not be obliged to look through a lot of trash, as the reputation of this house for keeping reputable goods is already established in this city. Be Closed Out at Once.

MUNLEY CASE IS AT AN END

The Jury Returned a Verdict in Favor of the City-Tompkins Awarded 5200 in Itis Case Against the Soranton Traction Comyany.

Today ends the November term of common pleas court which is the last of the year. This has been an unfortunate week so far as getting verdicts is concerned, for up to 4.30 yesterday afternoon only one verdict had been entered during the week. That was in the Joseph Halderman divorce case, in which the respondent failed to put in an appearance.

During the year there have been five terms of common pleas court of three weeks each, and altogether at these terms 525 cases were set down for trial. Of this number 204 were for various reasons continued when called for trial, forty-five were settled, fourteen referred to a statement, research when he is the last of the settlement.

reasons continued when called for trial, forty-five were settled, fourteen referred to an attorney agreed upon by the parties, twelve were discontinued, three stricken off list and twelve discontinued. Of the cases tried twenty-seven verdicts were rendered for defendants and sixty-seven for plaintiffs; there were thirty non-suits granted, three voluntary non-suits were entered and several verdicts were taken by agreement. There were a number of cases during the year in which juries disagreed and had to be discharged.

Munley Case Given to the Jury.

After court opened yesterday morning the arguments to the jury in the case of Mrs. Ann Munley against the city of Scranton were heard. Major Everett Warren made the argument Everett Warren made the argument for the defendant, and Attorney I. H. Burns for the plaintiff. At 2.45 Judge Schuyler completed his charge and the case was given to the jury for consideration. A verdict was returned for the city, the jury finding that the city was not guilty of negligence.

The action in assumpsit of Minor E. Worden against Miss Lizzle Hess, of Wyoming avenue, was resumed be-city was not guilty of negligence.

The action in assumpsit of Minor E. Worden against Miss Lizzie Hess, of Wyoming avenue, was resumed before Judge Gunster in court room No. 3 after court opened yesterday morning. The arguments of counsel were heard and after receiving instructions as to their duties in the premises from the judge, the jury retired before noon to make up its verdict. At the evening session a verdict of $13.02 for the piaintiff was returned.

In the suit of J. M. Tompkins against the Scranton Traction company, an action to recover damages for injuries sustained on Capouse avenue by a collision with a street car, Judge Archbald delivered his charge to the jury after court adjourned and it retired to make up its verdict. At 4 o'clock it came into court with a request to have a portion of the testimony read. This was done and the jury again retired to make up its verdict. It returned a verdict of $200 and the following special findings:

"If your verdict is for the plaintiff, in Jerkes, Polanders, living on Deacan" to make up its verdict. It returned a verdict of $200 and the following special findings:

"If your verdict is for the plaintiff, in addition to your general verdict, you will answer the following questions: (1) In what respect were those in charge of the street car negligent?" Answer—"In not sounding the gong and in running too fast;" (2) "Why could not the plaintiff have seen or heard the car before it struck him?" Answer—"Because of the high wind and dust and insufficient light on the car and high rate of speed."

"If your verdict is for the defendant you will answer these questions: (1) Were those in charge of the car negligent; (2) Was the accident caused by the plaintiff's own negligence." The jury, though they did not find for the defendant nevertheless answered the first question affirmatively and the second negatively.

having twice refused to discharge them.

The members of the jury are J. D. Mason, M. E. Clark, James Brown, John Devine, J. A. Lacoe, L. W. Kellar, James Kearns, D. T. Jones, E. Filer, Thomas McAloon, H. W. Rowley, William Wholly. At midnight the jury was still unable to agree. The three verdicts above mentioned were returned at a night session of court.

The court will have to unbend to them, the Schloss jurors are reported as saying, or else they will stay out until doomsday. They have settled down for a long siege, one of their number has his fiddle and bow, and with vocal and instrumental music and a stag dance now and then, the jurors are getting along quite comfortably.

The only other business done at the evenling session besides receiving the verdicts was to swear a jury in the case of Charles Camin against I. Wennets.

evening session besides receiving the verdicts was to swear a jury in the case of Charles Camin against L. Warneka. Attorney W. W. Watson represents the defendant and Attorney H. M. Hannah, the plaintiff. It is an appeal suit and will go on today. All jurors except those engaged in this case and excepting, of course, the twelve good and true citizens in the Schloss-Cobb case were discharged.

Judge Archbald ordered the evening session of court for the purpose of fool-ing those sharp jurors who tie up cases on Friday in order to get an extra day's pay out of the county.

Escaped Prosecution Because of His Previous Good Character.

Patrolman Neuls saw a man with a coil of copper wire on his back sneak-ing down Raymond court about 2 o'clock yesterday morning and judg-ing his actions of such a suspicious ing his actions of such a suspicious nature as to bear watching, followed him for a few minutes. He then took the fellow in tow, and locked him up. At the station house he was found to be Henry Davies, an electric light lineman. He confessed that he took the wire out of the Illuminating, Heat and Power company's store room, but excused his theft on the grounds of drunkenness. The officials of the company agreed not to prosecute Davies on account of his previous good character so Alderman Millar let him off with a fine of $2.50 for drunkenness.

DEATH OF LORENZ ZEIDLER. le Was One of the First Mon Who Started in Business in This City.

Lorenz Zeidler, one of the best known of the old time Scranton business men, passed away yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Jackson House, 112 Franklin avenue, of which hotel he was proprietor.

Mr. Zeidler had been in declining health for some time, but the immediate cause of his death was a stroke of paralysis, which he sustained about five weeks ago. Deceased was 65 years of age, having been born in Selp, Bavaria, April 21, 1850. He came to this country when a boy and has lived in Scranton over thirty years. He was engaged in the hotel business for the greater part of that time and by his thrift and enterprise amassed a snug competency.

Before coming here he spent a few years in Hawley, and later went to New Orleans, where he opened a hotel. When the war broke out he became unpopular there on account of his Union tendencies, and had to leave. He came direct to Scranton and started another hotel here and had ever since been its proprietor. He was a police officer when Scranton was a borough, and in 1865-66 was a United States gauger. He was a prominent member of the Liederkranz and was considered among his Cerman friends as one of their most representative men.

He is urvived by his wife and five among his Cerman friends as one of their most representative men.

He is urvived by his wife and five children: Lorenz P. Zeidler, common councilman of the Sixteenth ward; Cisarles F. Zeidler, Henry W. Zeidler, Mrs. E. C. Newcomb, and Mrs. John J. Genter. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Zion Lutheran church, of which the deceased was a member.

cupy Cells in the Contral Police Station.

A father in one cell and in the next a mother and three tiny children was one of the pitiable sights which the station house presented yesterday.

The parents were Peter and Julia Jerkes, Polanders, living on Deacan street. The husband is demented and the wife is debauched. Lieutenant Spellman and Patrolmen Johler and Saltry were cailed to the house about 2 o'clock yesterday morning by the husband, who conplained that his wife was entertaining three men at his home and that when he entered an indignant protest he was told to go away.

When the police swooped down on the place they found things even worse than Jerkes had described them. The woman and her guests were arrested and in default of fines were committed to the county jail by Alderman Millar.

Mrs. Duggan, agent of the Board of Associated Charities, took the children and had them placed in the Foundling Home until such time as court shall make a disposition of them. The husband was also arrested and, with his wife, will be called upon to answer the charge of criminally neglecting their

The jurors in the case of Schloss against Frank M. Cobb, who retired to deliberate at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, remained together all of yesterday. They sent no communication to the court of any kind. Judge Gunster having twice refused to discharge them.
