WEST SIDE EVENTS.

A Prominent Person Has Something to Say About Vinducts-Dr. and Mrs. Beach Given a Surprise Visit.

"Before councils appropriated $10,000 for the purpose of erecting a viaduct over Tripp's crossing, it would be well to attend to the West Lackawanna avenue crossing of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Wetsern track," said a well-known West Sider to a Tribune reporter yesterday, "Tripp's crossing is not a very decided menace to the welfare of the West Side, but the Lackawanna avenue danger is and has been for years, the worst spot of its kind in the city. The traffic, vehicular and pedestrian, over these tracks is continual and the liability of accident is at a. times evident. West Side people have been clamoring for the Lackawanna avenue viaduct for years, but only recently has the Tripp's crossing matter come up and it is even now advocated by a few of the many. It would be well if both viaducts could be built, but if only one let us have the Lackawanna avenue viaduct. Tripp's crossing can wait." luct. Tripp's crossing can wait.'

The game started tween the High School teams of Scranton and Dunmore. The game started at 3 o'clock and two twenty-minute halves were played. The teams were evenly matched, and as considerable rivalry exists between them both sides were determined to win. The star play of the game was made by Gilmartin, when, after a hard run, he overtook Craig, of the Scranton team, within three feet of the Dunmore goal, after which the boys from this place railied and by rapid gains brought the ball back to the center of the field, where it was when time was called, neither it was when time was called, neither side having scored. If the painted bust of the immortal Shakespeare upon the Academy walls were only infused with life, Niobe like, last night so that his ears might hear again and his eyes see again he would have rejoiced at the complete staging, costuming and characterization of his greatest tragedy, "Julius Caesar." by the Charles B. Hanford company. Marcus Brutus, the central figure in this great play, as the authors intended, found a worthy exponent as "The noblest Roman of them all" in the person of James Carden.

Cassius is the kind of a person we do not love. His contemptative mood is frought with lurking schemes of conspiracy against Caesar. Ellihu R. Spencer meets all the regulrements in his acting of Cassius. Everyone loves Marc Anthony for he was faithful to his noble lord, Julius Caesar, until his murder was avenged on the plains of Phillipl. The character was portrayed with much artistic finish by Charles B. Hanford, who received a curtain call at the conclusion of the oration over Caesar" body. Publius Caesa, though not leading character, was ably imperse ted by George Macomber, who generally preprended the ficult roles.

SOUTH SIDE NEWS.

Employe at the Casey & Kelley Brewers Fell Twenty Feet-Rev. Wm. A. Nordt and Family Will Arrive Here To-day. Rocital at St. John's Church Hall.

Thomas Burnham, employed at the Casey & Kelley brewery, on Locust street, fell from the top to the second floor of the building yesterday afternoon and escaped with a sprained ankle and a dislocated collar bone, injuries which are extremely fortunate when it is taken into consideration that his plunge was twenty feet and that he landed in a heap on the hard floor. Mr. Burnham was busy at work on the top floor and inadvertently stepped into an open area, through which barrels are hoisted by means of pulleys. He came here from Pottsville a short while ago, and has made a number of friends on the South Side, who would regret that anything serious might overtake him. He was taken in a carriage to the Lackawanna hospital, whence the doctors say, he will be able to depart in a week.

Pastor and Family Will Arrive To-day.

Rev. William A. Nordt, the new pastor of the Hickory Street Presbyterian church, and his family will arrive here from Newark today and take possession of the new parsonage adjoining the church. He will officiate next Sunday at both services; his pastorate will then begin and it is believed that the Hickory Street church under his guidance will proceed forward and be of as much spiritual advantage to the community spiritual advantage to the community as a congregation of its size and in-fluence warrants. The pastor's wife is an energetic church worker and will be of invaluable assistance at the head be of invaluable assistance at the nead of the women's work of the congregation The reception will be tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Nordt next week.

TO-DAY'S GREAT GAME.

Society Will Go to See the Foot Ball Con test Between the Alumni and Regular Elevens of the School of the Lacks

If fair weather exists, there will be a large and notable crowd present this afternoon at the foot ball game between the alumni and the regular eleven of the School of the Lackawnna at the Base Ball park. Play will be called at 3 o'clock

3 o'clock.

Dr. Pennypacker, a graduate, will have charge of the alumni eleven, which will really consist of twenty-two players, two to relieve each other in each position. The older players realize that they are seriously handicapped by the greater activity and superior wind of their young opponents, but have ninned their young opponents, but have minned their faith to beef and some old-time tactics, which, it is thought, the regular team has never heard of. Meanwhile the saplings are winking an eye and singing "We wouldn't do a thing to them." Among outsiders the impression prevails that the loose hair and gore left on the field will not be that of the youngsters in whose favor hears are belie Expired in the Lackswanna Hospital

Last Night.

Frank Fabroniski, who was injured Wednesday morning in the Meadow Brook shaft, apd had his skull fractured and both legs broken, died at 11.30 last night at the Lackawanna hospital. His body will be taken to his late home, 618 Brook street, South Side, this morning. He leaves a widow and five children.
Fabroniski was injured in a peculiar manner. He had a blast prepared and was ready to fire it; after lighting the squib he retired to the "crosscut" to await the explosion. A blast in an adjoining chamber exploded and thinking it was the one he had made ready he went back to the face of his chamber. Just as he did the shot went off and the flying coal struck him with terrific force. Last Night.

He was an industrious citizen and had built a nice home. His age was nearly

Some people were born thin and are healthlest thin.

They had better remain so,
But there are others,
The ones whose blood has not been properly filtered.

What keeps them thin is unhealthy blood. Sick kidneys that don't filter it. Clogginess that needs clearing.
Doctors call these people anaemic.
It's a good name to forget, Let's call it poor-blood.
People with poor blood need nourishing food; beef, mutton, fowl, fish, bread, potatoes, butter, eggs, sugar, fruit; no pork, no salmon, no twice-cooked meat, nothing that gives you inooked meat, nothing that gives you indigestion.

Good food makes good blood. Well kidneys keep it good.

Poor blood makes you thin and unhappy, and you have no ambition, feel tired of everything, look pale, sallow, thin, feel nervous, weak, and suffer from headache, dizziness, hysteria, etc. You have blood, but it's poisonous. Instead of nourishing, it is making you sick. Your kidneys are not working

RAILROAD NOTES.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The action of some of the railroad companies in refusing to accept freight cars on and after Dec. I is likely to prove an embarrassing subject, as in most cases a number of the cars will have perishable freight, and if they are not delivered at once there will be a dead loss.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company yesterday. Third Vice-President John B. Garrett was selected to represent it in the board of managers of the new Joint Traffic association of the trunk lines and their western connections. The selection of Mr. Garrett is one of the best that could have been made, as he is thoroughly familiar with the transportation business of the Lehigh Valley, and took a prominent part in the formation of the new association, having been a member of the sub-committee which formulated the plan for the government of that body.

Owing to some of the railroad companies of the United States not agreeing to place handholds and grabirons on all freight cars of foreign roads found on their lines on and after Dec. I there has been created considerable discussion among the railroad managers. Some of the roads have gone so far as to send out notices that they will not receive any car that is not equipped as required by law. A recent meeting of the American Railway association adopted a preamble setting out that "It will be impossible to have all cars returned in time for each railroad to comply with the law requiring all cars to be equipped with handholds for grabirons and drawbars raised to a certain height," and followed this by the adoption of a resolution that "it is the sense of this association that after the law takes effect each railroad equip all cars belonging to any railroad company with handholds or grabirons, and raise the drawbars to proper height to comply with the law that time, and bill against the owners of said cars at the prices agreed upon by the Master Car Bullders' association." By this it was taken for granted that each company belonging to other,
