SOUTH SIDE NEWS.

An Arabian Peddler Found Alongside Street Car Track with a Bruised Body-Rally at Y. W. C. A. Rooms.

About 7 o'clock last evening an Arabian trinket peddler was injured by being severely bruised on the head and body, and whether he fell off a street car or was run over by a wagon could not be learned. He lost a large quantity of blood and was found wandering about aimlessly by the watchman at the Meadow Brook breaker.

The fellow's head was very painfully bruised and his clothes were covered with dust from head to foot. The evidence of his condition would indicate that he had fallen off a street car, though the conductors do not remember carrying such a passenger. His box was broken and the contents scattered over the road. He was kindly cared for by some of the people living near the scene of his mishap, the blood and dust washed from him, his box and dust washed from him, his box gathered up, and he was set right on his journey toward the central city.

Rally at the Y. W. C. A. Rooms. Miss Mary Dunn, state secretary of the Young Women's Christian associa-tion, gave an address last evening at the South Side rooms. She was heard by a large audience and her talk was very interesting. Special music was provided and a very entertaining programme was carried out. Miss Dunn gramme was carried out. Miss Dunn aroused much enthusiasm among the members and the result will be a renewed effort to increase the membership of the South Side branch. Miss Root, the present secretary, is a very energetic lady and is doing good work. Her efforts are apreciated.

Shorter Paragraphs of News. Today the new schedule in the street car system of this side will go into effect and traffic will be opened to Smithville. After the regular meeting of the Heptasophs last evening they adjourned to Jones' milk depot, where they partook of an oyster supper, which had been prepared by Mr. Jones and which was highly enjoyed by all of the members present.

About 8 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in a large double dwelling house on Spencer street, and an alarm was sounded from box 23 at the corner of Chestnüt and Potter streets by Frank Nicholson, who was on his way from the Pennsylvania Coal company's office to the postoffice with the mall. The alarm was promptly responded to by the Neptunes, quickly followed by the Independents, the combined length of hose of the two companies just reaching the biase. A second alarm brought the Electrics to the scene. The fire had gained such headway when the companies arrived that the firemen directed their efforts to saving the adjoining house of Frank Fox, which was only about six feet away, and by hard and persistent labor they were successful, although the house was somewhat damaged. about six feet away, and by hard and persistent labor they were successful, although the house was somewhat damaged.

Mysterious Beath of Oscar A. Conrad, of Auburn Corners.

On Friday afternoon, Nov. B. Oscar A. Conrad son of Nelson A Conrad, was found dead a short distance from his horse a: Auburn, Busquehanna county. A charge from his gun had passed through his heart.

When found he was lying just outside of a large gate opening from the barnyard into a lane. The gun was a few feet from him, leaning against the fence, with the mustle downward on the sacund. Evidently there was no foul play, but whether it was accidental or suicide remains unknown. There was no one about the house but himself at the time, his father having gone to Dimmock that day.

The deceased was 55 years old and a man of excellent character. His family has been passing through the furnace of affliction. In April, 1891, the beloved mother died. Then, in February, 1894, a son died, and in November of the same year a daughter fell a victim of typhoid fever, and only a few days ago news came that their son, Loran, had died in Colorado with the same disease. While their hearts were sorrowing for this loved one came the dreadful blow of Oscar's mysterious and tragic death. This has almost overwhelmed the survivors of the family with uncontrolable grief, and has cast a shadow over the entire community.

NEW SCHOOL DEDICATED.

Very Interesting Exercises at No. 27 Building, Green Hidge. The interesting ceremony of dedicat-ing the new No. 27 school building in Green Ridge was carried out yesterday afternoon as had been arranged, ex-cepting the addresses of Mayor Connell and George Carson, president of the board of control; important business arrangements prevented their being present.

The school auditorium in which the exercises were held was decorated by many American flags, and its seating capacity was severely taxed to accommodate the pupils and the large number of their parents and friends. Superintendent of Schools Howell presided The exercises were opened by a recitation by Julia Hay. A drill by Com pany A. of the school brigade, followed. Then was executed a trombone solo by John Turn. . The dedicatory address was made by Superintendent Howell, who referred to the influence of American schools on the progress and substantiability of the country since its birth. The church. the school and patriotism, he remarked, were the three vital reasons for the magnificient position occupied by the United States among the nations of the world today, and he cited the fact that the schools were often as much the parents of the child, in a worldly sense, as were the parents themselves. In this connection he mentioned Lincoln, Grant, Washington and many others whose names are familiar to scholars. After singing "America," the building

Auditing Committee-A. B. Wright, R.

Mr. Fisher, of the committee of arrangements, reported that it had been about definitely decided that the annual dinner would take place on Friday, De cember 20, at the Terrace. Among the peakers for the occasion will be Rev. Dr. Nichols, of Binghamton; Assistant District Attorney Henry A. Fuller, of Wilkes-Barre; Theron G. Osborne, A. J. Colborn, and E. B. Sturges. It is also possible that Judge McCarthy, of the Superior court, will also be one of the speakers. Mr. Osborne, it is expected, rill read an original poem.

The question of changing the name of the organization from the New England oclety of Lackawnna county to the New England society of Northeastern Pennsylvania, which was requested by the Wilkes-Barreans who have applied for membership, was taken up and discussed at length, but action was postponed until next Friday night, when a special meeting will be called to conider the matter.

W. A. Wilcox and J. H. Fisher were appointed to draw up by-laws and secure a charter for the society. G. F. Whittemore and Charles H. Sanderson were admitted to membership.
