WEST SIDE EVENTS.

Business Transacted at Last Night's Meeting of the Board of Trade. Masquerade Social in Mears' Hall.

Thirteen members of the West Side board of trade met last evening and held a meeting which was a slight improvement on former sessions. President Mason was in the chair. A special committee appointed at the last meeting to attend to the Robinson street pave matter reported. Another conference will be held to-night with the Traction people. Secretary Daniels read a communication from the National board of trade in regard to the one cent postage movement. The circular was given in a recent issue of the Tribune. William Farrel moved that the board instruct our congressman to support the one cent postage measure. There was much dissent. Mr. Farr thought that the movement was detrimental to book publishers and newspapers. An amendment was carried to postpone action on the matter until the bill is introduced in congress.

A committee representing Lincoln avenue property owners were at the meeting in the interest of the Lincoln avenue grade. William Campion stated that only four property owners refuse to sign the release from damages. He wished the board's assistance on the mater. John Thomas, another property owner, spoke at length on the matter. City Engineer Phillips will take a corps of engineers to the street in question and the line of grade will be marked out for the benefit of the dissenters. In this way it is to be hoped that the property owners will come to an unanimous agreement. David Nichols, of Luzerne street, was elected to membership.

Pleasant Masquerade Social.

The Ariel club has the honor of conducting one of the greatest social events ever enjoyed on the West Side. It was a masquerade and was held last night in Mears' hall. Every type of humanity was represented in the different make-ups. Double-faced men, Indians, Mexicans, soldiers, ghosts, Spanish dancers, Japanese ladies, Chinamen, negroes, ball players, grandmamas, clowns, Scots, black friars, sailors; all and many more were represented in the gathering costumes. Every section of the city was represented and a most enjoyable time was spent. The members of the club wore Spanish costumes. Lou Cleaveland, at the door, enforced attention in a policeman suit of blue. Miss Nellie Curran furnished music for the dance to the satisfaction of all. Masks were thrown off at midnight. The club has a suite of rooms in Mears' hall which are artistically furnished.

SOUTH SIDE NEWS.

Young Boy Fatally Burned While Playing with Companions Who Set Fire to His Clothes Just for Fun.

John, the young son of Anthony McGinley, of 1219 Cedar avenue, was fatally burned yesterday morning about 10:30 o'clock by his clothes catching fire from lighted papers pinned to his back by some companions of his own age with whom he was playing on the street near his home. The boys were all about eight years of age and were romping around. Some of them pinned a newspaper to young McGinley and then lit it with a match. The fire communicated to the lad's clothes and he was enveloped in flames before the eyes of his affrighted companions.

Being only a short distance from the house, his folks were quickly on hand and the burning clothes were torn from his body. Dr. William Haggerty was sent for and attended to the boy, but it is almost a certainty that he cannot recover. His hands and face suffered the most and his back is badly burned.

Well-known Man Dead.

This morning at 9 o'clock the funeral of Hugh McGourty, late of Orchard street, will take place. A high mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Peter's cathedral and interment will be made in Hyde Park cemetery. The deceased passed away from this life Monday morning. He was born in Ireland in 1821 and was 74 years of age. He came to this country in 1847 and after spending some time in the South came to Scranton, thirty-five years ago. He followed the shoemaking trade and was well known on the South Side. Two daughters, Misses Kate and Mary McGourty, survive him. Other relatives are his sister, Mrs. Mary Mawn, of Irving avenue; Mrs. James Campbell and Mrs. Daniel Shovlin, of Wilkes-Barre, and two brothers, James and Thomas McGourty, of Wilkes-Barre.

Shorter Paragraphs of News.

On Friday evening a meeting of the Century Hose company will be held and officers will be nominated for the coming year.

Columbus Council, Young Men's Institute, has nominated the following officers: President, Richard Sheridan; recording secretary, Will Daniels; financial secretary, Martin F. Donahoe; treasurer, Patrick Ruddy; corresponding secretary, John B. O'Malley; marshal, James O'Connor. Rev. E. J. Melley, pastor of St. John's parish, is chaplain.

Larceny of a Shawl.

Sam Penkolsky and wife, Sophia, were last evening held to bail in the sum of $300 each by Alderman C. C. Donovan on the charge of larceny. The prosecutrix was Miss Margaret Brennan. They were accused of having wrongfully possessed themselves of a shawl and three pieces of dress goods owned by Miss Brennan.

SPORTING CHIT CHAT.

This is the way Peter Maher talks about the presentation to him of the heavy weight championship by James J. Corbett: "In offering me the championship 'Jim' Corbett thought he was doing me a big favor I dare say. But the championship cannot be given away. It must be fought for, and I propose to win it if I can. I would rather fight than go into the show business. I am not an actor and do not care to be called an actor. Some fighters can act—or think they can. I know I can't, and I do not intend to try to learn. I prefer to fight. I shall start early next month to train for my battle with Fitzsimmons. I am better fitted to meet him than I was when we first fought, so much better that there is no doubt in my mind as to the result of the engagement. I think I shall win this time, and in a very few rounds at that. I have learned how to box since I fought the New Zealander. This will be greatly in my favor and he will find my left hand quite as good as his own, or I am mistaken."

Ex-Pugilist Corbett has not yet got through talking, as the following shows:

"My sympathies are heartily with Maher in his match with Fitzsimmons," said Corbett. "I hope he'll beat that Australian's brains out. But if he does not I'll make Fitzsimmons fight for any amount of money he pleases or for a shoe string. I'll show that fellow up before I get through with him."

"But in case Fitzsimmons loses, what about Maher?" said the reporter.

"I intend to let Maher alone unless he makes cracks at me. In that case I'll have to call him, that's all. I don't care to enter the ring again, but I won't allow anyone to make bluffs in my direction."

The Melbourne, Australia, correspondent of the American Wheelman says that the great Australian wheel race, the blue ribbon event of the year, was won by Chrisp, of Tasmania, the dark horse road rider. This is the race that Zimmerman had intended to ride in, but at the last moment he was scratched. It is given as the reason that his demands were exorbitant and the committee refused to concede them. His entry had been sent in and accepted for this event, but he wanted a bonus besides, which was refused. This move, it is said, has made the American very unpopular among the Australians.

Charley Murphy is about to attempt the realization of his "mile-in-one-minute" dream. During the California trip Murphy was aproached by several railroad men, who want to make arrangements for the great ride. The Southern Pacific railroad intends to build an asphalt toll road from Los Angelos to Santa Monica. This path will be built between the railroad tracks. Murphy is confident that he can follow the engine at the speed required to make a mile in one minute. That this speed is possible has been demonstrated by paced quarters in .22.

NEW STORY BY DOYLE.

In Friday's Tribune will begin a new serial story by A. Conan Doyle, the acknowledged king of novelists. It is a powerful story of intrigue and adventure, entitled "How the Brigadier Played for a Kingdom," being an episode in the life of the Brigadier Gerard. This will be without doubt the best story we have yet printed. Don't fail to read the opening instalment.

IS PLAIN JIM BURWICK

He Comes Here to Talk Nightly to Railroad Men.

HIS RECORD IS INTERESTING

Is a Railroad Conductor Preaches Religion and Don't Like to Be Called a Novelty—Has a Method in His Work.

"Jim" Burwick is in Scranton. This announcement does not suggest any significance, perhaps, to those who have not heard of him, but his presence here is a matter of much importance to the railroad branch of the Young Men's Christian Association. He is here to address, each night, until Sunday, Dec. 29, a meeting of railroad men and their families.

"Jim" Burwick is a character; he is a novelty; he is unique; although he doesn't pose as any such thing, and, strangely, does not like to be mentioned as an evangelist, although his mission for several years in connection with his railroad work has been to talk religion to men of his own calling. Until eight months ago his speech-making trips brought him repute and fame only in the state of Indiana, but his power to do good among railroad men became known to the international committee of the Young Men's Christian Association and since the spring of the year the committee has kept him traveling about the country. In this connection, it is a curious fact that last July he resumed his work as freight conductor, which position is always open for him, but within six days he was called by the committee and has been kept on the jaunt ever since.

The story of "Jim" Burwick's early and hard life, reformation, experiences and present work is interesting, and what follows was willing revealed by him when interviewed by a Tribune reporter yesterday:

History of the Man.

He is forty-two years of age. When eighteen years old he ran away from a good home and became a "railroad man." His new home was in a saloon boarding house, where he contracted the common vices such as drinking and "bumming," as he expresses it, and lived the vicious and dare devil kind of an existence which might be expected to follow an absence from home influences and be associated with his rough and dangerous calling. He married and six years ago was converted.

His conversion came about in a peculiar way. The anniversary of his marriage would fall on Dec. 8, but as early as July he began to anticipate the celebration of the event "by means of a keg of beer, cards, rough companions and other ingredients that go with a high old blow-out." During November of that year he was inveigled into going to a church service. He had a horror for churches, but he had a love for music and went to church because good music was assured him. The rest may be inferred. He was converted and yesterday said: "The Lord fooled me about the beer and card picnic."

Following his reformation he delighted to talk religion to gatherings of railroaders and his efforts proved so productive of good that the officers of the railroad willingly granted him leave of absence to make addresses in many cities and towns. His work, as stated, became known to the international committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, and that accounts for his presence so far East. He will spend the holidays with his family in Detroit and will then visit cities in the state of New York.

His Method Is Simple.

In reply to a question concerning his method of talking to railroad men, he said: "I simply tell of Jesus Christ. I have no title of 'Rev,' 'Dr.' or 'Evangelist;' I am none of these—I am plain 'Jim' Burwick, a railroader, and as such can talk to railroad men and gain their confidence. Now we boys have a vernacular of our own and we like to be talked to by someone who can talk in our own peculiar tongue. Goodness knows, I haven't the slightest idea of good grammar, but I know the phrases, slang and language of the railroad and I am perfectly natural when speaking from a railroader's standpoint to railroad men. Now in a political campaign you wouldn't expect a slum orator with seedy clothes, bad grammar and his vernacular to influence an audience of voters in a fashionable district; neither would you expect a gathering of laboring men to be influenced by a mass of elegance, figures and theory dished out to them by a kid gloved fellow. Just so in my calling; I know the men I'm talking to and I know Jesus Christ and in introducing the man to Him I don't have as much trouble as would some better dressed and better educated chap. See the point?

"A peculiar incident happened recently in Elmira. It illustrates how little seriousness might be given my addresses to cultured and educated folks, when railroad men would under the same circumstances understand the thought I meant to convey. I was telling about David's jealousy of one who had been successful in a worldly sense but who was a wicked man. I said 'and David didn't have enough clothes on him to flag a train.'

Audience Thought It Was Funny.

"The audience thought that a very funny remark and went into a gale of laughter—the boys would have thought it a very good illustration and might have smiled, but they would have known how little fabric it requires to flag a train and would have appreciated David's poverty. That's my way, that's all.

"No I don't intersperse funny stories, anecdotes or witty sayings into my addresses to the boys; I don't have to. I just tell them what they should or should not do and use the Bible for my authority. I don't like to be known as anybody or anything but plain 'Jim' Burwick—that's all I am. The boys I talk to are the same as me—but maybe I'm more fortunate than those of them who don't know Jesus Christ."

Burwick is a strongly built man of average height, smooth shaven and has a deep, sympathetic and pleasant voice. He dresses no better and no worse than might any railroad man one meets off duty. His countenance reveals a kind heart, but bears the marks of a hard life and exposure.

The opening meeting was last night well attended by railroad men and their families. The meetings will be held at 7:30 o'clock each night until Sunday, Dec. 29 and on Sunday afternoons at 3:45 o'clock. The Saturday night meetings will be for men only.

AGED WOMAN'S FATAL FALL.

Slip of the Foot Terminates a Ninety Years' Life Battle.

Mrs. Anthony Walsh, of Leggett's street, Providence, who had just passed her ninetieth year, sustained a fall which resulted in her death on Monday night. She suffered a broken arm and slight internal injuries which, owing to her enfeebled state, soon terminated fatally.

She was one of the oldest residents of the North End and had hoped to live to see her hundredth year. The funeral will take place tomorrow from her late home. Interment will be made in Dunmore.

Extreme Prostration From Fevers

of every description, especially typhoid, is the doctor's fear and the patient's danger; medicine is of but little avail, sufficient nourishment to create new strength to carry the patient over the crisis is what is necessary, a persuading of the great machinery of the body to go on with its work is the end sought after; hence physicians recommend that greatest of concentrated food preparations, that creator of strength, maker of flesh tissue, and blood enricher, which, putting the vital organs in their normal condition, enables them to dispel disease. Dr. G. Curson Young of Phillipsburgh, N. J., says, "I have used Bovinine with great satisfaction. One case, an old lady of seventy years, convalescing from typhoid fever, but very slowly, gastric irritation complicated with extreme prostration gave but a faint hope of recovery. I gave her Bovinine, —a complete restoration to health followed."
