SAVED THEIR HUSBANDS Heroic Action of the Women Shopping Parties Arranged Yesterday. THEY ADMITTED THEIR GUILT But They Took That Step Only After They Had Been Assured That the Charges Against Their Husbands Would Be Dismissed. Mercy is not strained when leniency is accorded to such cases as the one which came up in court yesterday afternoon. Johann Locarzo, Bunaro Lodato, and Sarta Lodata, the three Italian women charged with stealing from the stores of Langstaff & Perry, Collins & Hackett, Goldsmith's Bazaar, the Globe Warehouse, and Finley's Boston store, were sentenced by Judge Gunster to a year each in the county jail. Last summer Chief of Police Simpson arrested these women and their husbands, Peter Spota, Andrew Lodato, and Philip Lodato, at their homes in Green Ridge, and about $1,500 worth of goods were unearthed in the cellar and from the garret. The six persons were sent to jail in default of bail and were incarcerated in the little child of Mrs. Spota, or Locarzo as she is called in the indictment, died. When the case was called yesterday afternoon a jury was sworn and there were five charges of larceny and receiving against each defendant. Attorneys John T. Martin and George S. Horn represented the defendants. However, before the case was opened a compromise was effected and the three women entered pleas of guilty after receiving assurance that their husbands should be declared not guilty. The Women's Self Sacrifices. This self-sacrifice on the part of the poor women for their many wrongs have been effected and the three women entered pleas of guilty after receiving assurance that their husbands should be declared not guilty. The woman came forward, two of them with suckling infants, and they were given seats before the bench. Attorney Martin made a plea to the court in which he told of the death of the little child of one of the unfortunate women. He asked the court to be as lenient as possible and consider that they have been already a long period in jail, and that now in this month, when all the world is thinking of peace on earth, is an opportunity to let the women be free from the burden of the law. Judge Gunster, before passing sentence, said that if the men had been found guilty he would not hesitate to send them to the penitentiary for the full term allowed by law. In exercising clemency toward the women he would have to take into consideration the fact that they were in the company of the women broken down completely and cried. The poor women were weeping from the time they were brought before the court. him. The Lackawanna hospital ambulance was sent for and the injured man was taken there, where he remained for a long time hovering between life and death. Lefcofski and Kessler were committed to jail. When McCloskey recovered they were released on bail. Kessler immediately sued for the hand of Miss Yankowski and was received with favor. They were married soon afterward. The defense will maintain that McCloskey was drunk at the picnic and that the assault was committed in self defense. It Was Another Scandal. Gerome Scalo, of Carbondale, not the man who tried to blow up Gabriel Pugliano's house with dynamite, was tried on two charges, felonious attempt, and carrying concealed weapons. H. P. Willis, watchman in the Delaware and Hudson yard at Carbondale, was the prosecutor. The jury found Scalo guilty of carrying concealed weapons and of wantonly discharging a firearm, which is the third count in the other indictment. One Sunday last August a number of Italians congregated on the company's property. Mr. Willis undertook to disperse them and was greeted with a hail of pistol shots by Mr. Scalo. The defendant tried to prove an alibi, saying that he was at a friend's house when the shooting is said to have occurred. He produced three witnesses, who were not believed in their company engaged in a quiet game of cards, but the jury did not credit the defense and found the man guilty. Simon Kolmosky, of Old Forge, was acquitted of assault and battery and carrying a pistol, but he was directed to pay the costs. Mrs. Mary Tracey was the prosecutrix. An Easter Monday Christening. A term of quarter sessions court within the past three years would have been an anomaly without several cases being effected and the three women entered pleas of guilty after receiving assurance that their husbands should be declared not guilty. The woman came forward, two of them with suckling infants, and they were given seats before the bench. Attorney Martin made a plea to the court in which he told of the death of the little child of one of the unfortunate women. LAND TO BE TRANSFERRED Traction Company Agrees to Deed Its Robison Street Right to City. NO STRING ATTACHED TO IT The Company Will Give the Land to the City in Exchange for a Right of Way in the Centre of the Street. The Scranton Traction company, through its attorney, Horace E. Hand, yesterday afternoon announced that it will make an absolute and unqualified conveyance of their Robison street land. At the request of the West Side board of trade committee the company agreed to allow their demand for double privileges on Robison street to come up as an after consideration. This was brought about at a conference in the West Side bank parlors yesterday at noon. The parlors of Wednesday night's conference were all present and besides these T. F. Mason, president of the board of trade, E. M. Clark, one of the foremost members, and Superintendent R. E. Fox, of the Traction company, attended. The company contended that it could not give a first-class service to the West Side unless a double track right of way is secured and asked the committee to give its approval to the project. This the committee declined to do. Some of the members favored it, but as a body the committee did not want to go on record under the feeling of the people was ascertained. Different Propositions Discussed. Various propositions for bettering the service were discussed. A double track as far as Ninth street and a belt line over Ninth to Sweetland and thence down main to the different connections, returning to Lackawanna avenue by the present route. Vice President Clark agreed that this might be an improvement, but argued that it did not solve the question of a first-class service. What he firmly believed to be necessary is a double track road from Franklin avenue to Luzerne street. The committee would not give an expression of opinion on any of the company's propositions which called for double tracks, and insisted on a separation of the double-track question and the question of conveying to the city the Robison street strip of land. Unqualified Transfer of the Land. After a short consultation the Traction people authorized Mr. Hand to announce the company's willingness to make an unqualified transfer and at this the conference broke up after a vote of thanks had been tendered the officials for their action. MR. VAUGHAN'S STATEMENT. Has Not Been Requested to Call the Democratic City Committee Together. "I have not been requested to call a meeting of the Democratic city committee," said D. W. Vaughan yesterday, "and the published statement to that effect was misleading. There is a good reason why the committee should be called at this time but if a meeting is desired I am perfectly willing to issue the call." "Up to date I have not been approached by any one interested in having the committee meet and so far as I know no one has yet authoritatively announced himself as a candidate for a Democratic nomination for a city office." M. A. Goodwin of Green Ridge, was chairman of the Democratic city committee that conducted the campaign of three years ago. Mr. Goodwin is not now a resident of the city and Mr. Vaughan who was chairman before, comes acting chairman of the committee. SECOND CHAMBER CONCERT. It Was a Beethoven Night in Honor of the Great Composer's Anniversary. The second of the series of Chamber concerts was given at the Young Men's Christian association hall last night and was a success in every respect. Every seat in the house was taken and the audience was fairly representative of society. Professional musicians, musical critics and lovers of music generally were present to listen to Beethoven music rendered by Wilkes-Barre's best talent and local performers of note on the string instruments. It was Beethoven music and the concert was commemorative of the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the famous composer, which will take place on December 17. Three of his works were interpreted. The first was a trio, op. 97 in B flat Major in five movements. Theodore Hemberger, first violin; T. H. Ripard, "cello" and J. Willis Conant, pianist, were the performers. They seemed to have caught the inspiration of the master work in the very

The company has degenerated since last seen in the city and the performance as on the former appearance of the company here, if the work of Bassett Willard be excepted. Mr. Willard's work was admirable. The drama is well staged and there is an amusing comedy sketch in the last act. "The Engineer" will be repeated at Davis' this and tomorrow afternoons and evenings. He asked the court to be as lenient as possible and consider that they have been already a long period in jail, and that now in this month, when all the world is thinking of peace on earth, is an opportunity to let the women be free from the burden of the law. Judge Gunster, before passing sentence, said that if the men had been found guilty he would not hesitate to send them to the penitentiary for the full term allowed by law. In exercising clemency toward the women he would have to take into consideration the fact that they were in the company of the women broken down completely and cried. The poor women were weeping from the time they were brought before the court.

LAND TO BE TRANSFERRED Traction Company Agrees to Deed Its Robison Street Right to City. NO STRING ATTACHED TO IT The Company Will Give the Land to the City in Exchange for a Right of Way in the Centre of the Street. The Scranton Traction company, through its attorney, Horace E. Hand, yesterday afternoon announced that it will make an absolute and unqualified conveyance of their Robison street land. At the request of the West Side board of trade committee the company agreed to allow their demand for double privileges on Robison street to come up as an after consideration. This was brought about at a conference in the West Side bank parlors yesterday at noon. The parlors of Wednesday night's conference were all present and besides these T. F. Mason, president of the board of trade, E. M. Clark, one of the foremost members, and Superintendent R. E. Fox, of the Traction company, attended. The company contended that it could not give a first-class service to the West Side unless a double track right of way is secured and asked the committee to give its approval to the project. This the committee declined to do. Some of the members favored it, but as a body the committee did not want to go on record under the feeling of the people was ascertained. Different Propositions Discussed. Various propositions for bettering the service were discussed. A double track as far as Ninth street and a belt line over Ninth to Sweetland and thence down main to the different connections, returning to Lackawanna avenue by the present route. Vice President Clark agreed that this might be an improvement, but argued that it did not solve the question of a first-class service. What he firmly believed to be necessary is a double track road from Franklin avenue to Luzerne street. The committee would not give an expression of opinion on any of the company's propositions which called for double tracks, and insisted on a separation of the double-track question and the question of conveying to the city the Robison street strip of land. Unqualified Transfer of the Land. After a short consultation the Traction people authorized Mr. Hand to announce the company's willingness to make an unqualified transfer and at this the conference broke up after a vote of thanks had been tendered the officials for their action. MR. VAUGHAN'S STATEMENT. Has Not Been Requested to Call the Democratic City Committee Together. "I have not been requested to call a meeting of the Democratic city committee," said D. W. Vaughan yesterday, "and the published statement to that effect was misleading. There is a good reason why the committee should be called at this time but if a meeting is desired I am perfectly willing to issue the call." "Up to date I have not been approached by any one interested in having the committee meet and so far as I know no one has yet authoritatively announced himself as a candidate for a Democratic nomination for a city office." M. A. Goodwin of Green Ridge, was chairman of the Democratic city committee that conducted the campaign of three years ago. Mr. Goodwin is not now a resident of the city and Mr. Vaughan who was chairman before, comes acting chairman of the committee. SECOND CHAMBER CONCERT. It Was a Beethoven Night in Honor of the Great Composer's Anniversary. The second of the series of Chamber concerts was given at the Young Men's Christian association hall last night and was a success in every respect. Every seat in the house was taken and the audience was fairly representative of society. Professional musicians, musical critics and lovers of music generally were present to listen to Beethoven music rendered by Wilkes-Barre's best talent and local performers of note on the string instruments. It was Beethoven music and the concert was commemorative of the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the famous composer, which will take place on December 17. Three of his works were interpreted. The first was a trio, op. 97 in B flat Major in five movements. Theodore Hemberger, first violin; T. H. Ripard, "cello" and J. Willis Conant, pianist, were the performers. They seemed to have caught the inspiration of the master work in the very

THE ENGINEER AT DAVIS' Will Be Repeated To-day and Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening. "The Engineer" opened its return engagement at Davis' Theater yesterday afternoon. The company has degenerated since last seen in the city and the performance as on the former appearance of the company here, if the work of Bassett Willard be excepted. Mr. Willard's work was admirable. The drama is well staged and there is an amusing comedy sketch in the last act. "The Engineer" will be repeated at Davis' this and tomorrow afternoons and evenings. PRINTING. Because you have never favored The Tribune Job department with a trial of your work, we do not promise you should persist in thus ignoring us. We do not promise good work at ruinous prices. The greater the knowledge of any class of work, the surer you are of paying the legitimate price for a living price. And you will get what you pay for. This is honest dealing. We do not claim to do costly printing at low prices. We honestly believe that no other printing house can do better printing than we can. We want more work. Will you give us a trial. MARRIED. DAVIS-HAVARD—in the Hampton Street Methodist Episcopal parsonage, Dec. 11, 1895, by Rev. P. P. Doty, Edgar Davis and Miss Tillie Havard, of Scranton. DIED. COYNE—in Old Forge, Dec. 11, 1895, Mrs. P. S. Coyne. Funeral will be held Saturday morning at 10.30. Interment in Minicoke cemetery. TRAINING IS EVERYTHING Mark Twain says "education is nothing but cabbage with a college education." That's about the difference at the present time between made to order and ready made clothing. The name's different, but as far as practical service and actual appearance are concerned it would take an expert to tell one from the other—if we sell you the ready made. We've made a reputation in this line and couldn't care less how so, had we not had better goods to offer than the other fellows—and lower prices. We've a stock of goods that an artist would revel in—full of pleasing colors and suggestive suggestions of the latest fashion plates. Which Will You Have? Not where shall you buy—will be the question to decide after you've paid a visit. You'll see what you like right at the start, and the further you look the more that you like will you see. The prices will be right—we've attended to that; marked them low enough to have no question about the selling. And the plain folks—say, the neat, the sturdy, will be found here in great variety and to suit any taste.

SAVED THEIR HUSBANDS Heroic Action of the Women Shopping Parties Arranged Yesterday. THEY ADMITTED THEIR GUILT But They Took That Step Only After They Had Been Assured That the Charges Against Their Husbands Would Be Dismissed. Mercy is not strained when leniency is accorded to such cases as the one which came up in court yesterday afternoon. Johann Locarzo, Bunaro Lodato, and Sarta Lodata, the three Italian women charged with stealing from the stores of Langstaff & Perry, Collins & Hackett, Goldsmith's Bazaar, the Globe Warehouse, and Finley's Boston store, were sentenced by Judge Gunster to a year each in the county jail. Last summer Chief of Police Simpson arrested these women and their husbands, Peter Spota, Andrew Lodato, and Philip Lodato, at their homes in Green Ridge, and about $1,500 worth of goods were unearthed in the cellar and from the garret. The six persons were sent to jail in default of bail and were incarcerated in the little child of Mrs. Spota, or Locarzo as she is called in the indictment, died. When the case was called yesterday afternoon a jury was sworn and there were five charges of larceny and receiving against each defendant. Attorneys John T. Martin and George S. Horn represented the defendants. However, before the case was opened a compromise was effected and the three women entered pleas of guilty after receiving assurance that their husbands should be declared not guilty. The Women's Self Sacrifices. This self-sacrifice on the part of the poor women for their many wrongs have been effected and the three women entered pleas of guilty after receiving assurance that their husbands should be declared not guilty. The woman came forward, two of them with suckling infants, and they were given seats before the bench. Attorney Martin made a plea to the court in which he told of the death of the little child of one of the unfortunate women. He asked the court to be as lenient as possible and consider that they have been already a long period in jail, and that now in this month, when all the world is thinking of peace on earth, is an opportunity to let the women be free from the burden of the law. Judge Gunster, before passing sentence, said that if the men had been found guilty he would not hesitate to send them to the penitentiary for the full term allowed by law.
