TO POPULARIZE THE ARTS

Plan Under Discussion to Establish a College in This City. COL. FAIRMAN THE PROMOTER His Plan Differs Essentially from That Followed in Similar Institutions Throughout Country—Favors a Compulsory Curriculum.

A movement has for several weeks been quietly conducted tending toward the establishment in this city of a college of arts. It has reached a point where a number of prominent and influential men have become interested and on Monday night of next week the matter will assume definite shape. The original promoter of the idea is Colonel James Fairman, A. M., of New York city, an artist of international reputation, who has periodically made this city his home. It is a peculiar fact that no college of fine arts in this or any other country with a prescribed and compulsory curriculum. There are many colleges of music, sculpture, painting or oral culture combining several or all of these branches, but none have an established curriculum which prevents students from coming and going at will. The plan in view for Scranton involves a combination of the four arts mentioned.

It is proposed to style the institution the Pennsylvania College of Fine Arts. Already an indefinite understanding has been reached with the officers of the University of Pennsylvania tending toward a plan whereby bachelor degrees will be bestowed by the university, thus giving the degrees an éclat which would not be possible through the proposed and newer institution. Make Up of the Board of Regents. Nine prominent Scranton men have been suggested to compose a board of regents. One is from the Green Ridge section, one from the North End, two from the West Side and five from the central part of the city. The Catholic, Episcopal, Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist beliefs and professional and business callings, thus insuring against a preponderance of any one sect or element on the board. Their identities have been made known to The Tribune, but cannot, for obvious reasons, be disclosed until after the project assumes a more assured form.

In order to test the spirit of the public, a meeting will, on Monday night, meet and consult with the members of the manufactures committee of the board of trade, when, possibly, all or a few of the men proposed for the board of regents will be present. It is not intended to solicit the board of trade to wholly father the movement, but it is felt that the opinion of such men as Luther Keller, William Connell, W. T. Smith, W. H. Peck, Joseph Levy, F. W. Martin and J. A. Lansing, of the manufactures committee, very nearly represent the pulse of the people and their approval or disapproval of the plan may decide its future.

Propose to Issue Scholarships. An institution of that kind will not be patronized by its supporters cannot hope for support by others, is a fact that is appreciated by Colonel Fairman and his co-workers in the present instance. So, if the project matures, it is intended to issue scholarships for $100 each to a list of patrons and to be bestowed by them as they deem proper. Assuming that there will be twenty-five patrons and patronesses, $2,500 would at the start be received for the same number of students. The owners of the college and vicinity would supply 100 pupils at $150 each the total tuition fees would, with the scholarships, amount to $17,500.

In connection with the college, an art gallery has been suggested. The owners of the good paintings and who are interested in the college project have already expressed their willingness to contribute to the gallery as many as thirty high-grade works of art. While the gallery is to be associated with the college, the plan is to make it free to the public. Whatever may be the outcome of the idea, its promoters are sanguine of success and many believe the nucleus will be made for a fine institution whose fame will soon become more than local.

NOW IT IS TAYLOR BOROUGH

Property Owners of That Place Are Asking for Damages. Before C. B. Gardner, Charles F. Koempel and Constable Frank Bates, arbitrators, there was a hearing yesterday afternoon in the arbitration room where the damages suits brought by the property owners residing between Union street and Jermy avenue on Main street, Taylor borough, against the borough for damages alleged by the grading of the thoroughfare in pursuance of an ordinance passed by the borough council. On Dec. 5 the arbitrators went to Taylor and viewed the properties. The session yesterday was the first one where testimony was taken, and there were present upwards of fifty citizens of Taylor, some waiting to be sworn and others there from curiosity. Attorneys John P. Kelley, James E. Watkins and Watson & Zimmerman represented the plaintiffs, and the borough was represented by the solicitor, Assistant District Attorney John M. Harris and City Solicitor J. H. Torrey. Attorney C. A. Battenberg took stenographic notes of the testimony.

The damages asked for run between $50 and $1,000. There are about thirty residents of the borough asking for damages.

HIS PARDON RECOMMENDED

Stephen De Aynia Will Probably Soon Be a Free Man. Stephen De Aynia's murder of his wife on Lackawanna avenue in this city was at that time and during the progress of his trial considered very cold blooded and the jury's verdict of murder in the second degree was received with little satisfaction by many. He shot his wife, Ida May De Aynia, Oct. 15, 1890, in the May House, conducted by her father, M. D. May, at 36 Lackawanna avenue, and she died within a few minutes. In pronouncing the sentence, Judge Connolly, who presided at the January, 1891, said: "You committed a foul, cold-blooded, deliberate and cow-

IS WANTED IN BROOKLYN

William Atkins Arrested at the Instance of the Government. CHARGE MADE AGAINST HIM It is Alleged That He Used the Mails for Unlawful Purposes—Explanation That the Prisoner Makes Concerning the Matter.

William Atkins, alias Pideout, wanted in Brooklyn, N. Y., for fraudulently using the United States mails and halting, was picked up on Wyoming avenue last night, by Patrolman Dyer on the strength of a telegram from the United States attorney at Brooklyn. He was locked up in the station house and will be taken back to Brooklyn this afternoon. Atkins is a fine appearing, well-educated young man, not over 28 years of age. He is married and his wife is at present in this city, having joined him here about two months ago. He has been in Scranton since June, working in the insurance business under his alias, but to the intimate friends he has made he did not hesitate to reveal his real identity, and the circumstances which brought him here.

He has been in Scranton since June, working in the insurance business under his alias, but to the intimate friends he has made he did not hesitate to reveal his real identity, and the circumstances which brought him here. No small amount of surprise was occasioned by his arrest, and during the evening he had visitors at his cell door almost continuously till a late hour. The charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes was preferred against Atkins by a West Virginia farmer, who claimed to have been swindled by a circular which Atkins sent out, in which a small sewing machine was offered for $6.50.

Did Not Get the Machine. The West Virginia man alleged that he sent on the $6.50, but never received the machine, and on his complaint the federal authorities arrested Atkins in Scranton. The trial was set for March 2, but as the prosecutor failed to appear the case was continued and Atkins was placed under $500 bail to appear when the case was again called. Later in the same month the case was again called and again a continuance was had on account of the absence of the complainant.

A short time afterwards, when the matter again brought up in court, the defendant was ordered to be confined. When Atkins brought his wife on here the authorities got a clue to his whereabouts and following it up succeeded in locating him and causing his arrest last night. Atkins states that he is entirely innocent of the charge of fraud, but admits jumping his bail. He admits that he issued the circulars advertising the sewing machines and claims that he only sold three, one of which was to the West Virginia man. He further asserts that he shipped the machine upon the receipt of the order, but he lost all proof when on account of his ill success he destroyed the circulars, freight receipts and other papers pertaining to the business.

MISS ALLEN'S FAREWELL

eightful Recital and Social in the Bicycle Club House. In the Bicycle club house last evening a large assemblage of the friends and admirers of Miss Julia Allen gathered to witness the farewell appearance of this talented young lady, and to spend a few hours together in her honor prior to her departure. As previously announced, Miss Allen will leave early next month for New York, where she will enter the National Conservatory of Music, having secured a scholarship there in the last annual competitive examination. On numerous occasions in this city Miss Allen has delighted large audiences with her superb voice and delightful readings, and to gratify the wishes of her many admirers last evening's recital was arranged.

Miss Allen very graciously bore the brunt of the entertaining herself, rendering three vocal numbers and two readings. She opened with "Bach's 'Ave-Maria,'" with violin obligato by F. H. Widmayer, and piano accompaniment by Professor R. H. Lindsay. As a contrast she followed with "Silent Song," by Birch. Her next selection was "The Rose Tree," by Bach, with violin obligato by F. H. Widmayer, and piano accompaniment by Professor R. H. Lindsay. As a contrast she followed with "Silent Song," by Birch. Her next selection was "The Rose Tree," by Bach, with violin obligato by F. H. BLOCK IS REPRIMANDED

The Mayor's Decision Executed by Chief Patrolman Joseph Block. Patrolman Joseph Block has been reprimanded. According to the decision of Mayor Connell following the investigation of the charge of Rev. Dr. Robinson's reprimand was administered by Chief of Police Simpson at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the headquarters room in the city hall and in the presence of the patrolmen and ranking officers of the force. Whatever embarrassment may have been caused Block, it was lessened by the remarks of the chief to the whole assemblage. He intimated that the accused officer was possibly not the only one who had been wrong in carrying on indiscreet conversation and said the recent episode of the inquiry should be a warning to them and impress them with the fact that the eye of the public was upon them. Their dignity and command of respect, he said, were two sure mediums of attracting the support rather than the criticism of the public. A caution was held out against their talking with idle characters.

MERRY WORLD LAST NIGHT.

Audience That Saw It at the Frothingham Was Highly Pleased. "The Merry World," which was seen here a few weeks ago, was reproduced last night at the Frothingham before a well pleased audience. The burlesque on "Madame Sans-Gene" and "Tribby" were clever and enjoyable and another entertaining feature of the programme was the selections sung from many of the popular operas of the day. A number of entertaining specialties completed the attractive programme.
