TRANSFER CO. TROUBLE.

Wyoming House Starts Its Own Passenger und Baggage Wagons.

There has been trouble between the Union Transfer company and Proprietor F. R. White, of the Wyoming House, and yesterday the hotel began running two busses and a baggage wagon to and from all trains. The drivers of the hotel rigs were formerly imployed by the Transfer company.

Proprietor White's grievance was manifested two months or more ago when he charged the company officials with not having fulfilled their agree meat to meet all trains in the inter est of the Wyoming House, and to give its guests preference in all requests for immediate transit of person or baggage. The company, it is claimed promised reform, but there was further differences with Proprietor White, who final y gave notice that he would yesterday run his own conveyances.

One of the two new busses ordered for the hotel was pressed into service yesterday. It is built Herdic fashion, with the body close to the pavement, and chiefly supported from a pair of large tear wheels, whose axles rest almost beneath the center of the body. The passenger entrance is at the rear through a double door, and is only one step from the pavement.

It was reported yesterday that the Hotel Jermyn, when completed, will also conduct its own passenger and baggage transfer.

Wife Benter Arrested for Deserting Ille Wife and Family-Conneilmen Indignant About the Anonymous Letter.

Thomas Collins, of the Twentieth ward, was arrested yesterday at the instance of his wife on the charge of desertion and abusing her and he was prought before Alderman C. C. Donovan, of the Twelfth ward, where he entered ball for his appearance at the next term of court. Mrs. Collins complained that her husband had treated her very brutally and neglects to pro- lovely. ride for herself or their family, making their existence a miserable one. A few days ago he drove her out of the house because she spoke to him about the inhumanity of his conduct.

Councilmen Are Very Indignant. At the meeting last week of the South Side board of trade, Secretary M. J. O'Toole had in his possession an an-onymous letter sent in by one signing nimself "An Interested Citizen," the contents of the epistle being an uncomplimentary allusion to the methods of expending the ward appropriations for street repairs as that work is at pres ent done under the supervision of the ouncilman of the respective wards, and alleging that the money used is no better than wasted by the public servants Councilman P. J. Hickey, of the Nine teenth ward, accuses Mr. Maloney, of the board, as the writer of the anonynous missive and invites him or any other person concerned to inspect the pay roll of the ward and see whether or not it is stuffed, presuming that the person has kept track of the men employed on the street and knows who worked and who didn't, Councilman Battle, of the Twentleth, and in fact been seriously ill is recovering rapidly at all of the South Side councilmen, fee more or less exercised about the letter They believe that no man who undertakes to criticise them should do so from behind a screen, let him come out in the

THE SLAVES OF SIN.

Familiar Play Receives Good Interpretation at the Academy.

"The Slaves of Sin," alias "Fablo Romain," alias "The Vendetta," drew tears and applause from on high at the Academy of Music last night. There was no sympathy in the domain of the god for the deceltful friend and the faithless wife. Henry Festa and Jere McAuliff were apitally cast, and much of the applause of the evening was showered upon their willing heads. Mr. Shea, of course, was prominent in his creation of the injured count, and J. seph T. Greene was a handsome and calculating villain. Miss Nesmith as the false wife, and Miss Hyland as the unfortunat Nilletta, portrayed diverging types with good dramatic sense.

SPORTING CHIT CHAT.

Concerning the Titus-Cabanne-Mur phy suspension case, Frederick Gerlach, the Chicago member of the racing board, says: "I feel sure, from the evidence presented, that no just man could have made any other decision than the one arrived at. The sentence imposed doubtless seems a heavy one, but it must be borne in mind that cycle racing must be kept pure, and that a hundred inces of the kind might have occurred before we were able to get the proof in one. The severity of the sentence will serve as a warning to others as to what they may expect if they attempt any similar actions. Of course, it may be possible that the men are not guilty, but we had nothing but the evidence submitted on which to decide. If Cab-anne has been unjustly treated, his best plan is not to begin action, but to get together the evidence proving his inno cence and to submit it to the National Assembly. This he has not done. I do not think any one cares to see the men unduly punished, but an example was necessary.

Daniel Shannon,manager of the Rochester Base Ball team, has given out the following official list of Rochester's team for next season: Catchers, Frank Boyd, of last year's Detroit team, a player of well known excellence; White, who was alternate catcher last year; first base, C. Dooley, a veteran, who has played on many of the big teams, among them the New York Giants; third base, Mulvey; left field, Daly, of last year team; Johnson, of Troy, who played for a time with Scranton last year, will play in the field. Mount Clair, N. J., Dec. 19.-Albert H. Murray, a barber, was to have been married to Miss Annie Good on Saturday night, but the wedding did not take place. The guests, who had assembled in the Union Baptist church, were astonished when the groom-to-be announced that the wedding had been postponed. In explanation he produced a telegram, dated at Newark, from Miss Good, which declared that she was ill and could not reach home. Murray went to Newark, but could not find the young woman, and returned in no amiable frame of mind. He had rented a small cottage and furnished it in expectation of his approaching marriage. On Monday the furniture was sold at auction in Newark. Yesterday morning Miss Good returned from Newark and declared that she had changed her mind about getting married. "I can do that, can't I?" she asked.
