

Take Them Away At Your Own Price

As we've no earthly use for them.

As was to be expected, we've a sprinkling of holiday goods left over--odd things in this and that--that are not worth carrying over, even if we felt inclined to do so.

Get In Early

And get your share of the plunder.

GLOBE WAREHOUSE

THE REVENUE BILL PASSED

Democrats Oppose the Measure with Usual Assurance.

DESIRED TIME TO DEBATE

The Average Democratic Congressman Insists that the Bill Passed for Temporary Relief is a Tariff Revision--Result of the Vote.

Washington, Dec. 26.--By a vote of 265 to 81, the house at 5.30 o'clock this afternoon passed the bill reported by Mr. Dingley from the committee on ways and means, to temporarily increase revenue to meet the expenses of the government and to provide against a deficiency. The vote was on strictly party lines, the Populists voting with the Democrats against the bill.

The bill was presented to the house immediately after the reading of the journal, and then Mr. Henderson reported a resolution from the committee on rules, providing for debate on the bill until 5 o'clock, a vote to be then taken on its passage. In anticipation of this programme the galleries were crowded to the doors, even the diplomatic gallery being occupied by a representation of the official foreign colonies residing in Washington. The floor was over 300 members of the house, and interspersed among them several senators who were interested in the proceedings.

When this had been disposed of, there remained three and one-half hours for the discussion of the bill itself. The debate was participated in by the Republicans by Messrs. Dingley, Dainell, Hopkins (Ill.), Grosvenor (Ohio), Arnold (Pa.), Knox (Mass.), and Dooliver (Ia.) in support of the bill, and by Messrs. Crisp, Wheeler (Ala.), McMillan (Tenn.), Dockery (Mo.), and Turner (Ga.) Democrats, and Bell (Pop. Dakota) against the bill.

The opposition was largely on the theory that the remedy proposed--an increase of revenue--was not what was needed; that there was money enough in the treasury to meet all claims for two or three years to come, even if the present rate of deficit were maintained. It was also contended that the bill was a general revision of the tariff.

Republicans insisted that more revenue was the key of the situation and denied that the bill was in any sense a general tariff measure. It did not represent Republican ideas on that subject at all, so was intended only as a temporary revenue measure to meet a pressing exigency; and its passage was advocated on the high ground of patriotic duty in the hour of the Republic's peril.

DISAPPROVE OF BOND BILL

Conference of Republican Representatives Held Last Night. Washington, Dec. 26.--The conference of Republican representatives who disapprove of the bond bill prepared by the ways and means committee was well attended tonight. While the majority of those present were Western men, there will be also a fair sprinkling of Eastern Republicans. The conference was held at the Ebbitt house. It was not a conference of silver Republicans. Many gentlemen representing free silver views were in attendance on the question of silver was brought to the attention of the meeting which included also a number of sound money Republicans.

The forty Republicans represented twenty-five states. Representative Broderick, of Kansas, was chairman. The purpose of the conference was to determine a plan of action in regard to the rule which will be reported from the committee on rules tomorrow fixing the time for which the bond bill will pass. It was announced by the committee before the house meets, that this measure would be passed tomorrow before the house adjournment, presumably with no longer debate than was given to the tariff bill today. This hasty action was manifestly in accordance with the conference. The speeches made by the members showed a unanimous sentiment in opposition to the requirement of a two-thirds vote. They indicated a belief that the bill in question permits this and that the amendment which Hopkins of Illinois will try to secure in the ways and means committee tomorrow before the house meets, will not successfully prevent it. The conference further showed that it was not advisable for the United States to issue bonds in time of peace and under no circumstances should the greenbacks be retired at least in the manner proposed. After a long debate it was decided that the committee on rules should be requested to bring in a rule providing a reasonable time for the discussion of the bond bill and the amendments. It was thought that two days would be the shortest time in which this could be done and three days would be still more acceptable.

A committee was appointed to confer with the committee on rules. No resolutions of any character were adopted by the conference which had been called simply to secure an expression of views concerning the bond bill and whose action, it was felt, ought not to be binding on any of its members.

LIVED TO BE OVER 100.

Remarkable Longevity of Members of an Irish Family. Nashua, N. H., Dec. 26.--Mrs. Hannah Livett, the oldest person in this state, died today. She was born in Kilmory, County Kerry, Ireland, on June 11, 1788, and therefore had completed nearly 107 years. She came to this country a widow 47 years ago, bringing twelve children, but only one survives. Her brother died a few years since, aged 105, and her ten brothers and one sister, with a single exception, all lived to be over ninety years old.

Plymouth, Mass., Dec. 26.--Mrs. Mary Morry, the oldest resident here, died this morning at the age of 101 years and four months. Shortly after reaching her twenty-second year she married Ichabod Morry, who died in 1846.

ACCUSED OF MURDER.

A Youth Who Narrowly Escaped. Louisville, Ky., Dec. 26.--Booker Steinberger, the youth brought to this city Monday night to escape a mob at the murder of the girl, and says that he was three miles from the house when

THEY NOW WANT THE CANAL

English Speculators Working Schemes in Nicaragua.

TRYING FOR THE CONTRACT

They Seek to Have Existing Agreement with Americans Annulled--Influential Natives Won Over--President Favors United States Company.

Managua, Nicaragua, Dec. 26.--(Via Galveston, Texas). A general reception was held by Minister Baker at the United States Legation today. It was well attended, among those present being President Zelaya and the Nicaraguan cabinet, all the leading members of the American colony and a number of prominent Germans. The British colony was not represented.

The London syndicate of holders of the railroad bonds issued in 1886 by Nicaragua and the United States, recently their acceptance of the "ad referendum" agreement, which they wrote out September 12 for Nicaragua to accept. It gives to the bondholders the additional security of an export duty of at least one cent gold per pound on all coffee exported from Nicaragua, in consideration of the reduction of the rate of interest from 6 to 4 per cent per annum, and the cancellation of one-half of the unpaid interest to January 1, 1898. This rebate in interest rate and cancellation of part of the interest on the bonds were to be compensated by several charges, expenses, etc., claimed by the syndicate, which Nicaragua is to pay annually.

The bond issue by Nicaragua of railroad bonds amounted to $2,500,000, due in 1919. Interest on them was paid to January, 1892, and in addition one-half yearly payment was made to December 31, 1892. The bonds were sold in 1886 at about 77 1/2 cents on the dollar, but because of commissions, etc., of the London bankers, Nicaragua received only 66 2/3 cents on the dollar.

It is probable that the congress of Nicaragua, which assembles January 1, 1896, will not accept the terms of this "ad referendum" agreement.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

THEY NOW WANT THE CANAL

English Speculators Working Schemes in Nicaragua.

TRYING FOR THE CONTRACT

They Seek to Have Existing Agreement with Americans Annulled--Influential Natives Won Over--President Favors United States Company.

Managua, Nicaragua, Dec. 26.--(Via Galveston, Texas). A general reception was held by Minister Baker at the United States Legation today. It was well attended, among those present being President Zelaya and the Nicaraguan cabinet, all the leading members of the American colony and a number of prominent Germans. The British colony was not represented.

The London syndicate of holders of the railroad bonds issued in 1886 by Nicaragua and the United States, recently their acceptance of the "ad referendum" agreement, which they wrote out September 12 for Nicaragua to accept. It gives to the bondholders the additional security of an export duty of at least one cent gold per pound on all coffee exported from Nicaragua, in consideration of the reduction of the rate of interest from 6 to 4 per cent per annum, and the cancellation of one-half of the unpaid interest to January 1, 1898. This rebate in interest rate and cancellation of part of the interest on the bonds were to be compensated by several charges, expenses, etc., claimed by the syndicate, which Nicaragua is to pay annually.

The bond issue by Nicaragua of railroad bonds amounted to $2,500,000, due in 1919. Interest on them was paid to January, 1892, and in addition one-half yearly payment was made to December 31, 1892. The bonds were sold in 1886 at about 77 1/2 cents on the dollar, but because of commissions, etc., of the London bankers, Nicaragua received only 66 2/3 cents on the dollar.

It is probable that the congress of Nicaragua, which assembles January 1, 1896, will not accept the terms of this "ad referendum" agreement.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

President Zelaya's views. President Zelaya is reported to favor the treaty of Dec. 18, 1884, known as the Frelinghuysen-Zavala treaty, between the United States and Nicaragua, for the half of the interest on the bonds.

HELD UP THE TROLLEY CARS

Highwaymen Take $3,000 of a Frisco Track's Receipts.

TWO MEN SHOT BY ROBBERS

The Job is Performed by Four Men Armed with Winchester-Passengers Not Molested--Clerks Endeavor to Escape with a Money Pouch.

San Francisco, Dec. 26.--Four masked men armed with rifles held up a Mission street electric car from Ingleside at 8 o'clock last night and robbed two employes of the Pacific Coast Jockey club of $3,000. Reuben M. Clark, who carried the pouch containing the money, was shot in the leg. John Bronner, another employe of the Jockey club, and Policeman John Josephs also received bullet wounds, neither of which is serious. Clark's wound will probably cause the amputation of his leg. The robbery occurred in a lonely place, eight miles from the city. Ingleside track is situated in an isolated place on the ocean beach, and afforded excellent opportunities for the perpetration of the crime. The car had just left the track when four men, heavily armed and each armed with a Winchester, jumped on the rear platform as the car slowed up at a crossing. Clark had the pouch in his lap, and was at once approached by the tallest of the four robbers. With an oath the highwayman demanded the money. A shot was fired at the same time to stop the car.

SPANIARDS REPULSED.

A Regiment at El Ronque Surrenders Without Firing a Gun--Insurgents Fire the Town.

Key West, Fla., Dec. 26.--Advice were received from Cuba today that a battle occurred yesterday morning between the Spaniards and the insurgents and Spanish armies and that the Spaniards were repulsed. Colonel Pratt, who commanded the Spanish vanguard, was killed. Major Cannon was present and directed the retreat of the Spaniards to Jarellanos. Campos' forces are now entrenched at that place expecting to be attacked by the rebel army. Campos has ordered all the civilians in Jarellanos and is forcing them to do military duty.

Advice received by Cuban leaders via the electric cable from the capture of the town of El Ronque by Gomez announced in these dispatches last night. With Gomez are Serafin, Sanchez, Argueta and Quaresma. The Spanish regiment stationed at El Ronque surrendered without firing a shot. All of them are paroled except twelve who were charged with having poisoned the water in the reservoir of the town. They were tried and convicted and shot. After taking all the arms and provisions, etc., found in the town the insurgents set fire to it and then left, going in the direction of Quintana and Jovelanos.

KILLED HIMSELF FOR LOVE.

His Girl Sent Back His Pistoles and He Ended His Life.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 26.--Max Cohen, 22 years old, was found dead in his room at the corner of his father, Dr. Isaac Fayette street, this morning. He had shot himself through the heart, and had been dead for several hours. In his pocket was this letter: "Mr. Cohen--Oblige me by taking back your picture, as I do not need it. The picture that is as dead as you are. B. C."

The note was written by a young woman, who lives on the corner of the street herself Belle Cohen. She said that she had become acquainted some months ago with Max, who had recently been visiting her every night. They exchanged photographs, but a week ago she heard he had been deserted by her father and she determined to give him up.

Then she wrote the note. He became angry and bought a pistol, sending her word that he proposed to kill her and himself. He came to the house, but could not find her, and then he went to meet her on the corner.

"I knew he had a gun," said Belle, "and did not say so. I'm sure he might have killed me. He said he wanted to see me in heaven and we would have to meet there. I'm sure I'll meet him there, but I'm mighty glad it's not today."

DEATH FROM A SPLINTER.

A Girl Disregarded Her Physician's Instructions.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 26.--Florence Mack, daughter of S. W. Mack, of No. 237 Truitt avenue, died this morning. The wound of a tiny splinter was the cause of her death, having produced lockjaw.

Last Saturday morning Miss Mack ran a small splinter under her thumb nail. It broke off, leaving but a quarter of an inch imbedded in the flesh. She was unable to remove it, and sent to the family physician, who removed the bit of wood and told her to poultice the thumb on returning home. She, however, disregarded the instruction. She was taken ill Sunday, and Monday became unconscious and remained so until her death.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

Asbury Park Agitated by an Unaccountable Accident.

Asbury Park, N. J., Dec. 26.--An eighteen horse power boiler used to sink piling for the ocean grove board walk exploded this morning.

The boiler was located on the ocean front in a building formerly occupied by the Bond Wave Power company.

The engineer, Edwin Peckham, left the building a few seconds before the explosion took place. Just in time to save his life. The boiler went through three inches of cedar planking, and landed in the ocean an eighth of a mile from the shore. The explosion scattered pieces of timbers injured the engineer but not seriously.

The cause of the accident cannot be explained. The engineer declares there was plenty of water in the boiler.

DEATH OF HER SANTA CLAUS.

Two Sudden Calls Saddened the Holiday.

Oxford, Pa., Dec. 26.--Two very sudden and unexpected deaths saddened and shocked the people of Oxford this Christmas morning. Mrs. M. E. Colton, of Locust street, was found dead in a bed by her daughter, who had prepared a tempting breakfast and gone to her mother's room to call her. Mrs. Colton was the mother of Rev. Absalom Colton, who had a church in West Philadelphia.

The other death was that of Neal Patton, who dropped dead on Market street while walking down town about 8 o'clock.

STRUCK BY A BLIZZARD.

Business Suspended in Indianapolis.

Several Persons Injured. Indianapolis, Dec. 26.--A blizzard struck this city early this morning and continued to increase in violence until noon. The streets were almost impassable and the telephone and electric light wires were in a tangled mass.

Not a telephone is working in the city. One horse was killed and several persons struck senseless by coming in contact with live wires.

FLASHED FROM WIRES. The Buffalo traction company has been granted a charter to run cars in Buffalo, N. Y. The fare not to exceed four cents, with one cent for transfers.

HELD UP THE TROLLEY CARS

Highwaymen Take $3,000 of a Frisco Track's Receipts.

TWO MEN SHOT BY ROBBERS

The Job is Performed by Four Men Armed with Winchester-Passengers Not Molested--Clerks Endeavor to Escape with a Money Pouch.

San Francisco, Dec. 26.--Four masked men armed with rifles held up a Mission street electric car from Ingleside at 8 o'clock last night and robbed two employes of the Pacific Coast Jockey club of $3,000. Reuben M. Clark, who carried the pouch containing the money, was shot in the leg. John Bronner, another employe of the Jockey club, and Policeman John Josephs also received bullet wounds, neither of which is serious. Clark's wound will probably cause the amputation of his leg. The robbery occurred in a lonely place, eight miles from the city. Ingleside track is situated in an isolated place on the ocean beach, and afforded excellent opportunities for the perpetration of the crime. The car had just left the track when four men, heavily armed and each armed with a Winchester, jumped on the rear platform as the car slowed up at a crossing. Clark had the pouch in his lap, and was at once approached by the tallest of the four robbers. With an oath the highwayman demanded the money. A shot was fired at the same time to stop the car.

SPANIARDS REPULSED.

A Regiment at El Ronque Surrenders Without Firing a Gun--Insurgents Fire the Town.

Key West, Fla., Dec. 26.--Advice were received from Cuba today that a battle occurred yesterday morning between the Spaniards and the insurgents and Spanish armies and that the Spaniards were repulsed. Colonel Pratt, who commanded the Spanish vanguard, was killed. Major Cannon was present and directed the retreat of the Spaniards to Jarellanos. Campos' forces are now entrenched at that place expecting to be attacked by the rebel army. Campos has ordered all the civilians in Jarellanos and is forcing them to do military duty.