New Year Sermons.

In all the churches Sunday appropriate to the season of the year were preached. Special music was in order. At the First Baptist church the was listened to with rapt attention. He took for his text, Proverbs, 16:29, "And whose trusteth in the Lord, happy is he," which he desired his people to ac-cept as a New Year's motto. In the course of an able discourse, he tersely dwelt upon the insatiable desire of man for happiness and vividly described the various methods employed by mankind to attain it: such as the desire for public officialism, the higher profession in social life, the universal craving for wealth, and the plunging into the whirl of pleasure, all of which were devoid and unconducive to real happiness He advised his hearers that the best means to attain the prize and thus have a happy new year, was by abstaining meeting trouble half way, to look on the bright side of things, and above on the bright side of things, and save all placing their trust in the Lord.

The service throughout was of a most impressive character, and the anthem rendered by the efficient chorister was much enjoyed.

Welsh Baptist Church.

Today will be a proud day to the Welsh residents of this city, as it will mark another epoch in the history of the mother church of the Baptist churches of this valley. This church has had a beilliant historical past, the pastorate has been filled by several well-known preachers, notably the celebrated D. W. Morris. Through course of circumstan-ces, the doors were closed some six years ago. Now it has been decided by the permission of the Welsh Baptist as-sociation, to reopen and today it is expected that the following ministers will take part at its re-dedication: The Heys, W. Evans, Olyphant; W. Thomas, Pittston: Jacob Davies, Plymouth; W. S. Jones, Hyde Park, (in Enghsn). It is expected also that the Rev. T. E. Jepson will assist. Services at 2 and 7 p. m.

The Political Situation.

The Democratic primaries were hold on Saturday afternoon, but lacked in intense interest displayed by the Republicans at their primaries. Life was only shown in the Third and was only shown in the Thiri and Fourth wards, object being to secure the delegates on behalf of the poor directorship. For the nomination on the ticket for mayor, the names of J. J. O'Neill, esq., and J. W. Kilpatrick, esq., are much talked of: the latter is considered by some prominent politicians to be very strong. A full ticket will be named at the convention and an aggress. samed at the convention and an aggressive campaign will be carried on. The nominees on the Republican ticket are to meet this week to plan their cam-paign and make arrangements for a thorough canvass.

The saloonkeepers of this city com menced vesterday to place in force their determination to observe Sunday as a day of rest. All the side doors were closed and although many wished they could call spirits from the mighty deep, they were disappointed, and the city was "dry." The saloonists are to be congratulated upon this and may this state of things last for many a year, for the benefit of themselves personally and the community at large.

Union Prayer Meetings.

 The Evangelical churches of the city will, as usual, hold their annual union meetings for prayer, and the first will be held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Berean Baptist church. The topics for the meetings are those adopted by the Evangelical Alliance and are full of interest. A cordial invitation to the meeting is extended to all
