WELSH BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Pioneer Association of the Lacks wanna Volley Is Reorganized.

Some of the earlier settlers of Carbon-dale entertained Baptist sentiments. Squire Yarrington once stated that the first house built was in the year 1824. In the summer of 1830, a company of Welsh emigrants, attracted chiefly the coal mining interests, settled in the place, among whom were four regular Raptists, professing close communion. Mr. James Bowen was a minister, his brother John was a deacon, and their wives were members-embracing the elements of a gospel church and hold-ing the tenets of Baptists. Their faith was not abandoned or zeal abated by leaving home and crossing the ocean, but far from the fatherland and dear riends, among strangers speaking an-other language, they did not hang their harps on the willow, they clung the more tenaciously to their language and their cherished creed and destructive principles. And where there is a will there is a way, they soon devised and employed means to promote their spir-Itual interests and propogate their cher-ished sentiments. Meetings for prayer and preaching were commenced at the home of Deacon Bowen, on the West side of Main street, on the site now oc-cupled by the store of Patrick McDonald. For a time their congregation was comparatively small, consisting only of a few Welsh families. It was not long, however, before some of their American neighbors of different de-nominations, met with them from time to time, attracted chiefly by the "Songs of Zion" in a strange land, in a strange tongue, but with the feeling and pathos for which the Welsh nation is noted. Offtimes the substance of the services were given in English, for the benefit and pleasure of that portion of the aud-ience unable to understand the Welsh Janglage. Their members were aug-mented from time to time by fresh emi-grants from Wales, of whom a fair por-tion were regular Banjiets.

tion were regular Baptists. These Welsh members united with the Greenfield church in the Blakely district, and soon became a prosperous branch of that body, holding covenant meetings and enjoying occasional dismissed and organized as preaching. regularly the First Baptist church of Carbondale with forty-three constituent members. They worshipped now in the old schoolhouse on the site of the present struc-ture, and early in the spring of 1848 the school home gave way to the present structure. The public worship was chiefly conducted in the Welsh harguage, and at this time it was decided by the American brethren holding Baptist views (but who were excluded from congenial privileges and had to attend meetings of the other denominations) to raise up the Baptist standard end rally to its support and defense. The Berean Baptist church was recognized and consisted of seven members; now it is a most flourishing church and the paster and people are doing excellent work for the Master. The Rev. Daniel E. Bowen appears to have been the first regular paster of the Welsh church and on his taking sharge of the Berean church just proved a Rev. Mr. Will-lams was called to the pastorate and ministered until 1849 when he had a call to a church at Utica. The next pastor was a Rev. W. Evans, who continued faithfully to preach the Word. Then the Rev. D. W. Morris preached for some time to them in conjunction with his pastorate at Taylor.

According to the testimony of some of the old members who are faithful to this day, the most flourishing time experienced by the church was between the years of 1848 and 1853. The con-gregations were large and the church did much good. About six years ago. the congregation having dwindled down, although a few stood unflinchingly for their principles, the remain-ing trustees, E. W. Davis and Morgan Thomas, handed the deeds of the church to the trustees of the Welsh associa-tion of Pennsylvania. A few months ago some of the old members, kindled with love to their language and their principles, determined to make an attempt to reopen the edifice and collect the Welsh friends together. They consulted with the association committee and today their labors were rewarded by the assembling of invited pastors of the valley and the committee to re-dedirate the sanctuary and give the right-hand of fellowship to those that wished cate the to join. The first meeting was held to-day at 3 o'clock, the Rev. W. S. Jones. of Hyde Park, having read a portion of the Scriptures and fervently invoked the blessing of God upon the church and the purport of their meeting to-gether. Mr. Henry P. Davis, of Scran-ton, occcupied the chair and addressed the assembly with feeling and advised the young church to live peaceable and k for the spirit of truth for their Rev. W. Thomas, of Plitston, to ex-tend the right hand of fellowship to the regular letter of dismissal was read from the Mayfield church and the from the Mayfield church and the following are the constituent members: W. P. Williams, Thomas Richards, Catherine Richards, Thomas Evans, Jane Evans, Owen Lewis, Mary Lewis, John Thomas, Jane Lewis, Evan T. Richards, Margaret Evans, The Rev. John Thomas, Jane Lewis, Evan T. Richards, Margaret Evans. The Rev. William Thomas delivered an excellent address on the cardinal principles of Christianity and dwelt upon the ele-ments of strength in the church-the purity of character and the unity of facility. Address works also made by feeling. Addresses were also made by the Revs. W. F. Davis, W. S. Jones and the chairman. Sermons are preached tonight by the Revs. W. Evans, Oly-phant, and W. S. Jones (in English.)

brake, the shaft broke in twain and he was pitched headlong beneath, the wheels, the four cars passing over his body, cutting it in two. The conductor witnessed him falling and immediately ran to his assistance, but he soon re-alized that his friend was no more. death being instantaneous. The Delaware and Hudson ambulance was procured and the remains taken to the well arranged morgue of the Peoule Undertaking company and are being prepared for burial, the deceased was twenty-six years of age and was very well known in the city and respected by his fellow-workmen as an upright and true man. The funeral will leave the residence at three o'clock, Friday, for Maplewood cemetery.
