DECREES IN TWENTY CASES

Handed Down by the Judges of the Superior Court.

WERE HEARD AT PHILADELPHIA

Opinions Handed Down in Cases Argued at the Preceding Session of the Court-Only One Case Was Argued Yesterday.

The superior court's sitting was resumed at 1.30 yesterday afternoon with the seven judges present. The first thing done was the handing down of opinions in cases that have been argued. The adjudication of them is given below. There was but one case argued.

Homer Greene, Honesdale's poet-lawyer, represented the appellant, and Attorneys A. T. Scarle and ex-Judge H. Wilson represented the appellee. The arguments of the counsels of both

The arguments of the counsels of both sides were eloquent. The case was one in which the burning of a saw mill at Honesdale caused the litigation.

Henry Z. Russell, the appellant, had been the agent of the company at Honesdale since March 18, 1882. In the same year he placed in the company the risk on the saw mill, fixtures and the risk on the saw min. actures and property of Joseph Atkinson at Tafton, Pike county. Pa. This risk was carried by the company, the policy being renewed from year to year, until the property was burned April 24, 1893. The property was burned April 24, 1883, The policy in force at the time of the fire was Issued September 11, 1892 and ex-pired September 11, 1893. On or about January 6, 1893, E. J. Cal-On or about January 6, 1893, E. J. Calley, a special agent for the company, called at the appellant's office in Honesdale and left a list of eleven policies then in force which he marked. "Take up." This list included the Atkinson policy and afterward a letter was received from the company in which the action of Special Agent Calley in ordering the policies taken up was condering the policies taken up was con-firmed and the appellant was ordered in the letter to cancel the policies specified at once. Company Had to Pay Up.

In consequence of the failure of Mr. Russell to cancel the Atkinson policy the company had to pay out $620 in payment of the loss. On Dec. 7, 1893, the company brought suit on account of alleged negligence by him as agent in that he did not use due and reasonable care, diligence and skill promptly and faithfully to carry out the orders and faithfully to carry out the orders issued to him to terminate the policy of insurance issued to Joseph Atkinson.

The suit was tried before Judge Pur-dy, of Honesdale, and a verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff in the

IN COMMON PLEAS COURT. Important Coal Case Is on Trial Before Judge Edwards.

Judge George M. Purdy, of Wayne Judge George M. Purdy, of Wayne county, is assisting in common pleas court this week. He is presiding in court room No. 2; Judge Edwards is on the bench in the main court room and Judge Archbald in No. 2.

An important suit was opened yesterday before Judge Edwards and it will go on the rest of the week. The Winton Coal company and the Pancoast Coal company are plaintiff and Winton Coal company and the Pancoast Coal company are plaintiff and defendant respectively. Ex-Judge W.

H. Jessup, ex-Judge H. A. Knapp and C. P. O'Malley are attorneys for the former and S. B. Price, J. Alton Davis and A. H. Winton for the latter.

Thousands of dollars are involved.
The suit is to recover the royalties on one-eighth of the coal interest in a tract of land in Throop borough, oner-tract of land in Throop borough, operated at present by the defendant company. The day was spent in offering paper title to the land and musty records from revolutionary days were offered in evidence.

Statement of the Case. On September 24, 1869, W. H. Winton and A. H. Winton purchased one-half of the interest of the tract now in dispute and on June 18, 1885, W. W. Win-ton deeded one-half of his interest ton deeded one-half of his interest which is one-eighth to the Winton Coal company. The parties owning the other half, not owned by the Wintons, in 1869 leased all the coal in the land to the Pancoast Coal company and they gave the Wintons credit for owning only one-quarter of the land. That is where the trouble arises and the jury now trying the issue will settle the question from the testimony adduced in the case.

The case in No. 2 will last the greater part of the week. It is one of feigned issue certified from equity court. J. W. Fowler is the plaintiff and M. O. Webster, defendant. Fowler is represented by Attorney Thomas F. Wells and Webster by Senator M. E. McDonald, I. W. Carpenter and R. H. Holgate, Litigation Over a Stone Quarry. The plaintiff is teller in the Lackawanna Trust and Safe Deposit bank. He alleges that in May, 1890, he had a verbal understanding amounting to a contract in which they agreed to buy 190 acres of land in Ransom township on which a stone quarry was situated. The plaintiff claims that Webster secured title to 300 acres of other land, sold the stone quarry tract and kept all the proceedings in his own right all the proceedings in his own right.

In No. 3 court the assumpsit suit of Powell Doemico against the Iron City Mutual Fire Insurance company, of Pittsburg, is on trial before Judge Gunster. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney C. H. Soper and the company by ex-Congressman Lemuel Amerman. The action is brought to force the mayment of insurance amount. force the payment of insurance amounting to $700 on a house which was situated on Washburn street and was destroyed by fire on Dec. 15, 1892.

THE REALM OF BURLESQUE. stattlar's Gaicty Company Plays to Crowded Houses at Davis's Theatre, Sattlar's Galety Burlesque company opened a three days' engagement at Davis' theater yesterday afternoon to a crowded house and gave an entertainment that apeared to please the large audience. The programme was made up of the elements that require the presence of pretty girls, lively music and up-to-date specialties. The opening musical melange was followed by the Gleasons, who gave an interest-ing exhibition of their remarkable talents in cane and gun spinning that evoked frequent applause. Sheffer and Blakely gave a funny African character sketch, and the comedienes, Josie Love and Jennie Lamont appeared in an original act in which bloomers, In-dian clubs and fire were important

The living pictures were probably the most meritorious features of the entertainment. The subjects were artistic-ally posed and the effects were beau-tiful and pleasing in every instance. During the performance there was an over abundance of horse dialogue that could well have been spared from the

The performance closed with a brief burlesque entitled "All Baba." thread of the plot was rather too fine to be comprehended by the average spectator, but it afforded an opportunity for the introduction of pleasing marches executed by the handsome chorus girls in dazzling costumes. Defeated Benton Club at a Game of Polo on Glenburn Lake A large crowd gathered at Glenburn lake Saturday afternoon to witness the much talked of game of polo between clubs representing Glenburn and Ben-ton. Glenburn team has held the championship against all comers for the last two years and were determined to keep it in their possession, while the Benton gentlemen have defeated sevcral very good teams.

The captains agreed to play two thirty-minute halves and the team making the majority of goals in that time was declared the winner. At exactly 4 o'clock Referee Harry Kennedy's whistle started the game with a vim.

The disk was, for the first twenty minutes, kept in Benton's territory.

After that homors were equally divided for the first half, neither side scoring a goal.

The second half opened with the Glenburn boys using rushing tactics. After some scrimmaging and peculiar passing by Griffin, Colvin, Metzgar and Smith. Glenburn succeeded in landing the first and only goal made, thereby winning the game. The remainder of the game the puck was kept near Benton's goa! The line up of the teams was as fol-

THEY FAVOR THE VIADUCT

The Central Board of Trade Heartily Endorses it.

Ringing Resolution Presented by A. W. Dickson Commits the Board to the Viaduct Project-A Good Night's Work by the Boomers.

At the invitation of the manufacturers' committee of the board of trade. the viaduct committee of the West Side board attended last night's meeting to discuss the contemplated improvement. They departed highly elated with the result of their mission for the central board gave its unqualified endorsement to the project and bade the boomers go forth and conquer. Their approbation and sympathy was received with the greatest gratitude and on behalf of the citizens of the West Side. Hon. John R. Farr, spokesman of the committee, heartily thanked the board for its ac-

When the regular business of the board had been concluded President of the waiting delegation and invited them to take the privilege of the floor. Mr. Farr accepted the invitation and made, addressed the board substantially as follows:

"Recognizing the broad spirit of this board we feel that we can appeal to you for co-operation and assistance in securing this viaduct, than which improvement none is more needed.

"Wedo not ask it alone as an improve ment. Fifteen years ago it was a necessity; today it is imperative. Thirty thousand people in order to get to Scranton must endanger their life and limb. We hear that the city has done enough for the West Side in constructing the Linden street bridge. We approved of it but we did not ask for it; we wanted the viaduct. It was the East Side that wanted it, the Linden street bridge. The West Lackawanna avenue crossing is not only a menace but a great inconvenience. The street car company cannot give us a proper service on account of the crossing.

Have an Opportunity Now. "We have the oportunity to remedy this evil now. Council has authorized that a vote be taken on the issuance of $150,000 worth of bonds to meet the expense. We have the right of way secured at a reasonable figure. The cost is a mere bagatelle compared to hold their twenty-ninth annual mas-querade ball Monday evening, January and inconvenience. If an accident occurred there it is not likely that there would be any hesitancy about giving us the viaduct. That no serious ac cident has occurred is remarkable. The erection of the viaduct will not only be a benefit to the West Side but also to the city at large and especially the central city."

Mr. Farr's speech was greeted with cheers which plainly bespoke that it had a telling effect and that sentiment in the board leaned towards the via-

T. F. Mason, president of the West Side board of trade, made a few remarks, after which H. E. Paine arose and in a tone which augured no good for the viaduct project, stated that there were a few things he would me to know concerning the viaduct before he was prepared to vote on it. First, HOMES he would like to know if the Delaware, Lovers of light op will have a treat the Academy vening when little a Winnie Palmer pay anything towards the viaduet, and secondly, was the committee aware of just how much of the $150,000 would be necessary for its completion.

Said the Traction Company Would Pay Mr. Mason stated that the Traction company would pay $10,000 if not more for the privilege of using the viaduet, and that he felt confident that the Delaware, Lackawanna and western company would also pay its snare. County Surveyor Bartl, in a lengthy speech, disapproved of the present vinduet plan and suggested as a substitute the scheme to cross from Seventh street diagonally to Ninth street at Nealis court.

Mr. Farr remarked that Mr. Bartl had evidently not given the matter serious thought and that the people of the West Side who have been studying this matter for fifteen years ought to know what they want and what is best for them.

The speech, however, which crystallized sentiment and sent it sweepingly on the side of the viaduct was made by IF YOU W. Dickson, "The whole effort of the best energy of this city," said he, "should be spent in obliterating those viaducts will obliterate this objectionable feature and they should be erected regardless of trouble or expense. GLENBURN STILL CHAMPION The West Lackawanna avenue cross ing, besides being a great inconvenience is an intolerable menace. To these viaduct agitators we should say go ahead, we are heartily in favor of the establishment of this imperatively needed improvement." After the applause which followed his remarks had subsided Mr. Dickson incorporated his sentiments in a mo tion. In speaking on the motion Mr. Paine said:

"My questions have been only partially answered. I am confident the MR. PAINE THE ONLY OBJECTOR Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company will not pay towards the rection of the viaduct and I don't be lieve the Traction company will give anything. Their offer given some years ago is to contribute $10,000, at the rate of $1,000 a year and get it if you can, There is only five per cent, of this board present and I do not favor committing this entire board to the support of a project which has been suddenly sprung on us and which has not been digested as thoroughly as its import ance demands."

Hot Shot for Mr. Paine "If I thought" rejoined Mr. Dickson that my speech was going to inflict so much pain on the board I wouldn' have splung it. Mr. Paine is having his little kick. He is entitled to it as is every member of this board, but he does himself an injustice when he confesses that he does not understand this matter which has been before the pub ic for fifteen years." The motion was then put and was carried with only one dissenting vote-May anounced the presence and purpose Mr. Paine's. After Mr. Farr had expressed his gratification and thanks for the board's action adjournment was
