CASE OF THEO. BROWN.

A Question Before the Supreme Court July Is of Importance to the Inter-State Man.

Washington, Jan. 23.-The attentio of the supreme court of the Unite States today was engaged in the con sideration, upon oral argument, of on of the most important cases on the docket. It was the appeal of Theodor F. Brown, from the judgment of the circuit court for the western distric of Pennsylvania refusing to discharg him on a writ of habeas corpus from the custody of J. W. Walker, Unite States marshal for the district names and it involved the constitutionality of the amendment to the inter-state con merce law made in the Fifty-secon congress in order to cure the defea which was made manifest in the cour selman case.

Brown is auditor of the Alleghen Valley railroad and in an examination of certain officers of the company b the federal grand jury at Pittsburg alleged violation of the law, he de clined to answer certain questions, o the ground that to do so would tend criminate him, invoking the constitu tional guarantee for protection. case being reported to the court. Brow was directed to testify, and again re- Lacka. Valley Trac. Co., first fusing, was held to be in contempt. He appealed to the circuit court for release on his writ of habeas corpus but that court discharged the writ and remanded Brown to custody. The witness was adjudged to be bound to apswer under the amendment to the in-1893, providing that in cases arising under the inter state commerce act, the witness should not be excused from answering on the ground that his answer might tend to criminate himself, because it was provided "but no person shall be prosecuted or subject to any penalty or forfeiture, for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may testiproduce evidence, documentary or otherwise, before said commission, or in obedience to its subpoena, or the subpoena of either of them or in any such cause or proceeding."

Importance of the Question The case was argued by Mr. James C. Carter, of New York, for Brown, and by ex-Senator Edmunds, of Vermont now residing in Philadelphia, nominally for the marshal, but really for the inter-state commerce commission. The importance of the case, for upon its determination depends the successful enforcement of the law, as well as the reputation of the attorneys engaged attracted to the court a large attend-

The argument was wholly upon con stitutional grounds and could not be described as popular in any sense. The question at issue was whether or not constitutional protection invoked by Brown could be rendered inoperative by the legislative declaration in the amendment. Mr. Carter contended that it could not, and that the law was unconstitutional; ex-Senator Edmunds contended that it could, and that the law was constitutional.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Jan. 23.—The rallway and niscellaneous stock market was quiet again today and the general run of ac-tive issues were lower. A few stocks, notably Manhattan and Sugar, were strong and closed with net gains. The other prominent issues were inclined to weakness throughout and lacked sup-port. In the early trading London, which had been a buyer on previous days of the week, turned up as a seller of St. Paul and Louisville and Nashville, the result of rumors current abroad of an alliance between Russia and Turkey, which complicates the European political situation. Sterling exchange also strengthened because of an increased demand for Saturday's mail and posted rates for long bills were advanced  $\frac{1}{2}$  cent. This also affected the stock market adversely. This also the stock market adversely. The loss in prices outside of the Industrials. however, was slight. Tobacco was a particularly weak stock, and fell from 78 to 75% on reports that an anti-trust bill will be introduced in the Virginia legislature. Sugar first advanced from 102% to 104, but later returned to 102%a-103 in sympathy with the break in To-Leather preferred fell 1 to 611/2. Rubber % to 26%, and General Electric 1 to 25% a26. The weakness of the last named was due to semi-official denials of the recent eport of a working arrangement with the Westinghouse peo Railway stocks were lower, but the decline in no case exceeded a point. Manhattan was stronger than for a long time past, and on covering of short contracts rose to 10212. The market closed barely steady in tone. Net changes show declines of %al per cent. out side of Manhattan, which gained 1% per cent. The Industrials, with the exception of Sugar, lost %a2% per cent.

Sugar gained 5 per cent. Furnished by WILLIAM LINN, ALLEN & CO., correspondents for A. P. CAMP-BELL, stock broker, 412 Spruce street.

The Report of Major-General Snowden His Remarks Upon Encampments. Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 23.—The report of Major General Snowden for the year just closed is an interesting contribution to National Guard history. Speaking of the encampment, he says: "Yearly practice in assembling the troops has produced a large degree of knowledge, and consequently of facility in movement, and repeated purchase and issue of supplies have promoted a skill and readiness in meeting the necessary wants of troops not surpassed in any organization, whether regular or volunteer."

He commends the changes in the methods of inspection. Much valuable time is saved and officers and men are fresher for their field movements, and naturally acquit themselves with more credit. He again endorses the three battalion formation and suggests that an act of congress may complete its adoption. He thinks a trial of the system might be made in the First brigade with beneficial results.

General Snowden says: "It is a matter of great importance to the efficiency of the division that the mounted troops be increased in the number of companies and formed into battalions. No well recognized authority or sound reason can be found for attaching a troop of cavalry or a battery of artillery to a brigade."

He does not approve of the strict rules regarding rifle practice. He says: "To insist on a certain, or at least a large percentage of the company attaining any prescribed qualification at the risk of disbandonment leads to temptation to secure the rating prescribed at any cost."

TO SAVE THE COUNTRY.

The Old Morgan Bond Syndicate to be Reorganized.

New York, Jan. 23.-A rumor, which was generally credited, was current today that certain members of the old 20% Morgan bond syndicate had re-formed on different lines. It was said that the new combination will bid for a block of from thirty to forty millions of the bonds at a stated figure, and that each individual member will also but in a separate bid at figures to be determined upon by themselves.

This would furnish bids for $80,000,000 alone. Leading bank officials say they are satisfied that the bond call will not be a success as a popular loan, but at the same time the whole issue will be 80 subscribed for. They estimate that the bids from the public will not exceed twenty millions.
