William Coburn and Maggie Coburn, who occupy apartments at No. 18 Lackawan-na avenue, were held in $500 bail by Alderman Millar yesterday to answer the charge of keeping a disorderly house and selling liquor without a license. A man named Dimler swore out the information. After the hearing the Coburns swore out a warran charging Dimler with assault on Mrs. Coburn's 10-year-old daughter. He was held to bail for a hearing one week from today.

The Tribune received a call last evening from Count DeLonzo, of Bulgaria, who is more or less known to fame as the only European nobleman who has ever acted as agent for a theatrical company. "His Grace" was accompanied by a bowlegged buildog of villainous aspect, and wore a fur-lined overcoat and a large assortment of gold medals. He observed that he was in search of an American heliess and was meanwhile beguiling his lesure moments by touring the country shead of Frank Bush in "Girl Wanted."

JURY HAS WINTON CASE Retired to Make Up Its Verdict Late

Yesterday Afternoon. JOHN W. POWLER WINS HIS SUIT

Judgo Archbald Granted a Compulsory Non Suit in Case of Council & Son Agains: Mary Zeidler - Walsh Case Now on Trial.

Judge Archbald granted a compul-sory non-sult yesterday in the suit of William P. Connell & Son against Mary Zeidler. The suit was to recover $909 on a mechanics lien filed against the defendant's building on Franklin avenue. When the testimony was in Attorney E. C. Newcomb moved for a non-suit on the ground that the plain-tiff had not shown a certificate from the superintendent in charge of the construction of the building showing that the work was done according to contract, and also that when a sub-contractor files a lien he must specify the items for which the lien is entered. Connell & Sons were sub-contractors from Shiffer Bros., who had the contract of the building. A rule was granted to strike off the non-suit, re-turnable to argument court.

In the main, court room the case of the Winton Coal company against the Pancoast Coal Co. was tried. Judge Edwards charged the jury at adjourn-ment and they retired to find a verdict. The plaintiff claims an undivided onefourth interest in the coal underlying 108 acres of land in Throop borough and the defendant denies that the plaintiff owns more than one-eighth undivided interest. The bulk of the testimony was in the shape of paper title dating from the commonwealth down to the present time.

Verdict Rendered for Fowler. A verdlet for the plaintiff was rendered by the jury in the suit of John W. Fowler against M. O. Webster. Judge Purdy submitted a long list of special findings bearing upon the argument and money transactions between he parties, and the jury answered affirmatively in each instance. The suit was sent up from equity court. Fowler and Webster entered into an agreement to purchase 100 acres of land on the West mountain on which was located a valuable stone quarry. Webster did all the purchasing, and he sold the land afterward to the Scranton Stone company for a valuable consideration. Mr. Fowler brought suit to compel Webster to share the profits, which the defendant demurred from doing, specifying that Fowler did not take an interest in the land until he found out it could be sold at a high

In the appeal suit of B. Arnovita against John Kelley a verdict of $51 was taken for the plaintiff, and in the suit of L. D. Warner against Martin tered of record.

In No. 3 court room the case of James M. Walsh, executor, against the Dwelltake place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock ling. House. Insurance, company was tried. Attorney M. E. McDonald represented the plaintiff and ex-Congressman Lemuel Amerman, the defendant. This case has been explained many times before. Left Her Property for Her Son

The plaintiff's mother lived in Dun-more and had her property insured for $1,200 with the defendant company. She died three years ago and left all her property to her son, the plaintiff. appointing him executor. He, soon after her death, went to H. E. Paine's office in the Coal Exchange, Mr. Paine being the general agent in Scranton of this company, and inquired about what polley, so that if anything should happen the company would pay.

Mr. Paine told Walsh nothing was necessary to be done in the way of a transfer, that the policy would be all right and when it ran out in a year or so. Waish could have it issued in his own name. Relying on this Walsh went home. Some time later the house burned down and when he applied for payment of the policy, the company refused to pay it on the ground that when Mrs. Walsh died the policy ceased with her and any way it had not been transferred to her son.

Suit was brought and when the case came to trial a non-suit was granted on the same ground that the company refused to pay the policy. The court took the non-suit of after hearing argument and ruled that the company was bound by the act of the genera agent. When the case came to trial yesterday it was decided that in order to facilitate business no witnesses would be sworn, but that the transcribed testimony; of a former trial would be read to the jury. When the plaintiff's side was finished the defense asked for a non-suit which the court refused and the case then went to the jury without any evidence of the defendant. The jury had not brought in a verdict at adjournment.

Case Tried in Court Room No. 3. In No. 3 the case of A. T. Philo against Joseph Halderman was called before Judge Archbald. Attorneys Hulslander and Vosburg represent the defendant and Attorney Cornelius Smith, the plaintiff. The suit is for a board bill of about $40. Mrs. Irene Haldeman, now divorced from the de-fendant, was his wife until the latter part of last year. On March 14, 1895, she left him and went to stay with Philo's family. Suit is brought for her keeping from this date until May subsequent, though she staid there until October.

Tried Before Judge Purdy. Judge Purdy tried the suit of A. R. Cowell against Attorney Charles R. Pitcher, executor of the estate of Attorney Thomas R. Hughes, deceased. Attorneys C. W. Dawson and George W. Beale apeared for the plaintiff and Attorney Thomas F. Wells for the defend-ant. The evidence was all in at ad-journment and the case will go to the ury today after arguments of counsel are made and the charge of the court is delivered. It is a suit for damages alleged on account of a landlord's warrant issued upon the plaintiff for the purpose of collecting rent. Cowell claims that At-torney Pitcher went too far in his eagerse to collect the rent and is liable for
