COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Norrman & Moore One of the striking events of the seaon at the Academy of Music this season will be the grand scenic production of the late Bartley Campbell's absorbing play in six acts and seven tableaux. 120 Wyoming Ave. "The White Slave," which will be put pon the stage in a lavish manner at his house on next Monday evening. The play having fallen into the hands BIG BARGAINS IN SHOES of the nuthor's sons. Robert and John Campbell, will be interpreted by a remarkably strong company which comprises many people who have been dentified with earlier productions of COMMONWEALTH SHOE STORE the play. It is said that the new management have expended a great deal of noney on this revival. The scenery is all new and magnificent, the old homestead of Judge Hardin in the Blue trass region of Kentucky, the plantation of William Lacy on the bank of the mighty Mississippi in all its rich tropical beauty, the saloon on board 'La Belle Creole," and the desolate Red Devil Island are all masterpieces of the scenic painter's art. The me-chanical effects will be as of yore, the THE LACKAWANNA burning of the Belle Creole in a terrific storm, followed by the wonderful rainstorm of real water, being among the most attractive. The Frothingham has Corse Payton Remnant Sale and his comedy company for their attraction all next week in a repertoire of comedies and pramas at the popular prices of 10, 29 and 30 cents. "The Galley Slave" will be the opening play, for which they carry all the scenery used; also electric and calcium light effects. Ladies will be admitted free Monday when accompanied by a paid 30-cent ticket purchased before 6 p. m. of that day. Sale of seats begins Friday morning at the box office. Short Ends of

"A Jay Circus," of which Sherman & Morrisey are the stars, will be brought here for the usual afternoon and evening performances at Davis' theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week by J. C. Davis, of Hyde Park. Couchita, the phenomenal California duncer and Brewn and Watson the causing a warrant to be issued for the dancer, and Brown and Watson, the Window Shades hampion jumpers, are in the roster also. The last named gentlemen will AT ABOUT HALF THE REGULAR PRICES. offer $100 to any person who can acomplish one of their jumps. At Bing-WILLIAMS & M'ANULTY hamton, where the company is now playing. "A Jay Circus" is repeating its former successes.

Accused Men-Handy-Man Withers Appears in the Case - Indications Point to Arrests Today.

Two vigilants of the First district of the Twentieth ward were arrested yesterday morning at the instance of the Fellows coterie. The episode caused a flutter among smaller politicians and ward men who had plenty to talk about until they learned that the men, Fred Jones and Charles Simrell, had waived a hearing and entered ball for their appearance in court. The arrests were a mild beginning of the threat made by the leaders of the bolters from the recent city Republican convention which nominated Colonel E. H. Ripple for mayor, to cause wholesale arrests and prosecutions of primary officers in many districts which returned Ripple delegates. The little excitement that the arrests caused among the smaller fry of politicians was not shared by Colonel Ripple and his near friends who do not view the matter seriously but consider it the vaporings caused by a few disgruntled fellows who are trying to create a sentiment against the regular Republican nominees and are willing to use any means to accomplish that end.

It could not be authoritively learned late yesterday afternoon that any more arrests will be made, but there are circumstantial facts in support of a rumor that information will be made this morning against primary officials in one of the two Twelfth ward districts.

The information, upon which war-rants were issued for Jones and Simrell, was drawn up by Attorney George Watson, of the firm of Watson & Zimmerman, was signed by Henry Schlentz and was sworn and subscribed to before Alderman Fuller who issued the warrants. W. H. Withers, secretary of the rump convention, accompanied Schlentz and Attorney Watson from the latter's office to Alderman Fuller's The information was as follows: Copy of the Information.

On the afternoon of Jan. 25 Mrs. Jemime Howells and Mrs. Mary Davis, both of Archbald, had a debate across the back-yard fence and the latter, as alleged, told the former to go into the house and mind her illegitimate children. Other defamatory words were spoken and the outgrowth of it is a slander suit. Assistant District Attorney John M. Harris, representing Mrs. Howell, began a trespass suit in the office of Prothonotary Pryor yesterday and alleges damages in the sum of $3,000. The parties are married women and are neighbors.

THE GRAND DUCHESS.

Produced in a Splendid Manner by Lillian

Russell and Company. Lillian Russell should feel pleased with herinitial introduction to Scranton theater-goers, for the audience that welcomed her at the Academy of Music last night was both large and enthusiastic, to use trite and often times meaningless words, when used in connection with matters theatrical.

Last night's audience was certainly as large as the possibilities of the house would permit, and that it was enthusiastic the numerous encores eloquently testify.

The opera bouffe that Miss Russell and her company sang last night was "The Grand Duchess," one of Offenbach's light and entertaining efforts. It was mounted and costumed in gorgeous style, and it was sung in a faultless way. Miss Russell was the grand duchess, of course, and her regal beauty seemed to particularly fit her for the role. She was in fine voice and the solos she sang were rapturously applauded. She always graciously responded to the encores. It was one of the best productions of light opera ever seen in the city, the company supporting Miss Russell proving worthy stage companions for her. Fred Solomon led the comedians and among the other very clever members of the company were Joseph Herbert. Richle Ling. Owen Westford, William B. Blaisdell and Mont Celeste. Manager Burgunder deserves to be commended for his laudable efforts to give Scrantonians an opportunity of eing light opera produced as it was at the Academy last night.

New Lease of the Leader Store by Lebeck & Corin.

The evidence of the success and thrift that attends business enterprises in Scranton is shown in the fact that Lebeck & Corin, proprietors of the Leader. yesterday signed a new lease not only for their present store on Yyoming avenue, but for an extension 50x60 feet in the rear.

Lebeck & Corin established the Leader store a year ago. They came to Scranton as total strangers and have of tained a large and growing patronage through their quickness to appreciate the wants of their trade and by unceasing energy. They have been tireessadvertisers and at present possess a store, a corps of clerks and a patronage which ranks with that of other leading department stores in the city.

Lean, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. McLean, was married to Guy Ernest Stevens, of Scranton, Pa., Given Under the Auspices of the Central at high noon yesterday in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal tabernacle, on South Hope street. The altar of the church was most effectively decorated by the ladies of the congregation. Its entrance was a beautiful high archway of dense green foliage, guarded on each side by a standing group of white callas. Surmounting the archway was a typical floral design of a cupid's dart of daisies in an arrow of pink carnations. Through the gateway was a charming vista beyond of tropic scenes, of stately palms, delicate ferns and branches of papyrus. The white and gold of the chancel was given touches of green and clusters of pink and white roses lent an additional charm of brightness and fragrance. "The oriel windows, wreathed in smilax, looked down on the whole, and in each opening was a beautiful basket of ferns and pink and white roses. At 12 o'clock, to the beautiful rendition of the wedding march from Lohengrin, the bride and bridegroom en-tered the church. A little child Miss Elizabeth Agnew, charmingly led the way to the floral archway under which the impressive ceremony was performed by Dr. Me Lean. pastor of the church, to a soft accompaniment of low-toned and sweet music. "The bride was lovely in a plain, rich robe of ivory duchesse satin, made en traine. The bodice hed a high crush collar of point lace and pearls, and a bertha of rare duchesse point lace fell from the yoke and over the bouffant sleeves. She wore a beautiful pendant of diamonds and pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried a magnificent bunch of white Roman hyacinths. A long veil, fastened with orange blossoms, fell to the end of the gown. After the ceremony the bride was unveiled by the wee maid, who was prettily attired in a white lace frock, carrying a bouquet of pink and white flowers. "A wedding breakfast for the near relatives was served at the bride's home on Ninth and Olive streets. Among the wedding presents were many beautiful and costly gifts, the most conspicuous being a very handsome silver tea service by the members of Simpson tabernacle, which is no only expressive of the regard of the donors but is a token of remembrance to one who is much loved and who has gone from their midst to reside permanently at Scranton, Pa.

"Mr. and Mrs. Stevens left yesterday for San Francisco en route to an extended trip through the states, expect ing to be at home after March 1. Mr Stevens is a rising young man of Scranton, a graduate of Yale, and whose profession will be the law." Mrs. Stevens' father was formerly a resident of this city and is well-known here. Mr. Stevens is a grandson of the late John Stewart, and has a host of friends in Scranton and its vicinity. THE MT. POCONO CIGAR.

WITH A NUPTIAL MASS.

Marriage of Miss Julia Campbell to Michael J. O'Malley. Miss Julia Campbell was married

vesterday morning in St. Peter's cathedral to Michael J. O'Malley. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Campbell, of Gibson street. The marriage ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the presence of a number of friends and was followed by a nuptial mass of which Rev. J. A. O'Reilly, rector of St. Peter's cathedral, was celebrant

The bridal party reached the church promptly at 8 o'clock and marched up the main aisle led by the ushers, Geo. . Campbell, Edward O'Malley and A. I. Rellly. Miss Campbell leaned on the arm of her father and was followed by her bridesmaid, Miss Susle Conaty. of Pittston. At the altar rail Mr. O'Malley and his best man, Thomas J. O'Malley, joined the party and the solemn words which bind the young people together for life, were spoken by Rev. Father O'Rellly. The nuptial mass followed.

The bride was attired in a plum colored cloth traveling dress trimmed with astrakhan and the bridesmaid wore a similar gown. A reception was held after the nuptial mass at the home of the bride on Gibson street which was attended by only the immediate friends of Mr. and Mrs. O'Malley. Both are well known and popular young people and have a host of warm friends. The bride was the recipient of many valuable wedding gifts from her friends.
