HENSHAW-PRICE WEDDING.

Ceremony performed at the bride's home on Madison street.

There was a very pretty wedding at the residence of Mrs. Kate Gaston Price, corner of Madison avenue and Mulberry street, at high noon yesterday. The bride was Miss Helen Somers Price, daughter of the late Col. J. A. Price and Mrs. Kate Galt, of Pittston. The groom was Mr. Franklin Henshaw, of Boston.

At 12 o'clock noon, the groom, accompanied by his best man, Mr. Gorman Hubbard, of Boston, entered the parlors in the Price residence, and were immediately followed by the bride and her mother, Rev. Charles E. Robinson, D. D., performed the interesting ceremony that made the parties man and wife under the most pleasing and beautiful surroundings. Across the center of the parlor extended an arch of green with hanging roses which had for a back ground a dense bank of palms completely covering the window in front of which the reverend clergyman stood awaiting them.

The bride's gown consisted of white satin with pointed lace and pearl trimmings. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Only a few of the nearest friends of the family were present. Among them were: Hon. Theodore Strong, wife and daughters, of West Pittston; Mr. Gorman Hubbard, of Boston, and Miss Nan Henshaw, also of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Henshaw started on a wedding tour yesterday afternoon.

FLIRTING IS EXPENSIVE.

Especially when carried on by Wholesale during Working Hours.

Five youngsters ranging in age from 15 to 18 years, were before Alderman Millar last night on an unique charge. The management of the Sauquoit silk mill complained that the attention of their 1,500 girls is detracted from their work by youths who congregate in the neighborhood of the mill and carry on a flirtation with the fair weavers at the windows, and as the thing was assuming such proportions as to become obnoxious from a financial standpoint they demanded that something be done by the authorities to relieve them. The alderman thought the matter over and finally came to the conclusion that the annoying flirts were amenable to the law and accordingly issued a warrant in which they were charged with disorderly conduct.

Considering the youth of the lads the alderman refrained from punishing them, but gave them a severe lecturing and a warning to be spread among their fellows that if any more such offenders are caught they will be summarily dealt with.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

The return to the local stage of the late Bartley Campbell's beautiful Southern idyl, "The White Slave," will doubtless serve to crowd the Academy of Music tomorrow evening when it will be staged upon a much more elaborate scale than ever before under the personal direction of Robert and John B. Campbell, sons of the author. Bartley Campbell possessed a glowing fancy and was endowed with rare inventive faculties as evinced in his "White Slave." So wide is the field of the drama that it seems to have covered almost the entire dominion of human thought, feeling and action, and those whose business it is to eagerly search for ideas for everything and to whom perfect workmanship seems to give pain in its defiance of derogation and detractory analysis may often find resemblances that must in the nature of things be purely accidental.

If ever a comedian had an opportunity to display his power of mimicry, Frank Bush has it in "Girl Wanted," the new farce-comedy, produced by Managers Davis and Keogh, which will be on view in this city Tuesday next at the Academy of Music. In it Mr. Bush impersonates a man who assumes no less than six different disguises, some of them feminine. Mr. Bush's powers of mimicry and of comic impersonation are well known to the theatre-goers. Any piece that gives him such opportunities is sure to be uncommonly entertaining. His role is not the only amusing one in "Girl Wanted." All the characters are well individualized and decidedly funny. The scenes of the piece are laid in and on a New York flat building. The specialties are of a superior character. Any one in search of an evening of genuine heart fun, will be rewarded by a visit to "Girl Wanted."

Course Payton, a clever comedian, singer and dancer, and his own company of players, including Miss Edith Reed are at the Frothingham hall next week in a repertoire of comedies and dramas at the popular prices of 10, 20 and 25 cents with matinee Wednesday and Saturday, when the prices will be 10 and 20 cents. "The Galley Slave" will be the opening play, which will receive a complete scenic production, using some of the most elaborate scenery carried by any traveling dramatic company. In the second act will be seen a magnificent palace with massive marble columns, statues, fountains, all illuminated with over one hundred colored electric lights. Ladies will be admitted free Monday when accompanied by a paid thirty cent ticket purchased before 6 p. m. of that day.

A JAY CIRCUS AT DAVIS.

Very Entertaining Performance Given at Davis.

The ever popular "A Jay Circus" delighted a fair sized audience at Davis' theater yesterday afternoon. It is a good entertainment. Marvelous feats, good singing, clever impersonations and sketches from life, made up the show. "The California favorite," as she is called, created a good impression. She is clever and original. The recitation which she gave after repeated encores was true to life.

"The East Side Bloke and His Girl," a vaudeville sketch of the Chiminee Fadden order, by Haines and Remington, brought out much laughter. It is the best sketch seen at Davis' this season. Then there is Brown and Watson, in long jumps; Seaman and Burke doing difficult aerial pole balancing, and a duo of roller skaters. Besides these, the brothers Leo give an original comedy sketch.

Last of all comes the circus. In the much abused words of the showman this part of the performance "must be seen to be appreciated." Sherman and Morrisey handle the comedy reins in the usual happy manner. The show will run for the rest of the week, with daily and nightly performances. James S. Davis, of the West Side, is manager and transportation agent of the show.

YOOB THE PEACEMAKER.

Assessors' Was Injuring His Chances So It Was Called Off.

After a month of child's play and tomfoolery, the board of city assessors yesterday ceased their defiance to the law and handed over the assessment books to the board of revision and appeals.

There is no telling how long their pig-headedness might have prompted them to delay the affairs of the city had not the solicitations of Charley YooB, the Democratic member, who is a candidate for re-election, induced them to put an end to the war.

The force at the city hall talked of little else yesterday but the capitulation of the assessors. Then when the true motive of the back down was known, none could be found who would do ought but greet with jeers the statement to the effect that the assessors were prompted in their ignominious retreat by their interest in the welfare of the city.

TONNAGE DISPUTE SETTLED

Outcome of the Meeting of Coal Company Presidents in New York.

PERCENTAGE OF THE READING

It Is Fixed at 20.50 Per Cent. of the Total Output—It Has Been Outstanding for 21 Per Cent.—Good Thing for the Coal Trade.

The meeting of the presidents of the anthracite coal companies in New York yesterday was the most important held for many months. An amicable agreement was reached concerning the percentage to be allowed to the coal companies, and coal men everywhere in the anthracite region rejoice in consequence.

Nearly all of the ills that have beset the coal trade for some time past have been charged to the complications growing out of the inability to agree upon the amount of coal the Reading company should mine. The officers of that company insisted that they should be granted 21 per cent. of the total output and those in control of the other coal companies thought such a percentage excessive and refused to agree to such an allotment. Indiscriminate mining followed, the market was at times glutted with coal and ruinous prices prevailed in consequence.

Last Thursday the presidents of the coal companies thought such a percentage failed to come to an agreement and a committee was appointed to make up a report relative to the division of the tonnage for the year.

Attended Yesterday's Meeting.

This committee made its report yesterday at the meeting in New York, which was attended by the following: Samuel Sloan, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company; E. P. Wilbur, Lehigh Valley Railroad company; J. S. Harris, Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company; J. Rogers Maxwell, Central Railroad of New Jersey; John E. Thomas, Erie company; Alfred Walter, Delaware, Susquehanna and Schuylkill company; Thomas P. Fowler, New York, Ontario and Western company; Simon Borg, New York, Susquehanna and Western; R. M. Olyphant, Delaware, Hudson and Western company; Present Robert Roberts, Pennsylvania Railroad company.

The report of the special committee on tonnage was read at yesterday's meeting at the conclusion of which the following agreement had been reached as to percentage of tonnage: Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, 13.35 per cent.; Delaware and Hudson, 9.60 per cent.; Pennsylvania railroad, 11.40 per cent.; Reading, 20.50 per cent.; Lehigh Valley, 15.65 per cent.; Jersey Central, 11.70 per cent.; Pennsylvania Coal company, 4 per cent.; Erie, 4 per cent.; Ontario and Western, 3.19 per cent.; Delaware, Susquehanna and Schuylkill, 3.50 per cent.; and Susquehanna and Western, 3.20 per cent.

They Became Operative.

These percentages become operative today and will continue in force until January 1, 1897. The Reading company to revision after thirty days from that date. The sales agents of the anthracite coal companies will meet today to discuss the question of prices. Action on production will be decided by them.

Among coal men in this city there was much satisfaction expressed at the settlement of the tonnage dispute. Information received by some of the local coal men relative to the New York meeting conveyed the information that the allotment made is satisfactory to all concerned and that President Wilbur, Harris, Maxwell, Thomas and Walter have been appointed a committee to complete the details of the allotment.

More prosperous conditions in the coal trade are now expected.

They were married on April 5, 1881, and they lived together until May 1, 1890, when she left her home, as she alleges, on account of his cruel and abusive treatment and his neglect to provide for herself and family.

A Novel Exhibition.

A most novel exhibition is going on at 512 Spruce street. E. R. Dush & Co. are displaying in their windows a lot of gloves and slippers, besides other work which they have cleaned. After cleaning them, they put them, restoring them to their original shade. They also have the advantage of being able to tint the light shades of evening gloves some other color, to match evening costumes. On the whole, ladies and gentlemen having work of this kind will be much interested in seeing their windows today.

What the grievances are could not be learned but the statement was given out that none of them were a serious nature. BRIDGE NOT IN DANGER.

One of the Piers Was Threatened but No Fear Now Felt.

Although the underground fire which is raging in the cut-filled Ontario and Western railroad yard is in close proximity to the westerly pier of the Linden street bridge, City Engineer Phillips expressed the belief that there need be no alarm felt for the bridge's safety.

At first there were some apprehensions of fear on this score, but since the railroad company has succeeded in reaching the fire and given assurance that it can be controlled, the alarm has subsided. Mr. Phillips stated yesterday that he has watched the place closely, and if it was found that the fire was threatening to spread to cut on which the pier is built, he was prepared to take preventive measures.

SCHLENTZ PERJURY CASE

Testimony Heard at the Hearing Before Alderman Millar.

SIMRELL'S PLAIN STATEMENT

It Shows That There Was No Truth in the Affidavit Sworn to by Schlenz—Simrell Corroborated by Fred Jones.

The hearing upon the charge of perjury brought by Charles Simrell against Henry Schlenz, each of the First district of the Twentieth ward, was begun late yesterday afternoon before Alderman Millar. Simrell and Fred Jones, the witnesses who conducted the recent primary in the district, were on Wednesday morning arrested upon Schlenz's affidavit that he had knowingly and fraudulently violated the Republican rules for conducting primary elections. On Wednesday night Schlenz was arrested on the perjury charge. Only three witnesses had been examined up to 6 o'clock last night when Attorney Watson, counsel for the defendant, agreed to the request of Major Everett Warren, the plaintiff's attorney, that the hearing be continued to Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Alderman Warren explained that other important local business in court would engage all his time and attention until Saturday night.

When the case was opened Alderman Millar's court room was completely filled. Spectators, seated and standing, occupied all the space outside the railing and a large crowd was grouped about the doorway leading to the hall. Defendant Schlenz occupied a seat alongside his counsel, and but a few seats remained for the witnesses. Major Warren, the secretary of the recent Puller hall rump convention. He had been Schlenz's advisor and best man in the litigation which led up to the present case, but took no part in yesterday's proceedings.

Attorney Warren, for the plaintiff, offered in evidence Schlenz's affidavit charging Simrell and Jones with fraud, upon which the charge of perjury against Schlenz was brought.

Simrell was called to the stand and testified, in substance, as follows: The primary was held at the corner of Cooper's hotel, the voters handing their ballots through a window which was raised several inches and opened upon the hotel porch. Seventy-nine votes were cast, fifty for Julian Cooper, the Republican candidate, and twenty-nine for Schlenz. The ballot box was guarded by a man named Ruane who laid aside and on the table, which was close up against the wall beneath the window, because Ruane was thought to be a Democrat. As each ballot was deposited in the box, Simrell, Jones, the other witness, recorded the name of the voter and the number on the ballot. The votes and the record were twice examined after the polls closed and were found to correspond.

Simrell admitted having gone to the water closet and taking the box with him. Jones, standing in the doorway, opening into the hall from where he could see if any voters came to the window. Simrell returned in from three to five minutes. The box was a cigar box. It had a small slot just large enough to admit a ballot and the cover was securely tacked at 4 o'clock and was not opened until the polls closed.

Invited to Watch the Count.

Schlenz and Cooper, the opposing candidates, were invited into the room when the count was made and stood alongside the table and examined the ballots. They shook hands after the count and Schlenz said he was satisfied with the manner in which the primary had been conducted.

Major Warren handed the witness the Republican primary rule for 1891 which he later offered in evidence as still governing primary elections. Simrell said the book did not contain so far as he knew, anything bearing upon the qualifications of a voter. All who voted that day were Republicans.

On cross-examination Attorney Watson brought out the fact, which had appeared in the direct examination, that the witness had been to the water closet and had taken the ballot box with him. He denied that in putting ballots into the box he took other ballots out and threw them on the floor.

Fred Jones, who with Simrell was arrested upon the information sworn to by Schlenz, was called.

Evidence of Mr. Jones.

His evidence was practically a corroboration of that of Simrell. He stated that he stood in the doorway talking to Mrs. Conoran, the proprietor's wife, while Simrell was in the water closet and that he was called to the window to vote. Schlenz was about the place from 4 o'clock until after the count. On cross-examination Jones said that he saw each ballot deposited in the box before he recorded the name and number of the voter and that the list and votes tallied in the information sworn to that every ballot was accounted for.

The list of voters was offered in evidence.

Hon. Alex T. Connell, representative of the Second Legislative district, testified to the good repute of Simrell, the plaintiff. Attorney Watson objected to the evidence as immaterial, but was overruled.

Mr. Connell further testified that he had examined the box just before the voting began and found the cover securely tacked. He was in the room with Candidates Cooper and Schlenz and the two witnesses when the count was begun, but left at Mr. Jones' request.

quest. Schlenz later said the election had been conducted satisfactorily. Mr. Connell knew of no political rule of the Republicans which described the qualifications for a primary voter.

HANDSOME WINDOW.

Artistic Arrangement of Draperies in S. G. Kerr, Son & Co's Store.

The show windows of S. G. Kerr Son & Co., of 408 Lackawanna avenue, were among the most attractive noticed along that busy thoroughfare yesterday. They had just been decorated in an artistic manner with samples of the house furnishing goods and bric-a-brac with which the elegant establishment of the new firm is now filled and presented an appearance that could not fail to please the eye of the aesthete. In one of the windows were handsome pieces of painted tapestry, in which pleasing subjects had been treated in a masterly way by the artist. In addition to these were beautiful fur rugs, samples of plush, curtains, bric-a-brac, etc., all arranged with excellent taste that gave evidence of skill and artistic instincts on part of the decorator.

The entire stock behind this handsome window display seems to have been selected with equal care, and the various patterns in draperies, floor coverings, curtains, etc., are of the finest material and of latest designs.
