HIBERNIANS' BANQUET.

Division No. 11 Held Their Second Annual Banquet at Burke's Hall.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians of America, Division No. 11, held their second annual entertainment and banquet in Burke's hall and Hotel Harrison Wednesday night, and it was an elaborate affair. Over 100 couples was present when the dancing commenced. Miss Grady ably presided at the piano and the excellent music pleased all. W. Gardner was director of music.

After the dancing had been enjoyed, an intellectual treat was given. Miss Alice Bridgett gave two most excellent selections upon the plano. The Crescent quartette also gave a good account of themselves. The singing of Miss Flannelly and the Misses Powderly were features of the entertainment.

The president of Division No. 11, John P. Collins, then delivered his presiden tial address; it touched upon the aims and benefits of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The effort was a grand one, and his remarks were applauded. The banquet followed the address and was much enjoey. Landlord Monohan was highly complimented upon the feast prepared.

Baptist Christian Endeavor Society Celebrates Its Sixth Anniversary.

The Baptist Christian Endeavor Soclety celebrated its sixth anniversary in the chapel by banqueting about two hundred members and friends and the affair was a servert success

The president of the society, W. D. Frank, addressed the friends in a well chosen speech; and dwelt upon the progreas of the society. The society, he said, was organized six years ago with a membership of twenty-six active members, one honorary and six assoclate members, now the society has a membership of over one hundred. The Rev. T. E. Jepson offered a prayer, and a most excellent repast was served The Rev. T. E. Jepson and Rev. Charles Lee also addressed the Endenviriers

Henvy Fall of Roof.

The workmen employed at the Last Chance colliery, near the city, had what may be termed a miraculous escape from being crushed to death under a very heavy fall of roof. It appears that seven were employed in the upper drift, and they were talking together when they heard a rumbling noise; then they decided that they would depart They had not gone very far before a fall came down and caught one of them. injuring his head and shoulders.

Mrs. Walsh Passes (way

Mrs. Walsh, wife of Anthony Walsh of East Pike street, passed away after only a few months' illness from a complication of diseases. She had been a resident of this city from her childhood and was well-known to a very large circle of friends. She is survived by her husband and two children. The funeral will take place at an early hour Saturday nigt, and a requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Rose's church, and the interment will be at St. Rose cemetery.

ARCHBALD

The Democrats have nominated Thomas W. Loftus for auditor and Edward O'Horo for high constable. Thomas Monie, who was nominated by the Republicans for the office of whool director, from the First ward, has declined to run, owing to a press of other matters. It is likely that his place on the ticket will be filled by Henry Myers, the present director from that ward, whose term expires in June,

A number of residents of the Third ward, who were dissatisfied with the result of the caucus last Saturday night held another caucus on Wednesday evening and nominated William Hunt for council and Michael Toolin for chool diffector for three years, and Henry Frobst for one year. This means a bitter fight in the Third ward this year.

The funeral of the late Peter Kearney, who was killed by a fall of top coal in White Oak mine on Tuesday afternoon, will take place this mornog. A requiem mass will be solemand at 10 o clock. Interment will be a the Cathode centery.

He may be very charming, but this is no place for a flirtation; besides, he's shy and diffident, and we may lose him." "All right, ma'am." said Helen, as she looked up from her notebook. "And while on this subject." con-tinued the editor, "I want it distinctly understood that my husband is to be treated with the greatest courtesy and respect around this office." "Why, of course, ma'am," said the private secretary in surprise. "Has any one been discourteous?" "Well, he told me when he was down here yesterday that some girl tried to start up a fliftation with him, and I won't have it. I'd discharge her if I knew who it was. It's mighty strange that the managing editor's husband can't come to her office without being insulted by some reporter." "What else, ma'am?" asked the sec retary, discreetly avoiding any further allusion to the subject that so excited the editor.

"Leave a note for the night editor and tell her she'll have to have copy rushed. The forewoman of the com-posing room complains that it was too late last night. She says she needs a galley girl, too. Do you know any bright, strong girl that wants a job?" "All right; tell her to call around tomorrow some time and we'll try her. Then make a note to instruct the night police girls that they must be more careful. One of them left a revolver in the society editor's room last night, and he was nearly frightened to death." "Yes, ma'am," said the private secretary. "What else?" "Tell the business manager that I

MUTUAL CONFIDENCE.

An amusing anecdote of a lady and gentleman who were traveling together runs as follows: They were strangers to each other. All at once the gentleman said: "Madam, may I ask you to look out of the window? I should like to make some change in my toilet." "Certainly, sir," she readily replied, at the same time getting up and turning her back upon him. A few moments afterward he said:

"Now, madam, I have finished, and you can sit down again." When the lady looked round she saw her male companion transformed into an elegant lady, wearing a thick veil.

Attess Starts. "And now, sir or madam, whatever you are," said the lady, "I would also request you to put your face out of the window, as I, too, wish to make some
