WEST SIDE EVENTS.

Visduct Project Is the Topic Most Engerly Discussed by People of This Part of the City.

As might be expected, the viaduct project to be voted for next Tuesday is one of the leading, if not the uppermost, topic on the West Side at present. The need of such a structure across the tracks at the foot of West Lackawanna avenue hill has been felt by all classes for the past twenty years, and for many years has been continually agitated by the people. Many plans and suggestions have been considered, each of which had its adherents, but the present idea was thoroughly discussed by the West Side board of trade and unanimously adopted as the best one to carry into effect, because it will serve the purpose of security to life and limb and aveid the many vexations delays to pedestrians and vehicular traffic.

The people have since, with practical the purpose of security to life and limb and avoid the many vexatious delays to pedestrians and vehicular traffic.

The people have since, with practical innalimity, endorsed it, realizing that it will do away with the uncertainties of the threatened claims for damages which the former plans encountered. This subject was made the theme of discussion at a regular meeting of the central board of trade, and endorsed, but one vote being cast in the negative. It is therefore plain to be seen that the insinuation that the project was invented and fostered by the Traction and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad companies is purely the fruit of imagination. It is a project of the people for the people and, we trust, by the people on Tuesday next.

Our high school and other clucational institutions would be more largely attended were it not for the line of dangerous railroad crossings which menace life and limb in going to and from the central city; the benefits of the Albright library would be greatly enhanced could these death traps be avoided, and the city's parks enjoyed by scores who now fear to take their lives and those of their little ones in their hands in reaching them. To those of our citizens who are engaged in any manner of business requiring teaming it would be of incalculable value in the saving of time in the course of a subject of the course of the property can be purchased and the structure can surely be built for the sum the people have fully as much claim as the former, and their time and comfort should also receive consideration.

The property can be purchased and the structure can surely be built for the sum the people have fully as much claim as the former, and their time and comfort should also receive consideration.

The property can be purchased and the structure can surely be built for the sum the people are asked to vote for, together with the pledges of the corporations interested, and the increase in taxation will not be felt. The laborer will contribute 2 cents a year, the miner and

Pettit-Jones Nuptials.

Pettit-Jones Nuptials.

The nuptial ceremony of Samuel D. Pettit, of Nova Scotia, formerly of this side, and Miss Annie S. Jones, was performed yesterday at high noon at the home of the bride's brother-in-law, W. W. Evans, of 323 North Rebecca avenue, Rev. W. S. Jones, pastor of the First Welsh Baptist church, read the marriage rites of the Baptist church. As the bridal party entered the main parlor, Mrs. D. B. Thomas played Lobengrin's wedding march. Miss Marths Davies, of Eynon street, was maid of honor, and G. A. Williams acted as best man. The bride was becomingly attred in a travelling costume, blue in color, with black trimmings. She carried roses. Miss Davies wore a gree gown, with trimmings of a similar hue. The wedding ceremony was nicely arranged and was impressively performed. After Mr. and Mrs. Pettit hed been declared man and wife a wedding dinner was served to the few intimate friends and relatives of the family who winessed the ceremony. On the 2.34 Delaware, Laektawanno and Western train, Mr. and Mrs. Pettit left for New York. They will permanently reside in Yarmouth, N. S., where Mr. Pettit is employed as secretary of the Coast Railway company. Both young people are held in the highest regard by a large circle of rieffils. Mr. Pettit has arisen by perseverance and pluck to a position which is trustworthy and lucrative. His many acquaintances here extend the best wishes for the young people's welfare.

Board of Trade Meets.

The West Side board of trade held a regular meeting last evening. The board is head-over-heels in the viaduct pool. Last night the viaduct was the chief topic of discussion. The deed for the land on Robinson street will be handed over to the city next week. The document is now being prepared at Philadelphia. Manager Silliman leaves today for the Pennsylvania metropolis to obtain the deed. City Engineer Phillips moved that a vote of thanks be extended to the central city board of trade for their hearty endorsement of the viaduct.

In regard to the deeding of the Fellows' cemetery plot, on South Main avenue, to be used by the city as a public park, there seems to be a mistake somewhere. Two of the seven heirs were seen yesterday in regard to the reported offer. They say that there is no truth whatever in the report. The information came from a seemingly trustworthy source but the informer was mistaken. Ex-Mayor John H. Fellows, whose father, now deceased, was at the head of the Fellows, was seen last evening. He knows nothing of the rumored intention of the heirs to present the property. The trustees who were appointed for for the estate are all dead and the most of the heirs have sold their interests in the large property to a man maned Wellington, in New York state. Mr. Fellows saws that no one is properly endowed with the power of giving the Yellows cemetery. At last night's meeting of the West Side board of trade President Mason, who is at the head of the committee appointed to see that a side walk is laid in front of the Fellows cemetery, announced that he would seek the source of the reported offer and would endeavor to bring about the gift. He thinks that a park at that place would do immeasureable good.
