MUSICAL MATTERS.

Amid the tumult of the Fete Cham-petre and many other attractions which have besieged Scrantonians within the last few weeks, we still have another worthy and deserving object on our hands, which we can't afford to forset and that is the testimonial on our hands, which we can't afford to forget, and that is the testimonial which is to be given Mr. John T. Watkins on Friday evening. February 21. The committee having the testimonial in charge have been working assiduously for some time and the affair is already an assured success. The very best musical talent which Northeastern Pennsylvania contains will conern Pennsylvania contains will con-tribute their service, and the pro-gramme to be rendered upon that evening will be one long to be remembered. That Mr. Watkins deserves the un-stinted support of the whole city and surrounding country goes unquestioned, and we should deem it an honor to send and we should deem it an honor to send such a worthy, intelligent person abroad to study music. He has made arrangements to enter the Royal Acad-emy of Music beginning with the April term, under Dr. A. C. McKenzie's tu-torship. Mr. Watkins has also some yery strong letters recommending him torship. Mr. Watkins has also some very strong letters recommending him as a private pupil under the famous teacher of voice culture, Signor Randegger, and this is considered by all aspirants in vocal music as a very rare opportunity. OUR INCREASING DEFICITS.

Figures Which Show That the Wilsen Tariff Bill Is One of the Montment I Failures of the Century.

The monthly deficits since the Wilson bill was passed would have averaged a great deal higher, says William E. Cur-tis in the Chicago Record, if the accre-tary of the treasury had not withheld a considerable amount of the appropria-tions of congress. His natural and ne-cessary rolley is to practice the strict. cessary policy is to practice the strict-est economy and avoid the payment of every obligation that can be postponed. He has refused to pay the sugar bounty, which amounts to about $13,600,600; the rebate upon the tax on alcohol used in the arts and manufactures, which amounts to about $13,000,000, and many appropriations for public buildings, rivers and harbors and other purposes. It is estimated that the shortage in re-ceipts since the Wilson bill went into effect would be $75,000,000 more than it actually has been if all the appropria-tions of congress had been promptly paid. The deficit for the month of January last was $2,458,160.

January last was $2,458,160.

The revenues of the government never failed to exceed the expenditures for thirty years, from 1854 to 1894. The highest surplus was $145,543,810. in 1892, and the lowest was $2,241,674, in 1892. The excess of revenues over expenditures in 1890 amounted to $35,040,271 and in 1891 to $26,838,541. Then the McKinley bill went into effect. The duty on sugar was removed and the surplus dropped to $9,814,453. Then President Cleveland was elected. In 1894 the tide turned, and instead of a surplus there was a deficit of $63,803,260. In 1895 the deficit was $42,805,223, while for the first seven months of the present fiscal year it has been $18,853,867.

During the four years of President of the government were $124,000,000 more than the expenditures, while during the two fiscal years and ten months of the present administration they have been $131,000,000 less.
