The current number of "Form," a New York publication devoted to social news and gossip of the principal cities of the country, has this to say concerning Miss Clara Simpson, daughter of Mr, and Mrs. C. D. Simpson of this city: "Miss Clara Simpson seemingly has more blessings than are usually bestowed upon even fortunate mortals. Not yet out of her teens, lovely in face and figure, cultured and accomplished, Miss Simpson has also the added advantage of being the only daughter of one of the great coal magnates of this region. Not the least of her charms is a sweet contraito voice, which has been carefully trained. She is a favorite in Scranton society, because of her graciousness and simplicity of manner. Her mother, Mrs. Clarence D. Simpson, has long been known as one of the beautiful women of the city, as well as a social and philauthropic leader."

Rendham Burglars Get Long Terms in Cherry Hill-Van Dyke Will Spend Three Years and Seven Months There -Other Sentences.

Murderer Leonardo Rosa was sen-tenced Saturday morning by Judge Edwards to spend eleven years and six months in the Eastern penitentiary. The prisoner was once tried and con-victed in the first degree. The crime was most brutal, but the court was not satisfied with the evidence and grant-ed Rosa a new trial. When he was to be put on trial the second time last Monday be entered a plea of guilty to the several counts in the indictment and the court fixed the grade of crime as of the second degree.

The dead body of Vito Larusso, riddled with bullets, was found at 5 a m. on Feb. 28, 1895, lying alongside the road on "Duck" street, Dunmore. The deceased had been aroused out of his bed at 9 o'clock the night before by Rosa and three others who were going around carousing. They went into two saloons and drank freely; it was ot certain what time the shooting wadone. The arrest of Rosa and the three companions followed and the cotoner's jury placed all the blame on Rosa. A PROGRESSIVE FIRM.

New Store Occupied by Reynolds Brothers on Wroming Avenue. Reynolds Bros., who have been in the general stationery business for over four years at 317 Lackawanna avenue, moved on Saturday into their new store in the Hotel Jermyn building. It is now the most complete in its line in Scranton, and is metropolitan in

Their experience in this line of tradecovers a number of years, but not until covers an under of years, but not until the partnership. four years ago was the partnership formed. John and D. M. Reynolds are the members of the firm, What they have accomplished up to the present is a fair criterion of what the future holds in store for them.

In their new quarters the most complete equipments are arranged. The store is fitted in seasoned oak, in na-tural colors, and the furnishings are in keeping with the artistic style of the surroundings. The show cases are models of elegance, and the display in the show windows are a faithful index of the large and assorted stock carried for sale.

The location of their new place is one of such prominence and convenience as to attract the buyer, for outside of New York city there is not a better equipped nor more artistically furnished store in all its appointments and arrangements. It is with pride and satisfaction they can contemplate the success they have achieved, and by the exercise of the same fair treatment and courtesy they can rely on a continuance of the success that has crossed ance of the success that has crossed their business pathway.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

The comedy drama, "Old Tennessee," introducing Ernest Hogan as Uncle Pete will commence a half week's engagement this afternoon at Davis' theater. The piece, like most southern dramas, is at times exciting. The plot is interesting and well carried out by a capable company. The feature of the performance is Ernest Hogan's work as an aged darky, being a wonderful piece of character work. The twenty colored artists in their numerous specialties are an exceptionally clever lot of performers and are bound to win the applause they certainly deserve. Miss Minnie Church assumes the role of a plantation girl with ability, also appearing to advantage in several pleasing specialties. The admirers of southern drama should not fail to see this presentation.

The attraction at the Academy of Music Thesday evening will be William C. Andrews, who will present one of those unique comedies of the "Charlle's Aunt" school, entitled "My Wife's Friend." The play is one of those uproarlously funny pieces where the characters get tangled up to such an extent that a straightening out seems next to impossible. However, the author, Fred. Marsden, is a very clever man and Mr. Andrews' comedians are clever people, and so all comes out smooth in the end. The ladies of the company are Miss Mary Giraux, Minnie Monk and Antoinnette Walker. Among the kentlemen are Mr. Albert Livingston, H. Rees Davies, W. W. Pium and many others.

That greatest and most magnetic of modern plays, "Trilby," will be seen here at the Academy of Music Wednesday and Thursday evenings with A. M. Palmer's company under the direction of William A. Brady and will be brought here from New York with all its entrancing features, the company, the scenery, the music and every stage affect which made it so gigantic a success in New York, Boston and Chicago, and will be seen here for the first and only time, as "Trilby" must be played in every city in the United States before the season ends, hence there can positively be no return visit here.

What has been looked forward to as one of the chief comedy events of the present season, the engagement of Robert Hillard and his admirable company, presenting the new hit in society comedy, "Lost-21 Hours," which comes to the Academy of Music this evening. If any may judge from the almost unanimous verdict of dramatic critics in cities where this production has been given, the present season, notably New York, Roston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, etc., there can be no doubt that Mesers, Tremayne and Fuller have written a capital comedy, under the title of "Lost-24 Hours,"

Mr. Richmond adds: "We were both engaged as clerks in stores, and in May, 1845, joined our capital and under the name of Rich-mond & Robinson commenced business as merchants in a store standing or as increments in a store standing on ground at the northwest corner of Main and Salem streets, Carbondale, Pa. The partnership continued until 1853, when I succeeded to the business, Mr. Robinson going into the lumber and also mercantile business, and a few also mercantile business, and a few years after removed with his family to Wisconsin. Mr. Robinson was well known at Carbondale and vicinity and he will be recalled by all the older residents of that vicinity. "About 1860 Mr. Robinson returned to Albany, N.
