An Ashland dispatch says: The announcement is made that the Logan and Centralia collieries at Centralia, and the Big Mine Run colliery at this place, now operated by Lewis A. The deal also involves the transfer of the on the .Germantown coal tract. rease on the Germantown coal tract, which has been held by Riley & Co. for the past four years. and will be continued without any change in the ownership or manager. change in the ownership or management. The most important featur ment. The most important feature connected with this deal is that the Lehigh Valley Coal company has decided to develop the Germantown tract northwest of Ashland, where there is a vast amount of good coal. A breaker will be creeted, which will be one of the largest and most complete in the coal region, giving employment to perhaps 800 men and boys. It is said that this work will be commenced at once, and will be completed in about two years. To reach this colliery, the Lehigh Valley railroad will construct a branch of their railroad extending from Dark Corner, a mining village about one mile side north of Ashland to Germantown, a distance of five miles. The prelimi-nary survey for this branch of the road has already been made.

The Lehigh Coal and Navigation ompany, in its seventy-fifth annual port, shows a loss of $11,763 on coal mined in the year 1895. The old Lehigh company was first in the business of sending anthracite coal to market, and its coal has always ranked with the best produced. The company paid 4 per cent. dividends, but failed to earn the full amount necessary by $134,935. The company produced 17,695 tons of coal more than in 1894, but the shipments of coal over its railroad leased to the Cen-tral Railroad of New Jersey increased 241,000 tons, which, with other augment-ed business, raised the amount received as rental $135,501. Taking into consideration the 10 cents per ton sinking fund on coal mined the company ran behind for the year $229,000. sult, observes the Philadelphia Press, was due entirely to the unfortunate state of the coal trade, and not to the management of the company, which, under President Pardee and his lieutenants, is conservative and business-like.

The Senate Continues in Its Arduous Task of Doing Nothing.

MORGAN SCORED IN HOUSE

tribution Brings Down Another Volley Upon the Head of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The fact that the house when it rejected the senate free currency amendments to the bond bill did not accompany its message to that effect with a request for a conference was brought up in the senate to-day by Mr. Allen (Pop., Neb.) and he suggested to the finance committee, whether the occasion was not a good one to bring about an agreement on the subject between the two houses. He was informed by the chairman of He was informed by the chairman of the finance committee, Mr. Morrill (Rep., Vt.) that the committee was waiting for some action on the part of the house; and he was reminded by Mr. Chandler, in a facetious way, that he (Mr. Allen) could move that the senate recede from its amendment. Mr. Allen also had something more to say about the failure of the Pactife Railroad company, which is now having hearings as to the adjustment of the debt of the Pacific railroad to the government not having specially requesternment not having specially request-ed the officers of the Farmers' Alliance in Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado, and the owners of stock vards in Omaha, to appear and present their views.

The chairman of the committee (Mr. Gear, R. I.) said that general notice had been given throughout the press associations and added that the committee had no official knowledge of such organization. The resolution official was a such as the committee of t ganization. The resolution offered some time ago by Mr. Peffer (Pop., Kan.) for a special committee to inquire into the circumstances of the recent bond issue was taken up and discussed until the close of the morning hour, when under the rules it went on the calendar. The military academy bill was then taken up and passed—the amendment offered yesterday by Mr. Vilas (Dem., Wis.) for two additional cadets at large from each state having been defeated by three majority.

The pension appropriation was then taken up and passed.

House Proceedings.

The house today, after three days' consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill, finally disposes of it. The feature of the debate today was the attack by Mr. Cousins (Rep., Ia.) upon the methods of the secretary of agriculture in connection with his refusal to carry out the law for the purchase and distribution of seeds, as provided for in the appropriation acts of 1894 and for in the appropriation acts of 1894 and 1895. He said the corrupted and subordinated commission appointed by the sec-retary had long in advance of the time fixed by the secretary for them to examine and report upon the bids for sup-plying seeds to the department in-formed inquirers that there would be no distribution of seed, showing a predetermination on his part to nullify the law. The government, Mr. Cousins said, was no longer a government for the neople and by the people, but a government by J. Plerpont Morgan and

. Sterling Morton. Amendments incorporated in the bill make it mandatory upon the secretary to purchase and distribute seed, as has been the custom prior to the suspension of the practice last year, without referof the practice last year, without reference to the requirements of the statute that they shall be "rare and uncommon," as that phrase was constructed by Secretary Morton. The appropriation for seed was increased from $130,000 to $150,000, and the seed division abolished by Secretary Morton last year was rehabilitated with a full quota of clerks to enable the secretary to execute the law.

HANGED BY A MOB.

Iwo Men Taken from a Kentucky Prison, but One Escapes.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 18.—Fountain Martin and William Troxwell, who were confined in the jail at Monticello on the charge of barn burning, were taken out by a mob early yesterday morning and Martin was hanged. Troxwell was about to be lynched, but finding the noose was loose, he slipped it over his head and darted away in the darkness. Troxwell appeared at a farm house three miles from the scene of the hang-ing and got his breakfast. No one has seen him since and it is believed he is making his way into the Cumberand mountains, where pursuit would be well nigh impossible was the third attempt to lynch Troxwell. Three weeks ago he was taken from his home by a mob and hanged to a tree until he was nearly dead in order to make him confess to the burning of a barn. He swore out warrants the next day for a number of men in and around Steubenville, but he never appeared against them and he teen or twenty men were in the gang. They got into the jail by pretending that one of their number was a pris-oner. The authorities believe that they can capture them.

been arrested and will be sent to Ottawa for the attempted murder of Mrs.
David Davis in the middle of last December. Mr. Davis and his wife, an aged and wealthy couple living alone on their farm about three miles south of here, were seated in their parlor in the evening, when a shot was fired through the window, the ball taking ef-fect in the side of Mrs. Dayis' neck and nearly ending her life. Mr. Davis ran to the door, but the assassin was al-ready a hundred yards away and could not be identified. Investigation showed that James McGrath was not accounted for at the time of the attempted murder. He was time of the attempted murder. He was thereupon accused and admitted his guilt, saying he had been short of money and planned to murder both Mr. Davis and his wife to secure a large sum which they kept in their house. After firing the first shot his heart failed him and he was unable to finish the work of assassination.

Function at Quincy. Quincy, Ill., Feb. 18.-A colored hop and cake walk at Walter Summerville's house came to a riotous and bloody close at 5.30 this morning, just as the last keg went dry. Shortly before the row started Mrs. Matt Brown was taken bleeding at the nose. Some one sug-gested that cold steel applied to her back would stop the bleeding, and Peachy Williams, the belle of the ball, asked for a razor. In an instant half a dozen razors were offered to her.

Sam Duncan insisted that he should apply the steel to the woman's back, and Peachy argued otherwise. The two came to blows, and Duncan whipped out a knife and sent the blade into Peachy's body in three different places. Ed Williams, who had gone home for his shotgun, appeared on the scene and took a shot at Duncan, but missed him Williams fled from the city, and Dun-can surrendered himself to the police Peachy Williams is dangerously wound-
