REPUBLICANS TRIUMPHANT

They Carry Elections About the State by Large Majorities.

PHILADELPHIA IS ALL RIGHT

The Republicans Make Their Usual Sweep of 60,000-Returns from Various Cities and Villages. The Usual Off Year Vote.

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—The municipal election here today passed off quietly and the Republicans made their usual sweep on the candidates for county of-fices. The county officers voted for were city solicitor and two police magwere city solicitor and two police mag-istrates, as under the law both the Re-publicans and Democrats are each en-titled to one, and Edward A. Devlin and Maurice F. Wilhere were respec-tively re-elected on the Republican and Democratic tickets. John L. Kinsey, the present city solicitor, was re-elected over Arthur Biddie, the Democratic candidate, by a majority of probably 69,000. The Democratic vote was light, but the Regulican vote was heavy for but the Republican vote was heavy for an "off year." The heavy Republican vote was due principally to the bitter factional fight between the Republicans

The "combine," as the faction headed by David Martin is known, and the Quayites grappled in a struggle over councilmanic candidates. The Quayites did not make a fight in every ward in the city against the regular candidates of the party, but only in certain wards of the party, but only in certain wards. In some instances in these wards the Quayites and Democrats united on the same candidate, and in others the "combiners" and the Democrats were arrayed against the Quayites. Again, in other of the wards, three straight tickets were nominated. Owing to these omplications it is difficult to learn with hom the victory in the councilmanic ght rests. Charges of wholesale fraud fight rests. Charges of wholesale fraud in some of the wards are being freely made. The Municipal league, a reform organization, also nominated candidates for councilmen, and in some instances indorsed either the "combine" candidate or the Quay candidate, but from returns received, the league does not seem to have cut much of a figure in the light.

One of the Hotheds

Johnstown, Pa., Feb. 18.—The Democrats swept the city today, electing Wagner for mayor by a majority of 589. The rest of the ticket was elected by smaller majorities. There were Democratic gains in almost every one of the seventeen wards. Sam Lenhart, for controller, and B. F. Speedy, for treasurer. Democrats, defeated Brown and Wehn.

School Directors' Fight.

School Directors' Fight.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 18.—The mu-nicipal election here coday was one which centered principally in the school directors' fight. Dr. G. W. Guthrie, who has served on the board nineteen years, and Dr. W. G. Weaver, for the past fifteen years, were both triumphantly re-elected to serve three years longer by about 1,500 majority in the face of ost energetic campaign with three strong competitors. Consolidation at Sunbury.

Sunbury, Pa., Feb. 18. Sunbury and East Sunbury borough voted today on consolidation, which carried by 300 majority. Sunbury now has a population

Republicans Own Media.

Media, Pa., Feb. 18.—The entire Re-publican ticket, including seven counclimen, two school directors, three au-ditors and a constable, treasurer, supervisor, justice of the peace and town clerk were elected.

Light Vote at West Chester. West Chester, Pa., Feb. 18.—A very light vote was out here today, there being but little interest in the munici-pal election. The Republican ticket Publishers' association.

J. L. Atherton and D. B. Atherton and the members of their families are in Meshoppen, Bradford county, to attend the solden welding of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. James S. Griffin, head designer for years in the drapery department of Shepard.

Quiet at Pottsville. Pottsville, Pa., Feb. 18.—The election here today passed off quietly. The Re-publican borough ticket had no opposi-tion. In some of the wards, however, Democratic and independent candi-dates were elected to council and jus-tice of the page over the regular Retice of the peace over the regular Republican candidates Sweep at Lancaster. Lancaster. Pa., Feb. 18.—The Republicans swept this city today, re-electing Edwin S. Smeltz, mayor by 503 majority over Benjamin F. Davis, Democrat. The Republicans will have a large majority in both branches of council. Hot Fight at Altoona.

Altoona. Pa., Feb. 18.—The municipal election held here today for mayor, treasurer, controller.councilmen, school irectors and assessors at large was one of the hottest ever held in this city. At midnight only four precincts out of At midnight only four precincts out of 23 had been heard from and these showed a Democratic gain of 170 for mayor and city controller. If the same increase holds good in all the other precincts William W. Murray, Democrat, for mayor, and W. L. Nicholson, Democrat for city controller, will be elected by safe majorities. H. F. Ferguson, Republican, is elected city treasurer.

Big Gains at Easton. Easton, Pa., Feb. 18.—An unusually large vote was polled here today. The entire city Republican ticket was elected. Majority for mayor is about 500. Three years ago the Democratic major-ity for mayor was 46. Colored Assessor Elected.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 18.—John D. Patterson, Republican, has been elect-Patterson, Republican, has been elected mayor by a majority of at least 1.500 over Walter, Democrat, and Ellenberger, citizens reform. The entire Republican ticket is elected with the possible exception of C. C. Shriver for controller. A. W. Denneo, colored, is elected a city assessor.

Close Contest at Reading Reading, Pa., Feb. 19,-At 12,30 this norning the contest for mayor in this morning the contest for mayor in this city is so close that it may take several hours to determine the result. At this hour Leinbach, Republican, has a slight lead but the chances are favorable for the election of Weldel, Democrat, by a small majority. Domocrats Carry Ashland.

Ashland, Pa., Feb. 18.—The Demo-crats elected their entire borough tickt today including six councilmen and three out of five school directors.

Mendville in Line.

Meadville Pa., Feb. 18.—At the city election today the Republicans carried everything, the majority in some in-stances being somewhat reduced by local issues.

Mixed at Frie.

Erie, Pa., Feb. 18.—The municipal election today exceeded all former contests in the number of votes cast. The returns at a late hour indicate the election of Robert J. Saltsman, Democrat, for mayor, over Isadore Sobel, the Republican nominee. The balance of the Republican ticket was elected.

Republicans Hold Councils.

York, Pa., Feb. 18.—The municipal election today resulted in the entire Democratic city ticket being elected. The Republicans will control both branches of city councils. Republican Gains. Lebanon, Pa., Feb. 18.—John A. Wei-mer, for mayor, and all the other can-didates on the Republican city ticket were elected today by 800 pluraiity. The Republicans also elect ten council-men, giving them a majority in councils on joint ballot of 17—a Republican gain of 3.

Rending's Checkered Vote.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 18.—The result of the full count shows that Jacob Weidel, the Democratic candidate for mayor, has been elected by over 200 majority over Jonathan Leinbach, the Republican nominee. The Democrats secured the city treasurer but the Republicans captured city controller and three as-sessors. The Democrats also gained in council which is now Democratic, formerly Republican.

Contest at Pittsburg. Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 19.—The municipal election here yesterday was bitterly contested. At this hour (L30 a. m.) the Republicans claim the election of the mayor, treasurer and a controller by 2.500 to 2.000 majority, and the election of the convenience. of 56 out of 66 councilmen.

The Vote at Bethlehem.

Bethlehem, Pa., Feb. 18.—The four wards of Bethlehem have elected the Republican candidats for town council. In two of the wards the Democrats elected their candidates for school board. The Republican borough ticket was elected. In South Bethlehem, four of the five wards have elected Dem-ocratic councilmen. The Republicans elected one councilman and two school directors. Party lines were not drawn and a small vote was polled. The Demperatic berough ticket is elected by a large majority Sowden's Last Battle.

Allentown, Pa., Feb. 18.—Ex-Con-gressman William H. Snowden today fought what may prove his last political, battle. He was the Democratic candidate for mayor and met his Waterloo. His Republican opponent was Fred II. Lewis, a young lawyer, and a fight was made against him on the ground of his youth. The young element, as a rule, worked and voted for Mr. Lewis. Republican gains were made in nearly ev-ery one of the districts of the city. It is estimated that Lewis' majority in is estimated that Lewis majority in the city will be at least 300. Alfred L. Reichenbach, Democrat, is re-elected city treasurer by a majority of over 800. Dr. Morris F. Cawley and James Hause-man are running close for city control-ler, with the chances in favor of the former. John Martin, Lewis Fluck and Lewis Deleberations and their Lewis Reinhard, Democrats, are likely to be elected city assessors. Both branches of city councils are likely to be a tie, but the Democrats made a gain Quavites Make Gains Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 18.—In the councilmanic fight the Quayites made serious breaks into the "combine" ranks and the followers of Senator Quay will be more largely represented in city councils than they were. In select council the Quayites elected 13 members—a gain of two—and in com-mon council it would seem that they have made a gain of about 15, al-though this is only an approximate es-timate tonight. The Democrats lost heavily in the slight representation they had in councils. Their strongest representation was in select council, where they had seven members out of 27. Of these seven the Democrats to-day lost four. In common council their representation was practically wiped

KERR IS A HERO.

He Carried Mrs. kommer from a Burning Building-She Was Hemmed in by Fla and Had Fainted on the Second Story

Whitestone, L. I., Feb. 18.—Charles Kerr, of this village, early today brave-ly rescued Mrs. Hattle Kummer, the wife of Richard Kummer, his neighsor, from being burned to death. Mrs. Kummer was alone in her home last niht. She was awakened at 3 o'clock this morning by the barking of the watchdog which the family kept about the house. Mrs. Kummer dis-covered that the house was on fire. She went to the stairway, but saw it was a mass of flames. The barking of the dog also aroused Kerr, who was asleep in his house ad-joining. On looking out of his house Kerr saw that the Kummer home was in flames. He heard Mrs. Kummer scream, and knowing that she was alone, went to her rescue.

Mrs. Kummer, after she saw that she could not escape from the burning building by means of the stairway, ran out on the porch on the second floor of the house. She was undecided whether to jump or not, and becoming hysterial fainted Kerr saw her on the roof of the borch, and, dashing through the burning building, managed to get her from the place. She was in her night clothing and had been badly burned about the face and hands. Mrs. Kum-mer was brought by Ker into his home. where she was cared for and a physi-cian was summoned to dress her burns The volunteer firemen were sum-moned, but the Kumer house burned down. The loss is $3,000. The building was owned by Robert Blissert, of New York, and is said to have been insured.

RISK IN OCEAN TRAVEL.

Precentage of Lives Lost Does Not Compare with Railrogd ..

Washington, Feb. 18.—James A. Du-mont, supervising inspector general of steam vessels, has sent to congress a report showing that, as a rule, life is safer today on an ocean steamer than on any other vehicle of transportation. He says that in the twenty years end-ing last June 100 ocean and coast-wise steamers were lost with 776 passen-gers, an annual average of 39 persons. On the railroads of the United States during five years ending June 30, 1896, 34.304 passengers and employes were killed, an annual average of 6.561, Gen-eral Dumont says he has been unable to find any statistics in this country showing the number of people killed in general employment. In Germany, however, a record is kept of accidental loss of life among workmen.

The German records show that in eight years and three months 39,000 workmen lost their lives through ordinary accidents incidental to their la-bor. This means an annual average of 4.727 persons, or more than six times the number of passengers and employes lost on ocean steam vessels in twenty years. General Dumont says that this government, by its beneficent laws regulating travel by sea, has reduced reached by any other nation. He adds that these figures, gained from actual experience, should go far to remove the fear of ocean travel felt by many timid

CIT OFF BUT SAFE.

Forty Men Detained Three Days on Great South Beach-Owing to the Cold Weather They Have Been Unable to fishermen and others who sailed across latter part of last week and on Sunday to pick up flotsam from the stranded steamship Lamington, which ran ashore there during the storm of ten days ago, have not yet returned to their homes. They went when the weather was fair and the sail of five miles perfectly safe. Since Sunday ice has formed on the bay to a thickness sufficient to prevent the passage of boats, and not strong enough to support the weight of a man, so that they have been unable to return.

No uneasiness is felt for their safety however, as there are several houses and huts on the beach where they can find shelter and food. Had they wished to return they could have done so by going east to Moriches and crossing to the mainland by a bridge, or they could have come over where the bay narrows in boats. Altogether there are prob-ably forty men on the beach.

REVIVAL IN JERSEY.

Business Suspended in Bridgeton to Permit People to Attend.

Bridgeton, Feb. 18.-Most of the business houses in this city were closed be-tween 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon in obedience to the proclamation issued by Mayor Applegate, in order to allow the employes to attend the revival meetings in the opera house. The meetings have been going on for over a week and about 2,000 people at-tend the services nightly. Many con-versions have resulted, and the revival fever spread all over the city. It was decided by the mayor to issue the proclamation, and nearly all the em-ployes of the factories and shops have been granted the time to go to the meetings. Overflow meetings have to be held in the different churches, many people being unable to gain admittance to the opera house.

IOKE ON THE DEAN.

Harvard's Faculty Inquiring Into the Existence of a Secret Society.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 18.—There manifest indignation among the Harvard college faculty and an undercurrent of some excitment among the students, as a result of a prank played at the college yesterday. A number of students appeared at the house of Dean Briggs in response to an invitation bearing the signatures of the Dean and Mrs. Briggs, to attend a reception. Neither the dean nor his wife were responsible for the Invitations. The affair caused great amusement, and the dean himself seems to appreciate the situation, but the faculty does not, and it now seems like begun by the college authorities.

It is stated that the faculty have evi-

llow a Gentleman Was Made Happy After Hellad Begun to Despuir. One of the best and most prominent establishments in Cohoes, N. Y., is the Tivoli Hosiery mills, owned by the Root Manufacturing company. Mr. C. Fred. Root, a prominent officer in the com-pany, has been during the past season suffering from a severe cold and pains in the chest, with a strong tendency to pneumonia. He experienced all the symptoms which accompany such troubles, including lack of energy, loss of appetite and the general depression which comes to people threatened with this terrible disease. Under the advice of a friend Mr. Root began the use of Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Con sumption. He says: "I tried this great Remedy, and after a very few doses found absolute relief and an entire curand was thereby saved from a sever-illness. I can highly recommend Dr Acker's English Remedy to all who may be afflicted as I was."

We mention this case of Mr. Root as one of very many which are coming constantly to our notice, where this great English Remedy has proved not only effective, but almost marvelous in its power. Its popularity in America is fast becoming equal to that in Eng-land, and it fully merits all that can be said in its favor. Any man or woman who has a cough, pains in the chest, de-pressed feelings or any of the symp-toms common to pneumonia or consumption should not hesitate a mo-ment, but take this Remedy before it is too late.

LIGHT ON PEARL BRYAN CASE. George Jackson Gives a Graphic Accoun-

of the Midnight Ride with the Murderers and Their Victim.

Columbus, O., Feb. 18.—Governor Bushnell has honored the requisition of Governor Bradley, of Kentucky, for the murderers of Pearl Bryan, Governor Bradley has announced his intention of going to the utmost limit to protect the prisoners from mob vio-lence when once they are in his jurisdiction, but sullen mutterings are still heard from the Kentucky side of the Interest in this now famous case centers in the story of the colored cab driver, George Jackson, who claims to driver. George Jackson, who claims to have driven Walling, Jackson and the girl to the scene of the murder on the fatal night of the tragedy. This negrotells a marvelous story, taken either from the standpoint of truth or fiction. He gives a graphic account of his midnight drive through the swamps and hills of the Kentucky highlands, detail-ing the most minute incidents of the journey. He tells of the sobbing girl made half unconscious by the drug ad-ministered; how she pleaded to be taken back, suspecting that everything was not right; told how Jackson held her in the vehicle, while Walling sat upon the driver's seat beside him compelling him to drive according to his di-rections at the muzzle of a revolver, and told of his final stop in that desolate spot, where the murderers dragged th feebly resisting girl from the cab and carried her through the undergrowth to where her headless body was after-ward found. Here, according to the negro's statement, he heard muffled means and sounds of a scuffle in the bushes, when an awful fear seized him and he fled from the spot.

In his narrative, which the body re-told in police court this morning, he gave a description of the cab used, told low the back window had been broken n the struggle with the girl, and how he had bent the lamp when he sprang rom the seat to run. The police have found a vehicle corresponding in every particular with the lescription even to peculiarities in the way the curtains hung, the cab being an old-fashioned concern of a style sel-dom seen on the street. The owner of the conveyance said he had rented it out on the night of the crime, and that the lamp and glass were all right when t left his stable. It came back covered with country mud.

The police have subjected the negro's tory to every possible test, but as nothing has turned up to shake it.
